

DOLLAR, DOG DAYS!

The annual summer Dollar Days in Chapel Hill and Carrboro will be augmented this Saturday by the annual Kids Dog Show in Eastgate Shopping Center.

Special purchase and season-end bargains are advertised in this issue of The News by various merchants who are offering sale prices through Saturday. The promotion is being staged this year through cooperation with the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association and through the initiative of the merchants who are advertising.

Every dog entered in the Eastgate show this Saturday at 10 a.m. is assured of winning some prize. Details of the show are given in a special advertisement on Page 8, Section III of this issue.

THE LIST OF DELINQUENT taxpayers for Orange County is about six inches shorter this year than it was last year—in case you care to take that as any indication of economic prosperity. The list occupied slightly over five pages when legally advertised last year, as compared to a bit less than five pages this year (see Sec. II). The official sale of tax liens will be held by the County at 12 noon on Monday, Sept. 10, at the county courthouse door.

JIM CATES AND DAVID Ballard, Hillsboro Boy Scouts, left yesterday with 34 other Occaneechee Council Boy Scouts on a 10-day good-will camping trip to Canada. They'll stop off in Washington, New York, United National, Cooperstown, Montreal, and cruise on the Great Lakes.

SENTIMENT OF LOCAL CITIZENS is being sought on the exterior design of Chapel Hill's new central fire station. Four possible sketches, all utilizing the same basic interior, have been prepared by the architect. One helpful citizen suggested to the aldermen Monday night that the Town finance the project by having the proponents of any particular design vote for it at $10 a throw—like a school queen popularity contest.

IN THE LINE OF FINANCES, the Town of Chapel Hill hopes to save a bit over the initial cost estimate of legal fees for its projected $20,000 parking revenue bond issue. Inquiry of a New York bond attorney brought forth an estimate of $1,000—or just under five per cent for these services.—Of course, it was brought out, a $40,000 issue could probably be floated for the same legal fee.

FINANCIAL DELINQUENCIES caught up with a defendant in high court at Hillsboro last week. James Sinclair was hailed before the judge on the appearance docket under a charge of non-support. A question to the court clerk brought out that he'd never paid a penny toward $15 a week payments ordered on Dec. 20, 1958, and was $585
