

Orange Pealings

THERE IS GENERAL DISdain on the part of almost all civilized residents of Chapel Hill in wake of the downright crude and execrable themes that dominated the student float entries in the 'Beat Dook' parade on Tuesday. The entire community enjoys the spirit of the pre-Duke game week, and the parade is a high point of this season. But without a doubt the parade this year hit an all-time low in abominable and inappropriately filthy ideas that infantile and unimaginative students so mistakenly thought were clever. There were some pleasing exceptions, of course, such as the one shown in the photo at the right. But it is to be hoped that the Pi Kappa Alpha sponsors and/or the UNC administration will positively see to it that good taste is exercised in the future if the parades are to be continued.

THE COUNTY COMMISSIONers themselves have the duty of choosing a successor for the four-year term of Commissioner Donald McDade, who died yesterday. Clerk of Court Edwin M.
Lynch originally appointed Mr.
McDade, to succeed Claude Pope (whom he also appointed) upon his death. But under general legislation enacted in 1959 this authority was transferred to the commissioners themselves.

SAM RAY OF THE NEW Hope community, scouting around the countryside for game prospects yesterday, came across a suspicious looking mechanism in a box, which he imagined may have fallen from a plane. Capt.
James R. Milligan of the Air Force ROTC unit in Chapel Hill went out and checked; found it was a U. S. Weather Bureau radiosonde—a gadget used in weather checks. A tag on it showed it had been released by balloon in Greensboro Aug. 2, and descended in Orange via parachute. The 'chute was nowhere to be found, but the gadget itself was shipped back, according to directions.

THE CHAPEL HILL-CARRboro Ministerial Association recently put out a three-fold pamphlet listing all local churches by denominations, their ministers and hours of services. It lists, by the way, 28 churches in 13 denominations and faiths.
The folders are available at the office of the Chapel Hill-Carrboro Merchants Association.

JOHN "SARGE" KELLER, call man for the Chapel Hill Fire Dept., had quite a time trying to rig the surprise gift presentation for former Chief J. S.
Boone at the firemen's banquet recently. He had to call the Boone residence to tip off Mrs.
Boone and make certain she'd have her husband present for the occasion. —Seems that every time he telephoned Chief Boone himself would answer immediately. "Sarge," not wanting to tip his hand, would hoarsely mutter "wrong number," and keep on calling till he finally contacted the Mrs. on first try.
More PEALINGS, page 12, sec. II

Circulation Today
7,568
99 PCT. DISTRIBUTED IN ORANGE COUNTY

Putting up their Dooks...

BUBBLE DANCERS — Coeds in black tights made like bubble dancers as they tossed bubbly balloons from their float to carry out the theme of their entry in the annual 'Beat Dook' parade, staged through the UNC campus and downtown on Tuesday afternoon. This was one of the more elaborate of the nearly three dozen specially-constructed student floats in the parade.

The News

of orange county

—Chapel Hill, Hillsboro, Carrboro—Between and Beyond—

VOL. 70, NO. 48

HILLSBORO AND CHAPEL HILL, N. C., THURSDAY, NOVEMBER 22, 1962

24 PAGES

Donald McDade succumbs to hospital heart attack

—Story, comment on Page 2

Feeling is mutual...

THANKSGIVING FOR WHOM? — Br'er gobbler and his master of the moment, Kenneth Strayhorn of the New Hope community, both show in their attitudes that they take Thanksgiving mighty seriously — but have opposite points of view as to who should celebrate Thanksgiving. All in the spirit of the day, though, they make up a seasonal theme for the photographer.

Hillsboro man goes berserk in town hall; officials threatened

—See story on Page 2

Glen Lennox owners given valuation cut

—See story on Page 3

75-bed convalescent home given approval in new project here

—See story on Page 4