

'Spotlight on women' meeting planned here February 16, 17

The eighth annual "Spotlight on Women" Conference, sponsored by the N. C. Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs and the University Extension Division, will be held Feb. 16 and 17, in the UNC School of Pharmacy.

The conference is planned annually to prepare business and professional women for tasks in today's world.

Keynote speaker for the conference is Mrs. Julia Butler Hansen, Congresswoman for the state of Washington. Mrs. Hansen speaks at 2 p. m.

Registration for the conference begins at 12 p. m., Saturday, Feb. 16, in the lobby of the School of Pharmacy. Attendance at the conference is open to all interested in the program, especially business and professional women.

The program begins at 1:30 p. m. with a welcome by Dr. George Harper, UNC professor and chairman of the Department of English and chairman of the faculty. A panel discussion on "Women and N. C. Laws" begins at 3:45 p. m. Participants are Mrs. Elizabeth Rollins of Rollins and Rollins Law Firm, Greensboro; Frederick B. McCall, UNC professor in the School of Law; and Alex McMahon, general counsel of the N. C. Association of County Commissioners. Albert Coates, founder and former director of the UNC Institute of Government and professor in the School of Law, will moderate the panel. Workshop sessions will be held at 8 p. m. Donald Springen, UNC instructor in English, will lead the session on "YOU Speak in Public"; Institute of Government Prof. Philip P.

Green Jr. and Assistant Prof. Robert E. Stipe will lead the session on "YOU and Your Government"; and Assistant Prof. Thomas H. Jerdee of the School of Business Administration will lead the session on "YOU and Your Job." The program for Sunday, Feb. 18, begins at 9 a. m. in the auditorium of the School of Pharmacy with a devotional to be given by Arnold Nash, UNC professor of religion.

AAUN trying to double roll in the county

Mrs. Edward S. Jones, President of the Orange County Chapter, of the American Association for the UN, announced that the AAUN has increased its membership in the past two years in the U. S. from 40,127 to 56,325 or a gain of approximately 40 per cent. The goal for 1963 is 65,000 members. The present Orange County chapter membership is 70. Mrs. Jones stated that the 1963 goal is to double the number of members. Mrs. Edward Evarts has been appointed Membership Chairman and will conduct a year-around campaign for new members.

Major purposes of the Orange County chapter are the distribution of U. N. study material to schools, arrangement for other organizations to obtain speakers about the U. N., and cooperation with other groups that are working for a peaceful world. The main project is the chapter's promotion of the Essay and Speaking Contest on the United Nations in the five high schools of Orange County, by rewarding the winners and their sponsoring teachers with the expense money to join the chartered bus trip conducted by the American Freedom Association to the United Nations in New York and to the Capital of the United States, in April of this year.

Washed Out?

Why keep relying on the whims of the weather? With a flameless electric clothes dryer, it's always just right for drying inside, no matter what the weather is outside.

Fact is, your dependable electric clothes dryer does a faster and better job than sunshine. Colors come out rich and true — especially those soft, delicate shades. And there's no chance of sun-bleaching or other damage to fragile fabrics. Electrically-dried clothes actually look better and wear longer.

Small wonder that 97 out of 100 Carolinians who buy dryers choose flameless electric. Good idea to visit your favorite electric appliance dealer or Duke Power soon.
