

In Chapel Hill racial duty . . .

Overtime pay for Chapel Hill police proposed

Additional pay for Chapel Hill policemen having to work over-time because of racial demonstrations here will be considered by the Chapel Hill aldermen.

The matter was brought to light in response to questions asked Police Chief W. D. Blake, who made a report to the Town Board on the role of his force in the demonstrations. Town Manager Robert H. Peck was asked to consider the matter and make a recommendation—perhaps with the idea of compensating the police for their special duty above a certain minimum number of over-time hours.

Chief Blake said his 23-man force had put in 777 hours of overtime duty in connection with demonstrations and picketing since the current round of protest activities began six weeks ago. Each of the series of thrice weekly demonstrations required the calling back of at least one full shift of policemen, he said, and another man and a patrol car had been stationed on full-time duty at the scene of picketing downtown.

The aldermen and Mayor Mc-

Clamroch commended the chief highly for the work of his force in the controversy. The officer said he'd noted an increase in tension at the picketing and demonstration scenes in the past week, and in particular, he felt, some deliberately provocative motor vehicle violations.

Mayor McClamroch, reporting on a meeting of municipal officials in Greensboro last weekend, said he returned "rather disappointed" in not discovering any remedies to the racial controversies which were not already being applied in Chapel Hill. Gov. Sanford told the group, he said, that he had no authority to issue an executive order banning racial discrimination in private business activity, and did not think it was needed.

However, the Mayor said that one idea he planned to try, partially as a result of the conference, was to appoint a private committee, dominantly of businessmen, to continue to work for the voluntary elimination of racial discrimination in local business operations.

Carrboro board okays new budget $191,000

Final approval of a $191,600 budget for the new year has been given by the Carrboro Town Board of Commissioners.

In their Tuesday night action, the commissioners made only one change—a $2,000 additional appropriation to the contingency fund, making it $9,000 for 1963-64. Town Clerk R. B. Todd said this was made possible as a result of June collections being $2,000 higher than had been anticipated.

The new Town budget if $19,000, or a bit more than 10 per cent above the $172,000 budget for the year immediately past. It is based on the same tax rate as at present—$.93 per $100 property valuation, the latter being $5.6 million. This source is expected to bring in $52,500 revenue. About $35,000 will likely come from the sale of water to retail customers and $30,000 in carry-over from the previous year.

A payment of $17,700 on the municipal bonded indebtedness of $90,000 will be made this year. The tax rate is calculated at $.31 of the rate for debt service and $.62 for the general fund.

Sewer, zoning changes set for Carrboro

Construction of a sewer line estimated to cost $2,500 will be built to serve Sue - Ann Court off N. Greensboro St. during the coming year by the Town of Carrboro.

The appropriation was included in the budget for the new year by the commissioners at their Tuesday night meeting. Several adjoining lots will also be served by the new line, Town Clerk R. B. Todd noted, in addition to the 10 lots in the court development owned by Fisher and Fisher Realtors.

The commissioners also referred to their Planning Board for a recommendation a request from property owners on Highway 54 West that their territory be zoned for residential development. The territory involved is a one-mile corridor about 500 feet wide that was added to the zoning area by local legislation in the General Assembly last spring.

The Town Clerk also noted that a request for a $400 appropriation for 1963-64 from the local civil defense organization had been granted.
