MRS. GEORGE STOW OF Shady Lane Circle in Chapel Hill spent $36 to send nine post cards on Tuesday and yesterday became the winner of WCHL's 22-day-old $450 Hideaway House contest. She sent the nine cards to neighbors on the north side of Lake Forest, asking each if their's was the mystery prize-locked house. One of her nearby neighbors, the D. D. Watkins, of Shady Lawn Drive, lived in the fabled residence, and received the sole winning card from Mrs. Stow on Tuesday.

ORANGE COUNTY COMMISSIONER Carl Smith will join Chapel Hill Mayor Sandy McClamroch as one of the 30 state and local officials who will go on the People - to - People 20-day trip to Russia and five other European countries on Sept. 20. All will pay their own expenses of $1,500 for the junket being held in cooperation with the N. C. Association of County Commissioners. Alex McMahon of Chapel Hill, general counsel for the group, will also go.

DOGWOOD ACRES Democratic Chairman George Spransy arose in genial protest at the county Democratic committee meeting Monday night. He said he appreciated being listed on the letter-head of the party's stationery as a member of the Tenth District Solicitorial Committee. But he didn't appreciate the fact that the telephone number of his competitor in the fuel oil business was listed beside his name. Despite the error, Party Chairman L. J. Phipps joshed in reply, there was a big stack of stationery that remained to be used up.

IN CLOSING THE Democratic clam - bake Tuesday night, Chairman Phipps reminisced to the group that in a conversation with his successor-nominate E. J. Hamlin last spring he had asked the latter whom he thought would be a good successor to John W. Umstead. Hamlin replied, he recalled: "I would say that I would, and you would say you would." Thus, Phipps, quipped, "It looks like it worked out to the advantage of both of us."

PRECINCT COMMITTEES DO seem to become family affairs in Orange County. At Tuesday night's meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee called to fill a vacancy in Orange's seat in the House of Representatives, Mrs. E. T. Cartee of University Station Precinct challenged the right of Conway Browning of St. Mary's Precinct to vote because Political tune for the 'little man'...

FIRST TO FILE — Raymond J. Stansbury, Hillsboro store-keeper and Jack of all trades, became the first Democratic candidate for governor of North Carolina in the 1964 primary elections when he paid his filing fee of $250 on Tuesday. He's seen in front of his store with his campaign instrument, helpfully provided by a well-wisher.
