

Here's profile of freshman class at UNC

Nearly 65 per cent of the 1,916 freshmen who entered this year's class at the University here were in the top fourth of their high school classes.

That's one of the facts included in the profile study of this class recently released by the University.

Ranking in the second fourth of their classes were 30.6 per cent, while only 4.3 per cent rated in the third fourth and only 0.2 per cent were classified in the bottom fourth.

In addition to ranking high in their secondary schools, the class members scored an average of 530 on the verbal part of the College Boards and an average of 570 on the math section.

These students were selected from the 6,353 applicants for admission to the class. Approximately 3,123 students were admitted and of these 1,916 registered.

Most of the freshmen are enrolled in the general college, but 74 of them are participating in the nursing program and 15 in dental hygiene.

Where do these students come from? Seventy-five per cent are

North Carolina residents and 16 per cent are out-of-state students. Six per cent of the class is not computed in these figures because they are in the not-in-quota-classification, which means they are in special categories exempt from classification.

Jails praised by grand jury

Good conditions in the county's four jails were noted by the Orange County Grand Jury in its semi-annual report, presented to Judge Raymond Mallard in superior court this week.

The Chapel Hill and Carrboro jails and state prison camp were found to be "clean and orderly." A similar state was reported for the county jail, with the additional note that interior repainting was planned there.

The jury passed on 55 true bills of indictment, in addition to reports from the clerk of court's office.

Orange votes 60-to-1 for tobacco controls

On cotton controls the vote was 8 to 0 in favor of the issue.

Here is the break-down by community polling places on the tobacco vote:

Cedar Grove	787	5
Chapel Hill	78	8
Cheeks	191	1
Eno	75	2
