CONCORD, N. C. Sept. 24 1904

NICE WORDS FOR AYCOCK.

Governor Aycock has just returned from the State of Maine, where he made several speeches on education. Following one of these speeches the State Superintendent of Education of that State said among other nice and deserving things of our Governor:

"Governor Aycock faces the east and stands for the best in the school, the home and the church.

"He represents the newest South and believes in her glorious future.

"His personal and social life are in harmony with the sentiments he voices.

"The past receives but little of his thought. He has left behind the things he has gone by. No bitterness finds nature in his soul, but instead he hunts for what he wants to find, the best in every one.

"He is progressive in spirit, but conservative in action. He is hospitable to new ideas and judicial in adopting them.

"He sees education from the statesman's standpoint, hence he is catholic and generous.

"He has been every day as you see him to-day—magnetic, masterful, but always kind and anxious to make good things.

"His candor has won our hearts, his teachings have enriched our lives, yet his best gift has been his great personality.

"We are glad to feel his shoulder buttressing ours. It gives us courage to walk the pathway of struggle with him. North Carolina and Maine are sitting around the same hearthstone in these days. May eternity be too short in which to number the days we are to stand as one in our love and effort to make the world better and kind.

"And now may we bow our heads while we say in our hearts, 'God bless those who have brought us the message of light and life.'"

An epidemic of typhoid fever at the Baptist orphanage has caused the management much anxiety and entailed a heavy expense. At this orphanage 200 children are cared for and for several weeks the fever has raged, bringing with the burden of caring for the patients untold suffering to many. The management is meeting the situation bravely and doing the work of relieving the suffering in a splendid manner, but there is need of help. The situation is one appealing to all thoughtful people and those who have the burden should be remembered by the people of every section of the State.

The Japanese and their enemy, the Russians, have not much time for letting their feelings out in any other way than by writing. They cannot write but they are doing all they can to "come" in the mean time the folks at home must get along with such news from the front as the commanding officers have time to dictate and the corres-

Mr. John P. Allison leaves in a day or two for St. Louis and will attend the Cotton Growers Convention to be held in the Exposition city. The cotton growers have plans for their own good, principally those which deal with the marketing of the crop to the best advantage to the grower.

The race is on, the Cabarrus g. o. p. has brought out its racer groomed by today's convention and the contest for supremacy is now on. Bookmakers as far as they have given the race attention have agreed that the odds are very heavily against the horse entered today.

Judge Parker has his letter of acceptance ready to be given to the committee next Monday. The message will appear in Monday's TRIBUNE and deserves the careful reading that it will no doubt get from our readers.

FOUR MEN KILLED.

Boiler Explosion at the Erwin Mill Near Dunn Kills Four and Injures a Fifth.

Dunn, Sept. 23.—By the explosion of a boiler in Erwin Cotton Mills No. 2, at Duke, this morning, at 6:55 o'clock four men were killed and one fatally scalded. The dead are:

H. C. Fowler, superintendent of the mill; L. M. Hurst, gin hand; H. G. Braswell, gin hand, all white; Geo. McLean, laborer, colored.

The injured: Henry Wall, colored, badly scalded, and will die.

The explosion is a mystery. The boiler was the one used in furnishing steam for the cotton gin and the plant was getting ready to start to work for the day. Braswell, McLean and Wall were in the room and Superintendent Fowler and Hurst were standing near the door talking. Without warning the terrific explosion occurred, completely demolishing the boiler room and killing the four men instantly. Their bodies were horribly mangled.

The boiler was inspected in June by a representative of the Hartford Steam Boiler Insurance and Inspection Company, and pronounced to be first class and sound. Just before the gin started work ten days ago it was again inspected by the chief engineer for the Erwin Company. He found it sound.

Superintendent Fowler was 45 years of age and left a wife and several daughters. Hurst was 55 years of age and leaves two daughters. Braswell was 35 years of age, and left a wife and child. The two colored men were middle-aged and left families. The remains of the dead superintendent passed through Durham this afternoon en route to his old home at Burlington, where the interment will take place tomorrow. Hurst formerly lived in this county and the body will be buried six miles from here tomorrow.

He Married His Stepmother.

Mobile, Ala., Sept. 22.—The news of the marriage of Sydney Lowenstein to Mrs. Clara Lowenstein, his stepmother, in Chicago on Thursday last created a sensation here, and, in fact, all over the State. Lowenstein is at the head of two banking firms, and is well known in financial circles in New York city. His stepmother was formerly a Miss Linneberg, of Port Gibson, Miss., and there are several attorneys here of the opinion that under the law against relatives marrying one another that they cannot live together in this State as man and wife. Lowenstein made two efforts to obtain a marriage license in this city, but was informed by the Judge of Probate that under the law it could not be granted.

A MATTER OF HEALTH

Bitten by a Snake.

While playing with companions near his home in Dilworth, yesterday afternoon, Cyrus, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Long, was bitten on the hand by a small snake. Young Cyrus was playing hide in a tent with Thomas C. Guthrie, Jr., when the snake reached up and struck. Cyrus immediately ran home and became deathly sick. Mrs. Long was not at home at the time, but telephoned for a physician immediately upon her arrival. The doctor administered remedies and last night young Cyrus was resting very quietly and no serious results are anticipated. Mr. Long is absent on a business trip to New York. Young Thomas Guthrie claimed that he was bitten but no signs could be found.—Charlotte Observer.

Negro Criminal Brought Over.

Chief Boger went to Charlotte this morning on an early train and returned on No. 36 with Sam Carter, a negro criminal, who is wanted here for cutting Charley Brown, on an excursion train on May 30th at Glass. He cut the negro's eye out and otherwise slashed him up. Carter has been very anxious to compromise the affair offering to pay Brown $20 and get him a glass eye but it will hardly be settled that way and the law will be allowed to take its course. This is not the Sam Carter, of this city, but his name is in Charlotte.
