TROLLEY LINES.

The development of the Catawba river power bids fair to lead to an early establishment of a trolley line connecting the towns of this section. We can imagine benefit to all of us in this service, and it is only a question of time, and the time does not seem as far off as it did a few months ago. From Concord to Charlotte with cars running pretty frequent the two towns would be brought closer together in many ways, and we cannot see but that such an arrangement would be a mutual benefit. This power once brought to Concord would be a vast help in many ways. With a water power being developed on two sides of Concord we ought to get a big benefit. Numerous plants could be run with this power and it should be cheaper than what we now have. With an unlimited amount of electric power many industries would spring up in this town; many of them small and of great benefit to the city. Electric power in Concord would do us great good. Located as we are, there is every reason to believe that the development, on the Yadkin and the Catawba, of this electric power will aid us much in the building up of the town. The hard work that has been done in the development of this power is beginning to show, already we can see the light at the end of the tunnel as the plans are working out, and we believe for great things for this section and Concord.

CHRISTMAS COMING.

Our old friend Kris Kringle is heading this way on his usual visit. The old man will shortly swoop down on the town with his usual burden of joy for all. Already the stores are filling up with holiday goods and the children are writing letters to the faithful old friend to remember the small wants of the small urchins. With the more seriously inclined the approach of the season will bring with force the thought that another year is fast leaving us and a new one just ahead. We plan for the final adjustment of business matters and for the beginning of new ones. We look back to see what has been accomplished and start in for a grand stand finish of the last lap. The time goes the faster and faster and we wonder how it is that it has been such a short time since last December 25th. But somehow we all manage to get something out of the season. It has a way of bringing us something we wasn't exactly looking for, and while with some there seems a small comfort in the thought, yet a kind Providence has a way of working it around to our interest. There are in this busy old world many things to remind us that when Christmas comes we are usually prepared and as a rule get about all there is in it for us, with some to spare for our less fortunate fellow man.

Answer to Chanler.

New York, Nov. 29.—Thomas F. Sherman, who was several years ago appointed committee of the person and estate of John Armstrong Chanler, former husband of Amelie Rivers, the authoress, today filed an answer to the complaint, which Mr. Chanler entered in the United States Circuit Court here to have Mr. Sherman's appointment declared null and void. The appointment complained of was made by the Supreme Court on the ground that Mr. Chanler was mentally incompetent to manage his own affairs. He was placed in the Bloomingdale Asylum, from which institution he escaped in June, 1899. An action was then commenced in Virginia, where Mr. Chanler claims a residence, to determine the question of his insanity. He succeeded in proving that he was competent to manage his own affairs and was adjudged sane by the courts.

In his answer, Mr. Sherman denies that Mr. Chanler has ever been denied access to the papers relating to the estate. He further represents that Mr. Chanler was and is a citizen of the town of Rye, in this State, and not a resident of Virginia, as claimed, and that because of such residence, the Federal Courts are without jurisdiction in the matter. Mr. Sherman also claims that the commitment of Mr. Chanler to the asylum was regular and proper, and that he was then and is now insane.

Woman Causes Big Sensation.

New York, Nov. 28.—A sensation has been caused here by the bringing of a suit by Herbert D. Newton, of Brooklyn, Mass., against Mrs. Cassie Chadwick, of Cleveland, Ohio, for $190,000, for money loaned. Mrs. Chadwick is the wife of a Cleveland physician.

In addition to Mr. Newton's suit several banks have taken legal action to recover various amounts which will bring the total sum to $267,800.

Mr. Newton alleged that Mrs. Chadwick told him she had $5,000,000 in bonds and securities, held in trust by Ira Reynolds, secretary and treasurer of the Wade Park Bank Company, of Cleveland, Ohio, and she had notes for $500,000, which she could negotiate at any time, for the purpose of paying Newton. He loaned her $190,000.

Concerning the action against Mrs. Chadwick, he says the suit has been brought in the common pleas court at Cleveland to recover upon loans made to Mrs. Chadwick, for which the promised payments had not been made when due.
