The Fruit Crop.

The cold weather of the past few days has caused a good deal of anxiety as the fruit crop throughout the South. The last heard from the fruit of the extreme South, through Georgia, Alabama, Florida and other sections it is thought to be yet safe, though the uneasiness has not passed. In this section the fruit is farther along than here and for some days it has been closely watched. From Atlanta assurance that the crop is as yet uninjured.

DAILY COTTON TALK.

Cotton on the Concord market has been conspicuously absent the past few weeks. There seems yet to be quite a good deal of cotton in the county, regardless of a pretty good price. Charlotte received 8 bales of good middling last Saturday at 10 75, while the same day last year 171 bales at 7.75 were sold on the same market. It will be noticed that the local market has been keyed up all spring and winter, a fact that is readily seen by comparing market price in Concord with New York spots.

The New York market made some gains today, spots making a jump of 15 points being today 11.40.

CIVIL WAR FEARED.

The Death of the Roumanian King May Cause a War Over His Successor.

Berlin, March 19.—Grave fears are entertained that King Charles, of Roumania, who is seriously ill, will not live until the 25th anniversary of his accession to the throne, which is March 25th. In view of the condition of the King's health the question of his successor becomes acute. The heir to the throne is Prince Ferdinand, of Hopenzolern, nephew of the king, whose German extraction and sympathies together with his loose manner of living make him unacceptable to the nation at large. He has proposed that he resign his claim to his oldest son who was born in Roumania and is a member of the Greek church. Ferdinand's chief asset at this juncture is his wife, Princess Marie, niece of King Edward. She is the most beautiful woman among all European royal women and the Roumanian people idolize her. It is thought that she will prove a match for the politicians who are trying to oust her husband. In any event, however, is feared that the death of King Charles will produce grave crisis which may result in civil war.

Sunday morning a turpentine hand went to see the family and he and the children, after a search, found the mangled bodies in an old well hidden by palmettos. A bloody knife and gun stock lying in the yard were identified as belonging to Albert Simmons, nephew of the murdered woman, and Simmons has been arrested.

Mr. Jesse Fisher, The Tribune's Pressman, is confined to his room today on account of sickness.
