NEW BUILDING AND LOAN.

Such an Association Being Organized—Ready for Operation in May. Making a Third Such Institution.

Concord is to have a third Building and Loan Association ready for operation some time in May. This much is certain, and the charter is being prepared and stock has already been sold. The name has not been decided on and other details are to follow the receipt of the charter. Mr. C. B. Wagner is the prime mover in this new association, which hopes to open the first series on the second Saturday in May.

This will be the third Building and Loan Association for Concord and will be managed on the same liberal, yet conservative, plan as the other two so well identified with Concord's progress. Very soon we will have a third institution, with these too all working for the upbuilding of Concord.

"The American Home The Safe-guard of American Liberty"

Few people realize what a heavy hand the Landlord lays on a renter. In 35 years a house renting for $10.00 per month, you have paid $4,200 in cash, this at 6 per cent. per annum will swell the total to $13,194.66, an appalling waste of money. And yet every brick and plank will still belong to the Landlord.

Avoid this waste by subscribing to shares in this Association—begin saving today.

BRIEF VIEW OF '06.

Some Side Glances at Some Things Assured the City During the Present Year.

Very bluntly we asked one observant citizen how many houses would be built in Concord during 1906 and he replied between two and three hundred. None of us can say how many, nor can we give a very accurate estimate. It is a safe proposition, however, that the year 1906 will bring quite a good deal of building, being marked by a constant and permanent growth.

The Tribune has on several occasions predicted much for the year, and we believe that we are safe in staying by our statement of several months ago that Concord would do well during 1906. As evidence let us look, and see as far as possible, what we may expect.

First, we might refer to the erection of a large cotton mill, the location of which is about assured and which we may well claim as an asset for ours. The recent purchase of the Coleman mill property, to be operated as the Franklin, calls for the erection of forty houses, the contract having been let for the work. The Southern Loan and Trust Company is building fifteen houses in one section of the city. The Young Hartsell and the new Cabarrus mills are now erecting a large electric power house. The Cannon mill will build a number of large warehouses, which will represent quite a nice item. The weave shed to be built by the Gilson will represent a good sized plant within itself. Thus far we have dealt almost entirely with the mills and this may not near cover the case, for the mills have a way of doing things every day, and any day is likely to bring about something of considerable importance.

The new Lodge building is ready for the start, already the clearing away for the foundation is going on. The walls of the Concord laundry are going up rapidly. The same is true of a three-story annex to the St. Cloud hotel. The Ritchie Hardware Company is building a large warehouse.

The building which Dr. J. M. Arches expects to erect on Union street, adjoining the court house, will be one of the most attractive business houses in the city, a magnificent addition to Union street.

It is more than likely that the Elks will build during the year, in fact an Elk Home may safely be added to our 1906 expectations.

The new hotel for Depot street is of much consequence, meaning a considerable investment and a splendid addition to the city.

Mr. B. L. Umberger is to build a handsome residence, while many houses will come during the year. Mr. J. L. Crowell is to build a handsome cottage on Spring street. Messrs. E. J. Jones and S. E. Sloan will build on Academy street.

We have two building and loans, one of which is to have its charter amended that more shares may be issued. Through these as many as forty or fifty homes will likely be built, while many more will be enlarged by means of these associations.

Over in West Concord there will be activity all the year. The recent industries located over there and others to follow will demand considerable building.

We have made up this story hurriedly and with no systematic plan, simply told what we knew.

This does not take into consideration several buildings talked of, some of which will be realized. A few days later we shall continue this talk and try and make it more interesting.

Some Real Estate Deals.

The Southern Loan and Trust Company sold this week to H. A. Eudy a lot in West Concord. It donated two lots to the West Concord Baptist church, and sold to J. E. Bost for W. A. Wilkinson part of the Winecoff property.

And His Name was Smith.

A few days ago a man name Smith—J R Smith—was arrested in Asheville for something like forgery. Concord has a J R Smith and some of his friends insist that The Tribune should say that he is not the man the Asheville folks have. Of course not—our J R has habits of his own, but none of them ever interfere outside of his own back yard.
