

OF POLITICAL INTEREST

Matters of Politics that are of Interest to Concord and Cabarrus—Clubs Organized—Solicitor Clarkson Speaks—Other Political Points.

The Smith-Richmond controversy is not the only thing on the political checker board in Cabarrus, though these two aspirants have been as busy as they could be in trying to muddy the waters. The real campaign is on and the voice of the Forest Hill band is not the only intimation that politics are warming up. The two parties are now facing each other on the field of battle and the campaign shows every sign of activity.

Solicitor Clarkson was in Concord last night and made a good Democratic speech over the store of Sehorn & Jerome on Depot street. After the speaking a Hackett club was organized. A club is to be organized on Friday night at Democratic headquarters.

Blackburn Returns.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Representative Blackburn left tonight for his North Carolina home, after a few days here. He said he would enter at once upon his campaign, speaking at Mt. Airy Thursday night of this week, at Low Gap at noon Friday, at Sparta Saturday and Wilkesboro Tuesday of next week. He will arrange other dates later. He says he expects to carry the district, but there are a good many of his friends who have some doubts as to his success in that line.

The joint canvass between Webb and Roberts in the 9th district was interrupted at Morganton Monday by the illness of Dr. Roberts, the Republican nominee, and the remainder of the canvass will be revised.

The Tribune asked Chairman Sims, of the Republican committee, this morning for news. He knew nothing; said he was getting ready for work, and had arranged to have a number of prominent speakers in the county during the campaign.

The county campaign begins Monday and jointly the county candidates will go the rounds making the usual stereotyped speech of a few lines. It is not known yet if the coroners will be on this canvass of the county.

This advertisement was inserted in Tuesday's Evening Tribune and in a few hours after the papers were out the pen was brought to the office of The Tribune to be returned to the owner. This is but one object lesson. Every day proof such as this is presented to prove the value of our "Penny Column". At such a small cost these ads go such a long way.

LOT GIVEN FOR SCHOOL.

Southern Loan and Trust Company Donates Lot for School in West Concord.

The Southern Loan & Trust Company owns a lot of property in West Concord, over on the hill, where mills, churches and houses have been built. The company is now arranging to give the county a central lot on which to build a school. The people over at West Concord want a school and must have one, and Mr. W. W. Flowe, the president of the Loan & Trust Company, is preparing to deed a lot to Superintendent Boger for a school site. The lot will be on the hill by the road leading to the Sunderland school, midway between the Brown and the Young-Hartwell mills, at a point convenient to the people living in West Concord. The Tribune has not all the plans, but with the lot the progressive school board may be depended on to build and operate a school at the very earliest time possible. West Concord is coming along nicely. With schools, churches, daily mails and other conveniences that section of Concord will grow and prosper.

TEMPERANCE LECTURE.

Mr. A. D. Wilcox, Representative of the National Anti-Saloon League, at the Central School in Moving Picture Lecture Last Night; Again Tonight.

Mr. A. D. Wilcox, national lecturer of the American Anti-Saloon League, gave an illustrated lecture to the children of the graded school last night at the Central school auditorium.

There was a splendid audience of four or five hundred children present in spite of the disagreeable weather.

The lecturer's stories were well illustrated and the children seemed highly pleased.

Mr. Wilcox declared that he had lectured to school children for six years in all parts of the country, but that he had never seen a more orderly and polite audience of school children than that which greeted him last night.

Tonight the lecture will be for the youth. Subject, "The Kingship of American Youth." The lecture is semi-historical and will introduce a number of the very finest dissolving paintings.

The general public is invited. The lecture begins at 7:30. The admission is free, but a free will offering is taken at the close to assist in paying the expenses.

Moran to Be Named for Governor of Massachusetts.

Moran has all but 100 of the 1,069 delegates. The convention will close one of the bitterest fights ever waged by Democrats in this state.

U. S. Works to Devise Engines for Alcohol.

Washington, Oct. 2.—Very little has been done thus far by inventors in the way of providing burners and engines for the consumption of denatured alcohol, so Secretary Wilson is establishing a laboratory to assist the industry.

The Secretary of Agriculture is a firm believer in the theory that the American farmer will in a few years become a rival of the Standard Oil Company in the markets of the world, and he wants to see devised the best machinery that will encourage the use of denatured alcohol.
