THE SCHOOLS CLOSING

Exercises Last Evening by the Graduating Class—Bishop Hendrix Delayed in Reaching Concord Speaks This Afternoon—Diplomas Given Class Today.

Central School building was well filled last evening to hear the exercises that were arranged by the graduating class of the public schools. The large audience was in sympathy with the young students and gave a careful attention and was more than pleased with the various numbers on the program. From first to last there was a deep interest and the members of the class of 1907 measured up to a high standard and proved themselves possessed of splendid talent. The class president, Miss Kate Query extended a welcome to all and spoke a brief word on the closing of the class work in the public school. Following the introductory by the president each number on the program was rendered and in such a manner as reflected great credit on all who took part. The declamations by the young men and the recitations by the young ladies were all of a splendid order and highly enjoyed. Miss Myrtle Pemberton read the history of the class, giving some of the inside history of the class as it passed through the various grades of school and also a short reference to the individual members of the class.

Before the closing of the evening's exercises Mr. D. B. Coltrane spoke to the audience to inform them that the expected arrival of the speaker for this morning, Bishop Eugene Hendrix, would be delayed. The Bishop had gotten the hour he was expected wrong and would not reach Concord until late this morning and for that reason the exercises for this morning were necessarily postponed until 2 in the afternoon. Bishop Hendrix was to speak at 10:30, but for the fact that he could not reach here by that time the hour was postponed.

Following is the program of the exercises last evening:

MR. SHERRILL ENDORSED ON TRIAL FOR MURDER

Chronicle Thinks it Right That he Should be Named and Second the Nomination Made by The Tribune.

The Charlotte Chronicle will this evening editorially endorse and second the nomination made by The Tribune yesterday of John B. Sherrill for Commissioner of Labor and Printing. The mention of Mr. Sherrill's name in connection with this position will be received with approbation by nearly all of the members of the N. C. press, he being a prominent officer of the State Association and well known to all publishers throughout the State. Since making the suggestion yesterday we have heard many expressions from Concord people and there is no doubt but that Mr. Sherrill will make a strong race should he enter the contest, and The Tribune believes he can be nominated. His nomination would be pleasing to Cabarrus and give the county a representation on the State ticket, something she has not had for many years.

VERY COLD WEATHER

Snow and Frost Plentiful Through Northern Sections—A Big Change in the Weather Felt.

Just as we are beginning to feel that winter has broken and summer suns begin to shine the present cold wave comes and drives us shivering to the fire. Reports indicate that the cold of the past twenty-four hours has been general and snow and frost are reported from points further North and West, while in the Sunny South the drop has been very severe. Through sections of Pennsylvania, Ohio and northwestern states snow falls and vegetation in many places has been injured. The change in Concord is one of more than ordinary concern and the difference is shown on every one who shiveringly hunts sunny spots and the warm side of the street.

CONFEDERATE FLAGS

Two on Display Here That Have a History and a Sacred Interest Colors of Regiment and Cabarrus Company.

In the show window of the Correll jewelry store may be seen the battle scarred flag of the 20th North Carolina regiment and the company flag of the Cabarrus Black Boys. These relics of the battlefield are now in possession of Mr. John R. Bradford, whose brother Mr. Brown Bradford, was the color bearer of the 20th regiment.

The regimental flag is particularly well shot up and at least one half is no more, while that which remains bears marks and holes, made by bullets that flew at the Confederates at many a struggle in the 60's. The smaller flag of the two, the company flag of the Black Boys is indeed interesting. It was made from the silk dresses of ladies of Cabarrus and was carried by Mr. Bradford through many a stirring scene and was wrapped about his body during two years of his confinement in a Federal prison.

Thus wrapped about his body this confederate soldier kept the colors of his company for two years and returned it at the end of the war, unstained in honor. These flags were later given into the keeping of Mr. John R. Bradford and are now in his possession. They are of much interest and speak touchingly of the days of war and bloodshed.

A New Candidate for Commissioner of Labor and Printing.
William W. Wilson, former reading clerk of the house of representatives and now assistant insurance commissioner, and city clerk of Raleigh, Grand Chancellor of the Knights of Pythias, has decided to be a candidate for Commissioner of Labor and Printing. Harry Thaw's Wife and Mother Fitting up New York Home.

New York, May 28.—That Harry Thaw will not leave prison on bond before another trial is amply proved by the discovery that his wife and mother have jointly fitted up a new home here in New York on 59th street. XTRAGOOD

Clothes for Boys

Facts About Making Laid Bare.

Do you know there is only one right way to make Children's Clothing? Do you know that a small proportion of Children's Clothing is made that way?

The usual method is for a manufacturer to cut the goods and then "farm out" the pieces for the small independent tailors to sew together at a contract price. These small operators hire whomsoever they can get to do the work. In their workshops the garments of several makers may be in course of construction; and the same people are often working on cheap, medium and better grades at the same time and with the same frenzied haste. In making clothing this way there is no definite standard of quality; little uniformity. There isn't the skill and there isn't time.

Most Juvenile Clothing is made in the above manner. But not the XTRAGOOD brand which we sell. XTRAGOOD is made after different methods; it's the Best Boy's Clothing produced. Here is the reason:

The makers of XTRAGOOD do all the work themselves. They cut the goods; they have their own machinery and trained employees who work under their personal direction. Their expert tailors are trained to their exclusive idea of what constitutes quality. Each workman devotes himself to but one grade of work. All garments are made with the precision and exactness of the best merchant tailoring. The fit and appearance is always correct.

The makers of XTRAGOOD take time to make every stitch right. In their own clean and thoroughly equipped shops they make clothes precisely as they should be made. There is no other method "just as good" and there are very few clothes made by this method. It's worth thinking about and understanding fully when you've got boy's clothes to buy.

This plain talk about the right way to make boys' clothes is something you have not heard about in the past and won't hear very much about, except from us. But we've investigated this matter of clothes making and we've bought the brand of clothes that we know represents the latest and best standard of quality. XTRAGOOD Clothes are guaranteed. They're made so well that they can be guaranteed. You will find them more reliable, more satisfactory and more trustworthy than others. Prices are just as low.

Juvenile Suits in serge, nice quality, $3.00.
