

WEATHER:
 Fair in eastern portion; showers in western portion tonight or Tuesday.

THE EVENING TRIBUNE.

Cotton 14.75.

VOL. XIX. Price 40 Cents a month. CONCORD, N. C., MONDAY, NOVEMBER 1, 1909. Single Copy 5 Cents. NO. 99.

DEATH AT MT. PLEASANT.

Wife of Mr. Luther Barrier Died Saturday Afternoon After Long Illness—Halloween Party by the Students of Mont Amoenas Seminary—Mill Closing Out Stock of Merchandise—Another Curtailment.

Mt. Pleasant, Nov. 1.—Mrs. Malissa Barrier, wife of Mr. Luther Barrier, died Saturday afternoon after a lingering illness. The funeral services were conducted at the Lutheran church yesterday afternoon by Rev. J. P. Miller, and the remains interred in the Lutheran cemetery. Mrs. Barrier was twice married, her first husband being Mr. John Dry. Besides her husband she leaves two sons to mourn her death, Messrs. John and Beaman Dry of Arkansas.

The young ladies of Mont Amoenas Seminary are devotees faithful and true of Halloween costumes with all the attendant witchery and weirdness. This fact was thoroughly emphasized in their annual celebration Saturday night of this famous event. This proved to be one of the real events of social life in student circles. A number of invitations were issued to friends in town all of whom enjoyed the novel diversions both appropriate and amusing that the young ladies had prepared.

Little Miss Mary Beaver entertained a number of her young friends at a birthday party Saturday evening.

Putting your ear to the ground and listening closely you can hear the distant rumblings of the railroad for Mt. Pleasant that never comes. There is one gentleman here, whose name we advisedly withhold just now, who is not willing to give up and wait, and if a road ever comes to this burg, great and lasting credit must necessarily be given him. Through the efforts of this individual Mt. Pleasant's poor and destitute condition ("railroadingly" speaking) has been presented to some men high in railroad circles, men who control roads by the thousands of miles and could build a hundred roads to Mt. Pleasant if they wished, and in due season something may yet turn up.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the Kindley Mills it was decided to close out the entire line of dry goods. It is not yet known who the successors will be.

Owing to the steady rise in the price of cotton the Tuscarora Mill is running but five days in the week.

At last! Lodeed, everything does come to him who waits. For so these many days Eastern Cabarrus has been waiting patiently through democratic and republican sunshine and rain for that day when there would be solid connection between Mt. Pleasant and Concord on the public road. And now the announcement comes that the last bridge will be completed this week. This is too good to be true. It must be the prank of some politician to fool the people.

The Institute juniors crossed bats with the graded school nine Saturday. The juniors won in a rather close game, closer than the score which is 4 to 1.

Prof. J. B. Moore spent Saturday at Kannapolis.

Mrs. C. H. Thayer returned from Salisbury Saturday where she had been visiting friends for a few days.

A few of the baseball fans went to Charlotte yesterday to have a talk with Ty Cobb and tell him to add Mt. Pleasant to his long list of admirers.

Items From Western Stanly.

Mrs. Wade Love has been visiting her mother, Mrs. G. U. Barber.

Messrs. Sam and Fleet Lee, of Anson county, spent a night at Mr. J. C. Nance's this week.

At sunset on November 27th "Uncle Henry" Yow passed away. He was in his 80th year, being the oldest man in Furr township. He served in the 42nd Regiment during the civil war, being with Capt. Hartwell's Company in '62. "Uncle Henry" was a member of Smyrna Baptist church, living his religion as well as professing it. He was a man of unusual good morals, having often said that he never did an act in his life that he was ashamed for his children to know. He leaves five children, three boys and two girls, all of whom are grown. He was buried the following day in the family grave yard, near his home where he had lived for fifty years or more.

October 30th, 1909.

Married.

On Sunday evening last, Mr. L. S. Sherron and Miss Ella Ridenhour were united in marriage at the M. P. parsonage, Rev. Oscar Lindsay, officiating.

SATURDAY A GREAT DAY FOR CONCORD.

Not Only Concord But for All Piedmont North Carolina—Cars Attract Much Attention as They Pass Through on the Reliability Trip—Many Cars Joined the Roadsters and Went to Charlotte—Nearly Fifty Cars Passed Through Concord Saturday.

In addition to the 39 cars attached to and composing the Reliability tour from New York to Atlanta a number of others from adjoining towns passed through on last Saturday. There were no doubt as many as fifty passing. The count was kept accurately as they passed. The Tribune office until the referee car of the Highway tour had passed and a number passed after that. A number of Winston people passed on to Charlotte and several of Concord motorists followed to Charlotte.

For nearly two hours cars were passing through Concord, and the crowds were thick all along the route. Many thousands were there who watched eagerly for the cars. Ty Cobb was seen as he drove his big car through the city, but many did not recognize him. Cobb drove the second car—and many of his admirers gave him a smile and wave as he dashed through the streets.

There is no estimating the crowd gathered to witness the passing cars. There were many thousands. And they did not grow tired, nor cease to watch. Interest never flagged.

Several cars were running very much behind. Car No. 6 driven by Col. Peel, of Atlanta, passed through here late yesterday afternoon. The car waited here for a tire which was brought over from Charlotte, and Col. Peel did not get to Charlotte until nearly 9 o'clock. After spending the day in Charlotte and getting refreshed from the week's run the auto tourists left this morning to continue the run to Atlanta, being due there Wednesday.

FOUND DEAD IN HER ROOM.

The Sudden Death of Miss Dixie Alexander of Charlotte.

Charlotte, Oct. 30.—Miss Dixie Alexander, daughter of Mr. J. B. Alexander, and for a number of years sponsor for Mecklenburg Camp, U. C. V., was found dead in her room at her father's residence this afternoon. Miss Alexander was a member of one of the leading families of Mecklenburg and was an active and enthusiastic member of the United Daughter of the Confederacy.

A Few Items From Forest Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fisher, of Charlotte, spent last Saturday and Sunday at the home of Mr. J. E. Wright.

Messrs. Grimes and Beltzer, of the American Machine Co., are engaged in erecting the new machinery at the Locke Mills.

Miss Mary Burrage has returned to her home in the city after a visit of several weeks to her sister, Mrs. J. P. Rogers, of Winston.

Mr. R. E. Sharpe, of the Ford Roofing Co., is in the city doing some slate and tin work for the Locke Mills.

The Halloween party gotten up by the Ladies' Missionary Society proved a success and a nice sum was realized from their efforts.

Miss Annie Thompson, of Kannapolis, is spending a few days with her friend, Miss Ruth Gibson.

Mr. Nokes, of Massachusetts, has arrived in the city and will have work with the Locke Mills.

Mr. H. B. Wilkinson will move his stock of goods within a few days to the newly finished store building of Mr. W. A. Wilkinson.

Mrs. Morrison to Entertain.

The following cards were issued this morning:

Mrs. D. S. Morrison
 At Home
 Tuesday, November the second nineteen hundred and nine
 Five o'clock

Mrs. M. S. Morrison.

Firemen's Meeting.

The regular monthly meeting of the Concord Fire Department will be held at the city hall tonight at 8 o'clock. Every member is urged to be present.

The Fourth Quarterly Conference for Epworth Methodist church will be held at the church tonight, beginning at 7:30. A full attendance of the membership is desired. Dr. J. C. Bova, Presiding Elder, of the Salisbury conference.

DIED FROM INJURIES FROM FOOT BALL.

Acting Captain Bryne of the Army Foot Ball Team Dies After Being Injured in the Game of Saturday—His Death Brings About Talk on the Game as Played Now.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Because of the death of Eugene A. Bryne, of Buffalo, N. Y., no more foot ball will be played by the West Point eleven this year. This statement was made by Col. Hugh L. Scott, superintendent of the United States Military Academy, late tonight, after a consolation with the athletic authorities of the academy on the death of young Bryne, who expired this morning as a result of injuries sustained in the Harvard game yesterday.

West Point, N. Y., Oct. 31.—Cadet A. Eugene Bryne of Buffalo, N. Y., a fourth year man at the United States Military Academy, died in the cadet hospital at 6:30 o'clock this morning, a sacrifice to foot ball. The army is accustomed to death, but not in this deplorable form; and this tragedy of the gridiron has brought such poignant grief to the officers and cadets alike that the end of foot ball at West Point and Annapolis is predicted by many.

Young Bryne expired just as the sun was rising over the hills along the Hudson, with his grief-stricken father, John Bryne, a civil war veteran, at his bedside. Brave as was the young soldier's fight against death, it was hopeless from the start. Buried beneath a mass of struggling players in the Harvard-Army game yesterday, his neck was twisted and broken by the weight of the crushing pile above him, and he was picked up with every nerve of his body except those of his head and face helpless to perform their function.

Young Bryne was only 21 years old but was a veteran of the army foot ball team and popular with his classmates and officials. He was acting as captain of the eleven yesterday, and he gave his life, too eagerly perhaps, but as his father wished it, struggling on the field for the honor of the army.

Bryne was injured in a mass play on tackle, which had been used several times previous to the accident. Bryne, standing valiantly as left tackle for the army, was forced under the rush of Crimson players and on falling must have had his head twisted into position where the weight of the men piling up on him was greater than the strong ligaments of the vertebral column at the back could stand. They snapped with the pressure and the fatal lesion resulted.

When it became known that Bryne was suffering from paralysis of the entire body below the line of the jaw bones, the cadet corps grasped the similarity between this and occurrence of the West Point field and the recent injury to Earl Wilson at Annapolis.

"If Bryne dies it will kill foot ball for both West Point and Annapolis," was the frequent remark heard on the grounds last night and today, with Bryne dead, the feeling prevailed that the existence of foot ball as a sport participated in by the government's big schools had been suddenly jeopardized.

Bryne was beloved by all at West Point, not only for his foot ball ability but because of his good fellowship.

WIFE SHOT HER HUSBAND.

Traveling Man on Entering Home Late At Night Taken For Burglar.

Wilmington, Oct. 29.—Returning to his home on a late train last night, Frank Lahna, a well known traveling man, upon entering his home was mistaken by Mrs. Lahna for a burglar and shooting through the door she wounded him in the hip. Mr. Lahna cried out at the crack of the pistol and his wife recognized his voice desisted from further shooting. Mr. Lahna is painfully but not seriously wounded.

At The Theaterium.

"Moonstruck"—This artistically colored picture shows a harlequin wending his way to his humble abode after a big night with the boys. After many difficulties he at last reaches his room, tired and exhausted from the effects of too much wine, falls asleep on his bed. Suddenly there is a great transformation scene; he dreams that he is out in the street, and we see him napping on a bench at the edge of the sidewalk. Waking up he spies the moon and makes up his mind that he is going to pay the man in the moon a visit, so he starts to climb up the side of a house and eventually finds himself on the roof. After prowling around for a while a big wind storm arises and blows everything away, and Harlequin, realizing his danger, grabs a stove pipe and before long he flies through the air. He passes through the clouds and makes the long trip up through the sky, finally arriving at his destination, where he alights and looks things over. Coming to the mouth of the moon he is curious to know what is inside, so he dives right in. To his horror, however, he finds himself in a veritable inferno, where he sees all sorts of strange objects, and funny-looking people, who dance around him and endeavor to extend their hospitality to the old-looking stranger. Finally, after many ordeals, he makes his escape and dives out into space again, and as he comes flying head first through the air, and just as he lands on terra firma, he wakes up and finds himself kicking on the floor. So thankful is he that it is only a dream that he smashes the wine bottle and swears off.

Infant Burned to Death at Lenoir.

Lenoir, N. C., Oct. 30.—Late Wednesday afternoon the 18-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Forney Lackey, of this city, was burned to death, the little fellow's clothing having ignited in some manner from a cook stove. The mother had left the little one standing on the porch as she went to the well to draw a bucket of water, only a short distance from the house and before she could reach the child it was so badly burned that it died in a few minutes. A doctor was summoned but did not get to the child before it died. When the mother heard the child scream she dropped her water bucket and ran to the rescue, but she found his clothing burned off.

Dwelling Burned.

It was reported here yesterday afternoon that the residence of Mr. E. J. Bryan, who lives in the Happy Valley, was destroyed by fire on Thursday. Very little of the contents of the house were saved. It has not been ascertained whether or not the house was insured.

Household economy is something a man preaches and expects his wife to practice.

McGRIFF IS PARDONED.

Negro Serving Term of Six Years for Killing Fayette Ury is Pardoned by Governor Kitchen and Today Was Given His Liberty.

Jeff McGriff, colored, serving a six years term on the Cabarrus county chain gang, was set at liberty today on a pardon received from the Governor. The pardon came yesterday to T. D. Manss, Esquire, attorney who appeared for the negro at the time of his trial.

The case it will be remembered, was before the courts more than two years ago. McGriff was sentenced to the roads at the May term of Cabarrus court, 1907. Some time before he killed a well known young negro name Fayette Ury. The killing occurred one Saturday night and the evidence went against McGriff, though there were some circumstances very much in his favor and these were used with good effect in the argument before the Governor in asking his pardon. McGriff was brought in today and set at liberty.

CONCORD TRAILING ON COTTON PRICES.

City Prices for Past Several Days a Quarter Behind Charlotte—The Reverse is Usually the Case.

For several days Concord has been behind Charlotte on the price of cotton. Friday when Charlotte was paying 14.50 Concord was paying 14.25; and Saturday the Charlotte market moved up to 14.85 and Concord paid a half, a quarter of a cent less. As a result of this a good deal of cotton is going to Charlotte that should come to Concord, and would come with prices equal. Concord has been behind on seed also, Charlotte for the last few days of last week paying several cents more than Concord. This is not as a rule, for Concord's market is generally ahead of the neighboring markets.

WIFE SHOT HER HUSBAND.

Traveling Man on Entering Home Late At Night Taken For Burglar.

Wilmington, Oct. 29.—Returning to his home on a late train last night, Frank Lahna, a well known traveling man, upon entering his home was mistaken by Mrs. Lahna for a burglar and shooting through the door she wounded him in the hip. Mr. Lahna cried out at the crack of the pistol and his wife recognized his voice desisted from further shooting. Mr. Lahna is painfully but not seriously wounded.

At The Theaterium.

"Moonstruck"—This artistically colored picture shows a harlequin wending his way to his humble abode after a big night with the boys. After many difficulties he at last reaches his room, tired and exhausted from the effects of too much wine, falls asleep on his bed. Suddenly there is a great transformation scene; he dreams that he is out in the street, and we see him napping on a bench at the edge of the sidewalk. Waking up he spies the moon and makes up his mind that he is going to pay the man in the moon a visit, so he starts to climb up the side of a house and eventually finds himself on the roof. After prowling around for a while a big wind storm arises and blows everything away, and Harlequin, realizing his danger, grabs a stove pipe and before long he flies through the air. He passes through the clouds and makes the long trip up through the sky, finally arriving at his destination, where he alights and looks things over. Coming to the mouth of the moon he is curious to know what is inside, so he dives right in. To his horror, however, he finds himself in a veritable inferno, where he sees all sorts of strange objects, and funny-looking people, who dance around him and endeavor to extend their hospitality to the old-looking stranger. Finally, after many ordeals, he makes his escape and dives out into space again, and as he comes flying head first through the air, and just as he lands on terra firma, he wakes up and finds himself kicking on the floor. So thankful is he that it is only a dream that he smashes the wine bottle and swears off.

Infant Burned to Death at Lenoir.

Lenoir, N. C., Oct. 30.—Late Wednesday afternoon the 18-months-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Forney Lackey, of this city, was burned to death, the little fellow's clothing having ignited in some manner from a cook stove. The mother had left the little one standing on the porch as she went to the well to draw a bucket of water, only a short distance from the house and before she could reach the child it was so badly burned that it died in a few minutes. A doctor was summoned but did not get to the child before it died. When the mother heard the child scream she dropped her water bucket and ran to the rescue, but she found his clothing burned off.

Dwelling Burned.

It was reported here yesterday afternoon that the residence of Mr. E. J. Bryan, who lives in the Happy Valley, was destroyed by fire on Thursday. Very little of the contents of the house were saved. It has not been ascertained whether or not the house was insured.

Household economy is something a man preaches and expects his wife to practice.

WATKINS JURY HUNG UP.

Reported That the Twelve Stand Six For Acquittal and Six For Conviction and That There Will Be No Agreement in the Case—Judge Adams Will Likely Discharge Them.

Asheville, Oct. 31.—The indication tonight is that the Watkins jury is hopelessly tied; that it is evenly divided, six for acquittal and six for conviction; that there is hardly any chance at all for an agreement and that the case which occupied all last week in Superior court will result in a mistrial.

It was learned on a well-founded rumor today that the report last night that on the last ballot the jury stood seven for acquittal and five for conviction was an error; that as a matter of fact every ballot taken has been six for and six against the defendant, stands thoroughly the instructions of the court and the tie-up is not a question of further instructions from the court. The jury has spent the day alternately in the jury room, out walking and lounging in the court house yard.

Just how long Judge Adams will keep the jury together is not indicated but it is probable that if the men fail to agree by tomorrow, a mistrial will be ordered. The consensus of opinion here is that the jury will not agree and that the case will have to be fought all over again.

LASSITER DIES SUDDENLY.

Death of Petersburg Representative Is a Surprise.

Petersburg, Pa., Oct. 31.—Representative Francis Rives Lassiter, of the Fourth Virginia district, died suddenly here tonight. Mr. Lassiter's health has not been considered serious lately.

Negro Man Cuts Negro Woman's Throat.

Mary Edwards, colored, was assaulted by Henry Weiner, her jealous lover this morning about 10 o'clock, on the corner of Twelfth and Church streets, and received knife wounds on her throat and body which may yet prove fatal.

Weiner was at work at the Calvine Mills when he saw the woman and the man, Marshal Caldwell, passing in the distance. Dropping his paint brushes he left the mill and followed the man and the woman. On the corner of Church and Twelfth streets he overtook them, and drawing his knife, sailed on the man. They fought for several minutes, the woman looking on. Finally Caldwell broke and ran. Weiner then turned upon the woman and before she was aware of what he was doing he had slashed her throat, stabbed her in the chest and also made a long wound on her back.

The police were notified but when they reached the scene Weiner had escaped and the woman was lying in a pool of blood. She was brought to the police station where City Physician F. O. Hawley dressed her wounds and she was sent home. The most serious of the wounds is the one on her throat, the knife narrowly missing the jugular vein. The wounds were sewed up but the woman's life is yet in danger.

Officers are looking for Weiner.

Accident to the Wright Aeroplans.

College Park, Md., Oct. 30.—After being in the air ten minutes the Wright aeroplane was brought to earth very suddenly today.

A cog in the gear wheel stopped the engine.

Lieutenants Humphreys and Foulis were in the air ship at the time but landed safely.

H. L. Parks & Co's.
 Department Store.

The Bostonian Shoe
 "One Pair Sells Another"

The materials for the making of Bostonian Shoes are selected with the greatest care, and every precaution is taken to be sure the lasts are right. Union hands produce the goods, which are thoroughly inspected before being allowed to bear the "Bostonian Mark" of perfect work. We are showing

Two've Nobby Styles

this season in Patent Leather, Vici, Gun Metal, Velour Calf, Tan and Box Calf. Price

$3.50 and $4.00

H. L. Parks & Co.
 The Home of Good Merchandise.

"Buck's" Steel Ranges

The Steel Range Branch of the big Buck's family is one of its most important branches. A good Steel Range costs money and of necessity should be selected with care.

In Buck's Steel Ranges are embodied every convenience it's possible to embody in a Steel Range. The ease and with what small amount of fuel they operate is simply astonishing—no Ranges however excellent they may be, can compare in with Buck's magnificent Steel Ranges. For Buck's line of Stoves and Ranges we are exclusive selling representatives in Concord and we earnestly invite you to call and inspect them. Their use in your home stands for economy and better stove service.

QUALITY

If you feel that you want a cheaper Range we can meet your mail order Catalogue price. See us anyway and let's figure.

Raven Brothers
 Furniture & Undertaking Co.

Don't go on suffering from anything makes you feel worse—but get a box of Fetzler's Cold Tablets and be cured. 25c. per box.

Fetzler Drug Store.

STRENGTH

IMPROVE YOUR STRENGTH BY GETTING THE TIME TO START THAT BUSINESS OF YOURS—GET YOUR SHARE OF PRESENT PROSPERITY—WE HELP YOU WITH INVESTMENT AND CONSERVATION—OUR FACILITIES—OUR OF TOP COLLECTIONS—LOAN THE COURT'S EFF. IF YOU'RE IN BUSINESS IMPROVE YOUR CREDIT—WE'LL BEAT ANY BANK ACCOUNT.

* See local interest on these deposits.