JAMES F. HURLEY,
Editor and Manager.

Concord, N. C., Nov. 2, 1909.

The dangers attending football were further emphasized by the death of Cadet Bryne of the West Point team last Saturday. Young Bryne was killed in the game with Harvard and it is likely that there will be no more football with the army students this year. It is also probable that the deplorable accident will tend to curtail football to some extent with all schools and colleges. Football is a clever and manly game and there is much good to be had from it. This is true of all clean athletics which should be encouraged with all schools to the end that the body may be cultivated and strengthened along with the mind. But the thing is overdone. The boy enters college and at once the football schedule is arranged. He is put through a few examinations at the close of the term, dismissed for two weeks holiday and then he makes up the Spring schedule of baseball. So much of this, and so completely is the mind engrossed in these schedules that there is scarcely time enough left to write home, much less study. Not a word have we against sports which train the body, build up health and make muscles strong. Every school should have athletics. We are willing to pay a little more tax to equip our city schools with an outdoor gymnasium and give them a physical instructor, but this thing of boys spending all their time running around over the country playing for the gate receipts ought to be stopped, certainly to a large extent. The boys that remain on the campus are as much demoralized as the "team" that spends weeks of the college campus playing ball. A great many parents send their boys to college to study other things than football and baseball and it is about time that they have this chance. We do not believe any father would want his son to go to a school that offered no physical culture, but the average father wants something else than is offered by twelve weeks of ball schedules with other schools.

Editor Harris, of the Charlotte Chronicle, thinks we are talking about the old broom fields he played in many years ago. Broom Corn is different from the old sedge field production, and the editor of the Chronicle ought to know better than to get his wires so badly crossed.

To Conserve the Nation's Resources.
New Orleans, La., Nov. 1.—Believing that the time has come for definite action looking to the conservation of the nation's great natural resources, leaders in this movement from all parts of the country have gathered here and today are taking the first steps toward putting the principles of conservation into practical effect.

The governors and the chairman of conservation commissioners of 14 Southern States, Clifford Pinchot, chief forester and chairman of the joint committee on conservation, J. D. White, chairman of the executive committee of the National Conservation Congress, and others will take part in the proceedings.

Tonight the chairman of the State conservation commission will confer with Mr. Pinchot on methods of work, difficulties encountered and results accomplished by the commission represented.

The keynote of the meeting will be "practical results." The deliberations of the convention will have an important bearing on conservation in all parts of the country, particularly in the South. It is expected that recommendations will be made for adoption by the State Legislatures of laws for the purpose of arresting the great waste now going on in the natural resources of the South.

Mr. Pinchot, "the improvement of our inland waterways is one of the most vital problems relating to the conservation of our natural resources. Indeed, any comprehensive plan of waterway improvement, even though it may be primarily for navigation purposes, must take into consideration the use of the waters for irrigation, water power and domestic supply. Lasting waterway improvement depends largely on the conservation of forests to protect the head waters and protect soil erosion."

Serious Situation in Kentucky—Troops Called Out.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 1.—Because there are ominous portents of trouble in Jackson and Banett county on election day, tomorrow, 22 members of the Lexington militia are encamped here and Governor Wilson is hurrying to Frankfort from the Waterways Convention at New Orleans.

Advices in Jackson are that a message from Frankfort to the governor was laconic and startling: "Hell has broken loose in Breathitt."

As some of the bloodiest affairs in the history of Kentucky have been fought in Jackson on political occasions, the State authorities have wasted on time in putting the town under military surveillance.

Circuit Judge J. P. Adams, Republican candidate for re-election against D. B. Redwine, of Sandy Hook, Elliott county, sent a call for troops to the acting governor, W. H. Cox, last night, declaring there were large forces of armed men espousing the respective Republican and Democratic causes, that the county officials were powerless and that a fight was imminent.

Jackson, Ky., Nov. 1.—A special train with militia on board arrived before daylight. Detachments will be sent today to Crockettville, War Creek, Sebastine Branch, Oakdale and other precincts where trouble is feared. This is the second time an election has been held in Breathitt county under protection of State troops.

Scarcity of Turkey.
Ohio State Journal.

Thanksgiving turkeys will be scarce this year and high in price and some of us thankful people will have to do without them. That will be a little difficult, for Thanksgiving and turkey go together like boys and girls. But there is no need to be disgruntled at our own fault. We have the fields, and the sunshine and the grasshoppers, and if we do not have enough turkeys it is because we are trifling away our energies on less important things. Chickens, ducks, tenderloins will be scarcer, too, and prices higher.

But the spirit of Thanksgiving is equal to any emergency. There are many things in which it will have a jubilant voice. Everything good hits Thanksgiving. There are boiled beef and cabbage, chine of swine and turnips, big snowy roly polly apple dumplings, stuffed pickered and pumpkin pie—enough to any man thankful, who has a heart in him as big as a walnut.

But where are the turkeys? Is the glory of this life dropping behind? Are the farmers losing their grip? Are the farmers' wives so absorbed in Paris fashions that they are forgetting the turkeys? The market reports from the East say there are 25 per cent fewer turkeys this year than last, and more people to eat them. Raise turkeys. Plant them in the waste places. Let them cover the fallow ground. Let us have less of everything and more turkeys.

WHY SALVES FAIL TO CURE ECZEMA.

They Clog the Pores—Only a Liquid Can Reach the Inner Skin.

Since the old-fashioned theory of curing eczema through the blood has been given up by scientists, many different salves have been tried for skin diseases. But it has been found that these salves only clog the pores and can not penetrate to the inner skin below the epidermis where the eczema germs are lodged.

This—the quality of penetrating—probably explains the tremendous success of the only standard liquid eczema cure, oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription. After ten years of care after care, the world's leading skin specialists have accepted this as the true eczema cure.

We ourselves do not hesitate to recommend D. D. D. Prescription at $1.00 per bottle, but for the benefit of those who have never tried the prescription, we arranged with the D. D. D. Laboratories of Chicago for a special large trial bottle at 25 cents on a special offer now. This first bottle ought to convince every sufferer, and, at any rate, it will surely take away the itch at once.

Tests for Army Cats.

Cats are recognized on the staff of the French war office, but as the position of functionary is more prized in France than it is in England, these animals are not selected in haphazard fashion. They are chosen for their size strength, and to fit them for service among military stores are sent for one or two voyages on a war ship. If they are found to cope effectually with the rats always to be found in the holes of ships they are promoted to shore berths.
