FARMVILLE, PITT COUNTY, NORTH CAROLINA, JANUARY 13, 1917

NO. 33

PADEREWSKI IS TO BE HEARD IN RALEIGH. JAN. 23

Celebrated Polish Pianist Has Been Engaged By the Rotary Club of Raleigh For a Performance in the Auditorium of the Capital City. Noted Musician Is Making His Tour This Year in Behalf of War Sufferers of His Native Land.

Following the brilliant success of the Geraldine Farrar recital a year ago, the Rotary Club of Raleigh announces the appearance on Jan. 23 at Raleigh auditorium of the celebrated Polish pianist Ignac Paderewski.

The Raleigh auditorium has been the gathering place of people of culture and musical appreciation ever since it was built, and by means of the auditorium only it has been possible to offer North Carolina people an opportunity of hearing such artists as Melba, Gadske, Nordica, Smato Hempel Kubelik, Damrosch, Bonie, Campanaria Farrar and others. The Rotary Club is the one organization which has taken a range of internationally known stars. The Chamber of Commerce has recently arranged to co-operate in the presentation of other musical events which will no doubt mean a great deal to North Carolina.

Paderewski is making his brief tour this year largely in the interest of the war sufferers in his native land Poland and although he does not ask for support on account of his desire to aid his native people, he is very gen-

PITT REPRESENTATIVES BUSY IN RALEIGH

Messrs. Clark and Galloway Have Presented Many Local Bills in the Legislature Since The Opening. Bill Introduced Exempting Fox Hounds From the Dog Tax. Also One Allowing Witnesses in County Court $1.00 Instead of 50 Cents.

Pitt County's representatives are making good headway in getting local bills introduced into the legislature. Representative Clark has introduced a bill exempting fox hounds from the dog tax, provided that the owner satisfies the list taker that they are kept for the purpose of hunting and destroying foxes. He has also introduced a bill allowing witnesses in the county court $1.00 instead of 50c. Also the bill provides that the deposit in civil cases be $3.00 instead of $5.00. Messrs. Clark and Galloway have jointly introduced a Highway Commission bill, a copy of which will be sent later. Mr. Galloway has introduced a bill giving the police of Greenville authority over a territory extending one mile around Greenville. These gentlemen state that rously giving a large portion of his profits for relief of those stricken people.

The Raleigh engagement is the only one in this State, Lynchburg and Columbia being the nearest points at which the noted pianist will play. The event will be conspicuous among the educational institutions, a number of them having already signified their intention of being well represented. The various railroads leading into Raleigh have assured adequate train service. President Busbee announces that the following committee from the Rotary Club will have charge of arrangements: John A. Parks, chairman; George J. Ramsey, D. F. Giles, W. H. Bagley, R. G. Allen, William Boylan, C. K. Durley, B. H. Griffin, John T. West and J. W. Weaver. Announcements regarding prices and opening seat sale will be seen elsewhere in this issue.

SUPREME COURT RULES THAT THE WEBB-KENYON LAW IS CONSTITUTIONAL

Most Sweeping of all Decisions as to Dry Laws IS SUSTAINED BY A VOTE OF SEVEN TO TWO

Had Been Vetoed By Taft As Unconstitutional; Leaders of The Prohibition Movement Declare It Is To Their Fight Second Only to Proposed Constitutional Amendment

Washington, Jan. 8.—In the most sweeping of all decisions upholding prohibition law, the Supreme Court today upheld as constitutional and valid the Webb-Kenyon law prohibiting shipments of liquor from "wet" to "dry" states. It also sustained West Virginia's recent amendment to her law prohibiting importation in interstate commerce of liquor for personal use.

After having been vetoed by President Taft, who held it unconstitutional, and having been re-passed by Congress over his veto, the law was sustained by the Supreme Court, by a vote of 7 to 2. Leaders of the prohibition movement declare it is to their fight second only in importance to the proposed constitutional amendment.

Lawyers for liquor interests who claim the law is unconstitutional of the law of the State. As this conclusion causes every prohibition of the West Virginia law to be embraced and come under the right conferred by Congress by the Webb-Kenyon act, it is decided that the West Virginia law was not in conflict with the commerce clause of the Constitution and the power of Congress to regulate commerce if Congress had power to enact the Webb-Kenyon law.

Chief Justice White announced the majority of opinions, to which Justices Holmes and Vandevanter dissented. Justice McReynolds, while agreeing with the majority decision, did not concur in the opinion.

Digest of the Opinions.
An official digest of the majority opinion, prepared by the court, sets out its holdings as follows:

"1. That the West Virginia law, besides prohibiting the manufacture and sale of all intoxicants except as to that which is permitted for medical, sacramental and manufacturing purposes; also forbids all transportation of liquor and all receipt and possession of liquor transported in the State, whether originating in or outside the State, and although it does not prohibit personal use, puts serious restrictions upon the power to obtain for such use.

"The court holds that in view of the well-established police authority of the State over intoxicants, there is no reason to think that this law was in any wise repugnant to the due process clause of the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States. If however, decides that unless the State authority has any exceptional application to shipments of interstate commerce as the result of

SHEPPARD DRY BILL PASSED BY SENATE

Underwood Amendment For a Referendum Defeated By a Tie Vote; Final Vote Witnessed By One of Largest Crowds Ever Packed in The Senate Galleries.

Washington, Jan.—The Sheppard bill, to prevent the manufacture and sale of alcoholic liquors in the District of Columbia, was passed today by the Senate by a vote of 55 to 32. The Underwood amendment for a referendum on the measure before it went into effect was defeated by a tie vote of 43 to 43.

The final vote on the Sheppard bill was witnessed by one of the largest crowds ever packed into the Senate galleries. From an early hour in the morning until 4 o'clock, when the vote was taken, thousands of men and women sat in the galleries and watched the proceedings.

The Sheppard bill prohibits the manufacture, sale, storing, offering for sale, keeping for sale, soliciting or receiving orders for the purchase of alcoholic liquor, the giving away or importing

The term "alcoholic liquor" is defined to include all spirituous, vinous, malt or fermented liquors and all other liquors which shall contain one half of one per cent of alcohol, or more. The bill also provides penalties for violations of the provisions of this act, which are a fine of $300 to $1,000 and imprisonment from thirty days to one year.

The bill prohibits the drinking of liquor in the public streets, on street cars or other public conveyances, including railroad trains. It makes it an offense to be intoxicated on the street, in street cars, railroad coaches, public place or building at any public gathering, or to disturb the peace of any person, while intoxicated, anywhere.

If there were no women, men would have no object in life; their mustaches would cease to interest them; they would not care a chinaman whether their collars were ironed or not; they would have nobody to nurse them when they had the toothache, or to keep from believing they were going to die when an old-fashioned stomach ache had the grip upon them. There would be nobody to take for ice cream and no small edition of flesh and blood to hug. There would be nobody to fight against being kissed and then taken to it as natural as the cat does to cream.

INSTITUTES HELD IN COUNTY AGAIN THIS YEAR

Farmers and Women of Pitt Meet With State Officials at Three Points in County and Discuss Farm Problems and Home Economics. First Institute at Stokes January 25th; Second at Farmville, February 1st, and Greenville on Friday February 2.

The Farmer's Institute held in Pitt county during the early part of last year were in many respects a success and to such an extent that such institutes will again be held this year. The first of these at Stokes, Thursday, January 25th, second at Farmville, Thursday, February 1st and the third in Greenville the following day, Friday February 2nd.

These institutes are conducted under the auspices of the State Department of Agriculture, the A. & M. College, and the extension service in co-operation with the Farmer's Institute committee of Pitt county. At each place the meetings will be called to order promptly at 10:30 o'clock in the morning, and will continue in session, throughout the day, and those attending are invited to bring their lunch and come prepared to spend the day, and make this by far the best Farmer's Institute ever held in the county.

Representatives of the State Department of Agriculture, the Experiment Station and extension service, the County Demonstrator and others will be on hand to discuss farm operations, marketing, crops, live stock insect pests and many other things pertaining to successful farming. Special emphasis will be given to soil improvement, diversification of crops and insect pests.

At the same time and place a Woman's Institute will be conducted under the supervision of Mrs. Jane S. McKimmon, who is in charge of Home Demonstration agents, and the women of the county are invited to come and join the discussions of household economics, home conveniences and health in the home, the education of our children, and other topics of interest to mothers and home makers.

These Institutes should be largely attended, as many matters that will prove helpful to both the farmers and women of the county will be presented.
