The high roller who is simply rolling in wealth might find better use for it.

Marriage is a tie, but it isn't necessarily noose. Sometimes it is merely a slip knot.

It costs nothing to give advice, but sometime it costs a lot to those who receive it.

The man who shows the white feather needn't expect the rest of the world to be color blind.

Truly there is a tide in the affairs of men; but there is no Gulf Stream setting forever in one direction.—Lowell.

Farmville Boy Scout Movement.

To the Parents of Farmville by the Assistant Scout Master:
I wish to make myself so bold as to speak to those of you today who have boys in our troop of scouts as a child would to his parents, not as a father to his child.

We have organized a troop of boy scouts in our little town as doubtless you know, and I wish to say parent it was not organized because we had nothing else to do, we did not start it that we might be known as holders of the required offices but, parents we dis it that our younger—may I say brother, might learn from the experience of the Scout Master and I. More than that. We have a hand book prepared by authorities of the different branches with which it deals. Listen to this: Boy Scouts of America are loyal to the stars and stripes, they are faithful and most of all, Christians.

The boys of Farmville, mothers and fathers, as is the case in every other place need training, so I urge you to not be negligent in your encouraging them to be active members.

May I ask you one question. Had you rather see your boys with the qualities of a distinguished statesman than first class loafers? I will have the pleasure of seeing by noticing the attendance of your boys.

The Boy Scout Movement was begun by excellent statesmen; therefore, it has the qualities of them.

Very truly yours,
ALFRED J. FLANAGAN

ALONG THE WAY.

I met a man the other day as I went down the way. I said good morning, so did he, and then we passed along beside each other friendly like and free as are all creatures in the tide of human effort, toil and strife. Comparing notes on daily life, he told me this and he told me that of care and loss, of plans fall'n flat, of dreams that perished in a day, of hopes that ever passed away in mists of sorrow and of grief, of sickness, suffering, up and down of luck, like other men in town. Along the way each hour we meet—in lane or alley, court or street—our human counterparts—for thine, O stranger, are such cares as mine. Such griefs, such set-backs, losses, gains, such pleasures, pastimes, habits, pains, all up and down the teeming pike the lives of all are much alike. Along the way—ah, let me be a friend to every man I see who smiles responsive to my smile, who walks beside me mile by mile in sympathy—remove or dim or close as mine is unto him—that thus we may make light of care by helping each his load to bear.—(Folger McKinsey in the Baltimore Sun)

HINDENBURG SAYS HE'S GUILTY AS BILL

He and Von Hollwig Apparently Trying to Lift Load off Ex-Kaiser

London, July 5.—Field Marshal Von Hindenburg, former chief of the General Staff, declares that he is responsible for acts of German main headquarters since August, 1916, and also the proclamation of former Emperor William concerning the waging of warfare. He asks President Ebert, of Germany, to inform the allies to this effect, according to the exchange Telegraph Company.

The field marshal arrived in Hanover Friday, the dispatch states, and telegraphed the following message to President Ebert:

"The signing of the peace treaty gives me occasion for declaring that I am responsible for the decisions and acts of main headquarters since August 29, 1916, and also that all proclamations and orders of His Majesty, the emperor, and king, concerning the waging of warfare, were issued upon my advice and upon my responsibility. I beg you therefore to inform the German people and the allied governments of this declaration."

The declaration by Field Marshal Hindenburg that he was responsible for the acts committed by the Germans and for proclamations of the former emperor is the second to be made by a German leader since it was officially announced that the allies proposed to place on trial political and military leaders of Germany for causing the war and for violations of the rules of warfare. The other leader, who assumed responsibilities for the acts of former Emperor William was Dr. Theobald Von Bethel Hollwig, former German chancellor, who held office at the beginning of the war.

Nature will then throw off or expel the worms, and the child will be in perfect health. Pleasant to take. See the bottle.
