RATIFICATION OF THE PEACE TREATY URGED BY PETITION

Washington.—A petition signed by 1,445 persons circulated by the national committee on churches and the moral aims of the war, asking for the immediate ratification of the peace treaty, without reservations or such amendments as would necessitate it being sent back for consideration, was transmitted to Vice-President Marshall, who presented it in the senate. Among the signers were former President Taft and Alton B. Parker.

Raleigh.—Because of injuries to Mrs. Vann at the Union station in this city during March, 1918, Dr. and Mrs. R. T. Vann are seeking $12,000 damages from the Southern railway, United States railroad administration, and the Southern Express company.

English Women Buying Farms.
Women in England are buying their own farms or their own truck and garden spaces in rather conspicuous numbers. And this is all an outcome of the tremendous work done by women on the land during the war. The general feeling is that there will not be much room for the common female farm laborer as time advances, but for the woman who has a little money and who looks upon farming as her profession and her life work there is excellent opportunity in this direction. In the first place, on account of the compact location of the garden spaces and the cities in England transportation of foodstuffs is easy. Then garden truck and flowers do grow abundantly and profusely there, and always find ready markets.

Washington.—John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, and Thomas T. Brewster, representing the coal operators, went into conference with Secretary of Labor Wilson, who had invited them here in an effort to avert the threatened strike of bituminous coal miners on November 1. The first session was expected to continue several hours.

Lumberton.—Investigation proves that meat prices are even higher in Lumberton than in Charlotte. Local market men say Lumberton people demand the best and give this as a reason for the higher prices.

Newton.—Belton Barringer and son, Sinclair Barringer, were convicted in county court of manufacturing blockade liquor.

Both men were bound over to the next term of superior court which convenes here on October 27, their bonds being fixed at $400 each.

Asheville.—With Mrs. Josephina Daniels and Mrs. Newton D. Baker present, the first Y. W. C. A. hostess house ever erected at a government hospital was dedicated at Oteen, near here.

Decrease in Tuberculosis.
A decrease of approximately fifteen per cent in the number of deaths caused by tuberculosis in North Carolina during the past four years is shown in figures tabulated at the State Sanatorium for the treatment of this disease.

The total number of deaths from this cause in the state for the year 1915 was 3,710. In 1918 the total number had been reduced to 3,160, a difference of 550.

Inequality in Law.
A concurring opinion in the case of State v. O'Higgins, from Cumberland, in which the supreme court found no error, gave Chief Justice Wafer Clark a chance to attack the provisions of the North Carolina law prohibiting conviction of a man charged with eloping with a married woman upon the unsupported testimony of the woman.

The opinion was one of fifteen filed by the court, several of which were of local interest. The opinion was written by Associate Justice Brown.

Health Work for Negroes.
In forty-three counties in the state special health work is being done among the colored people by the extension department of the bureau of tuberculosis of the state board of health, co-operating with the state department of education. Community leagues have been organized in these counties, and the total membership is in excess of twenty thousand.

Leaders in these community leagues have pledged approximately $8,000 as their quota of the Red Cross Christmas seals.

Cleaning Suits at Home.
Summer suits made of Palm Beach cloth—that is, of strong, plain weaves of cotton that go by that name—are cool and serviceable and they are very popular. But they require frequent cleaning, and cleaning done by professionals has become expensive. The Palm Beach suit is apt to prove a costly luxury unless it can be cleaned at home. The process which follows is about the same as that used by professionals, except that they have special facilities for pressing. But if one has a sleeve board the pressing ought not to present any very great difficulty.

Before washing, garments should be run in gasoline to remove grease or oily matter of any kind, allowing them to remain for five minutes. For washing, make a soda or lukewarm water and a good neutral soap. Wash in this soda for about fifteen minutes and rinse three times thoroughly.

After washing, the suits should be carefully examined for remaining stains, such as grease, paint, varnish and stains from automobile seats. Stains of this nature should be scrubbed with a brush and a good quality of soap. A few drops of carbon tetrachloride should be dropped on the stain and worked into the soap.

Fruit stains should be treated with a warm perborate of sodium solution, using one ounce of perborate to a pint of warm water. The spot is immersed in this solution from five to fifteen minutes. Ink stains should be treated with a weak solution of sulphuric acid (ten drops to a pint of cold water), then placed in a warm solution of perborate of sodium until the spot has turned pale brown. Then wash with a crystal of oxalic acid, and rinse. One stain is often found on the lapel of coats, such as red from glass-covered seats on railway trains.

This stain yields to perborate of sodium treatment.

After the garments have been rinsed they should be only partially dried before they are pressed. Iron with moderately hot iron on the wrong side and use hangers for both coats and skirts when they are put away.

Vells Return With Small Hats.
The veil is very much in demand for wear with the small hat or the toque, particularly a large square style with a silk hexagonal mesh in black, maroon, beaver, or blue, and a border more or less lavishly embroidered in chain stitching. One of these veils has a hexagonal mesh bordered with a row of large embroidered pastilles; another has a square meshed foundation in a flat pattern, surrounded by a large Greek border embroidered in silk.

Pretty and Practical Hat.
A practical black hat which may be worn with white summer frocks or with dark costume has a brim of shirred black lace and tulle and a French blue picot ribbon is tied around the crown and made into a small bow across the back. Blue and rose-colored flowers and sheaves of maize-colored wheat give color to the hat.

Frocks of Gingham.
Checked gingham frocks are in high favor this summer, and one style shows a wide, deep collar of organdy, buttoned around the edge with wood the color of gingham. There are also wide wide cuts, similarly wood trimmed.
