TUCKER-GAYNOR WEDDING

The Baptist church of this city was the scene of one of the prettiest wedding ceremonies Tuesday evening, July 20th, ever witnessed here, when Miss Eva Turnage Gaynor became the happy bride of Mr. Royce E. Tucker, both of this city.

The church had been attractively decorated in green and white and was filled to overflowing by admiring friends and relatives.

The bride, who never looked prettier, was dressed in white georgette satin with court train from the shoulders, with veil caught with orange blossoms, carrying a huge bouquet of bride's roses, her only ornament being a diamond lavialier, the gift of the groom, while the groom, whose countenance showed forth the joy of his heart, wore full dress.

The attendants were as follows:

Maid of honor, Miss Lillie Tucker, of Washington, D. C., dressed in pink organdy, carrying white roses.

Dame of honor, Mrs. C. E. Parks, of Albemarle, dressed in white charmeuse, carrying pink Killarney roses.

The bride's maids, wearing maize, blue and Nile green organdy dresses, carrying showers of snapdragon, were: Misses Annie Laura Lang, Minnie Smith, and Vivian Gates, Farmville; Margaret Edwards, Kinston; Myrtle Turnage, Fountain, and Nannie Jones, Chatham, Va.

The groomsmen: Mr. Charles Tucker, of Warrenton, best man, and Messrs. Leon Jones, LeRoy Rollins, M. V. Jones, and R. A. Bynum, Farmville; Leonard Smith, Greenville; Cliff Ewell, Durham, and Ralph Cureton, Greenville, S. C., each wearing full dress.

Miss Ruby Rigsby, soloist, and Mrs. J. L. Shackelford, organist, carried showers of snapdragon.

Flower girls, Misses Margaret and Dorothy Smith, were dressed in white organdy, while the ring bearer, Miss Hazel Turnage Gaynor, niece of the bride, wore blue organdy, carrying silver tray.

The beautiful and impressive ring ceremony was used. Rev. J. L. Rumley, the bride's pastor, officiating.

Immediately after the ceremony the bridal party and a number of friends went to the home of the bride's brother, Mr. E. Gaynor, on Church street, where a reception was given in their honor.

On the front porch, and at the front door were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fields and Mr. and Mrs. B. O. Turnage, who received and introduced the guests to the receiving line consisting of the bridal party and Mr. and Mrs. E. F. Gaynor, after which punch was served by Misses Emma Dail and Dehna Smith. The guests were then ushered into the dining room by Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Sheppard, where an ice course with nuts and salted peanuts were served by Misses Mae Joyner, Nannie Smith, Dorothy and Margaret Smith and Mrs. Loyd Smith. Receiving in the library, where the gifts which were many handsome and beautiful, were displayed, were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Erwin.

With the reception over Mr. and Mrs. Tucker left on the midnight train for Atlantic City and other northern points of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. Tucker are of the popular young people of this section and number their friends by their acquaintances, who wish for them an abundance of life's happiness and success.

Entertains in Honor of Bride-Elect.

Miss Annie Laura Lang entertained Monday evening in honor of Miss Eva Gaynor, bride-elect, whose marriage to Mr. Royce Tucker took place here Tuesday evening.

The interior of the handsome home was indeed a lovely scene, the decorations, draperies, flowers, etc., presenting a color scheme of white and gold.

Possibly the most enjoyable features of the occasion were the reading by the bride and groom the advices of the guests and the cutting of the bridal cake. The successful cutters being Mr. R. A. Bynum, the ring; Miss Margaret Edwards, the dime; Miss Ruby Rigsbee, the wishbone; Mr. Leon Jones, the thimble; and Miss Annie Laura Lang, the bachelor button.

Refreshment consisted of a delicious ice course with cake. At a late hour the guests, in winding their way out, declared Miss Lang a most charming hostess.
