Mrs. B. O. Turnage Entertains in Honor of Mrs. Fields.

Mrs. R. A. Fields was given a delightful birthday dinner on last Friday by Mrs. B. O. Turnage at her attractive home "The Maples."

The dining room was decorated with ferns and jonquils and yellow shaded lights. The table was lovely with a center piece of jonquils with small yellow roses filled with white placed around the reflector. The place cards were also in the same color.

Immediately after the guests were seated Mrs. J. Loyd Horton presented the guest of honor with a handsome silver vase, a gift from the guests, with the toast:

"Here's to you Jennie, may you live a thousand years, May we all live a thousand years, less one day, For what will life be to us, when you have passed away?"

Covers were laid for eight. A five course dinner was served. Mrs. Turnage was assisted by Miss Bee Douke. Those present were: Mesdames, R. A. Fields, J. L. Rumley, J. Loyd Horton, D. E. Oglesby, W. Leslie Smith, J. W. Parker, W. R. Willis and A. C. Monk.

Death of Mrs. D. A. Rouss Farmville, N. C. March 9, 1922.

Dear Editor: Will you please allow me just a little space in your dear old paper to announce the death of my dear beloved and devoted wife, who died on March 5th, 1922. She was sick only eleven days and bore her suffering bravely.

She was the mother of ten head of children and all was done for her that loving hearts and friends could do, but God knew best and took her to live with him.

She was 43 years of age, and leaves to mourn her loss eight children, husband and friends. She is gone, but not forgotten.

Never will her remembrance fade. Sweet thoughts will ever linger round.

The grave where she is laid. Written by our loving husband, D. A. ROUSS.

ATLAS
PORTLAND CEMENT

A NEW industry comes to town, or an old one moves into new and better quarters. Either is a credit to the community and to the merchant who thus gives evidence of his progress.

One man has played a possibly unnoticed, but no less essential part in this community improvement—your building material dealer. His investment in a slow moving stock, building materials, is a definite pledge of his belief in the community. His stock and ability to deliver promptly, enable you to take advantage of weather conditions and most importantly, avoid construction. Your building material dealer's judgment is your best guarantee. He is the man who has called Atlas Portland Cement "the Standard by which all other makes are measured."

MARCH

The Eventful Month

Nearly every one of the thirty-one days in March is the anniversary of some important event in American History.

March 4, 1818—Adoption of the official United States Flag, the Stars and Stripes.

March 14, 1794—Patent granted Eli Whitney for his Cotton Gin, bringing prosperity to the South.

March 25, 1609—Henry Hudson sailed in "Half Moon" from Holland—eventually discovering the Hudson River.

March 27, 1513—Ponce de Leon, in search for Fountain of Eternal Youth, discovered Florida.

March 28, 1918—Roch made Commander of Allied Armies.

March 30, 1867—Alaska ceded by Russia to United States for $7,200,000.

March will also mark an important event in your personal history, if you open an account with us.
