HONEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922

HONEY PHILOSOPHY FOR 1922

There is a wonderful thing. Think of the bird that first conceived the notion of storing a life to keep warm before there was any fire. You know his name, of course. Then there was the boy who really came off the gold in the world, the boy who looked at a mountain, saw there was some money in it, dug up the gold, and was rich. The boy who was rich and looked out how to get the money out of the ground. You remember who he was, was it not the other boy, what's his name—the one who tried to get the gold carried through, and spent it all at the end of the year so they could all converse? "Everybody knows who he was," they would say. "It's very important to get your money out of the ground."

FARMERS HAVE WINNING STREAK

Have Won Five Straight Games Played This Week.

The Farmville Base Ball Club better known in the league circle as the Farmers, have surely been playing ball this week, and will no doubt give somebody a tight race for the second half before the season ends.

The first three games of the week were played on the local diamond with the Pamlico's of Washington, and each of the games were pitchers duels, the Farmers proving most mastery of the situation in each game and won all three.

And then again on Thursday, the Farmers journeyed over to Tarboro and gave them a little touch of what could be done to them by defeating them more easily to the tune of 6 to 2.

But this afternoon, Friday, the Farmers eased up on Tarboro a little and only sent four of their men safely across the rubber, to Tarboro's lone 1, making the 5th straight game won by the Farmers this week.

Look out Blue Sox, the Farmers will be after your goat yet.
