Woman's Wesley Bible Class Entertained.

As a result of an attendance contest the Sunday School Class of Mrs. J. I. Morgan was hostess to the Woman's Wesley Bible Class at the home of Mrs. M. V. Horton Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock.

The porch was beautifully lighted, and decorated with baskets of spring flowers and here the guests were served punch by Mrs. Bryant and Miss Bettie Joyner.

The entire lower floor was thrown together and Dorothy Perkins roses and sweetpeas gave a delightful note of color as well as sweetness. A splendid talk by Mrs. Morgan on the future of the two classes was followed by a Biblical contest in which Mrs. Pearl Johnson was winner. She was presented with a corsage of sweetpeas. The novel scheme of matching flowers for partners was used before delightful refreshments consisting of pink and white ice-cream, wafers and mints were served by Mesdames DeWitt Allen, Walter Newton and Winnie Carr.

Mrs. Rountree Hostess.

Mrs. C. S. Rountree was hostess to the Magazine Club Tuesday afternoon at her home on Walnut street.

The general topic of program for the afternoon was "Contemporary American Poetry". The half dozen years have shown a remarkable interest in poetry and books of poetry have of late become "good sellers". The first paper was "The Subject Matter of Recent American Poetry" by Mrs. J. H. Darden who discussed the classical, conventional, homely, morbid, fantastic and realistic subjects and gave interesting examples of each. Miss Tabitha DeVisconti had a splendid paper on "American Life in Recent Poetry" and gave a portrayal of important aspects of American living as pictured in modern poetry.

After the usual routine of business the club adjourned and a delicious frozen fruit salad was served by the hostess.

Mesdames J. T. Harris and L. T. Pierce were special guests at this meeting.

Have You Listed Your Property?

Mr. L. T. Pierce, listaker for Farmville Township, asks us to state that the time limit for listing taxes expired Thursday, May, 31st, but due to the fact that several had failed to list their property, he would hold the books open until Saturday evening June 2nd.

ADKINS-FLANAGAN.

Tuesday afternoon an unusual number of automobiles gathered in the grove of the beautiful country home of the Flanagans. Dan Cupid had once again aimed true and the hearts of Miss Blanch Flanagan and Mr. Linwood Adkins were securely pinned with a single one of his dainty arrows. Many relatives were there to witness the nuptials and a host of friends were present to wish the young couple their best thoughts.

The room was decorated with roses and ferns and the guests were stationed so as to allow free passage from the door to the center of the room. Miss Estelle Horton entered and played Mendelsohn's Wedding March, then struck the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin. After a few measurers Rev. D. E. Hill entered and quietly took his station a little beyond the center of the room. Then after a number of breathless moments there entered Miss Flanagan dressed in a traveling suit and leaning upon the strong arm of her choice, Mr. Adkins. They with measured tread rounded the luxuriant ferns before the mantle and turning thence to the right stopped under a beautiful arch formed of white roses draped from the chandelier. There they faced the minister and while Miss Horton played softly Hearts and Flowers the vows were taken and they were happily made husband and wife.

Profuse congratulations followed and after the couple were made as happy as could be by their friend's words and a shower of rice the buzz of automobiles began to call the guests away and leave the young winsome couple at home and to their journey of life together.
