COMMUNITY LOYALTY

Have you ever stopped to consider the fact that loyalty to community interests is the highest form of patriotism? Show us the man who is loyal and true to every interest of his own community and we will show you in that same individual a man in whom his country can report absolute confidence in any emergency that calls for his allegiance. On the other hand, the man who is careless and unconcerned for the interests of his community is most apt to display the same spirit of indifference toward his government or his state should any serious danger threaten either. Try to imagine an entire state composed of innumerable communities welded and cemented into a symmetrical whole, each striving to excel the others, but each, from its own local loyalty, developing a broader and deeper loyalty that reaches out and embraces the whole. This would be brought about if we could be brought to see that we owe allegiance to our own people, but that the prosperity and success of others is in no wise a detriment to us, but rather a help, that if each community would develop itself to the utmost—materially, mentally and morally—none would need be envious of others, neither would any need do ought but to detract from another's interest. Let us develop community loyalty to the full—the highest feasible form of patriotism.

"After God had finished making the rattlesnake, the toad and the vampire, He had some awful substance left with which he made what is known as a scoundrel. A scoundrel is a two-legged animal with a corkscrew soul, a water-sogged brain and a combination backbone made of jelly glue. Where other men have hearts he carries a tumor of decayed principals. When the scoundrel comes down the street honest men turn their backs, the angels weep tears in heaven and the devil shuts the gates of hell to keep him out."

Says Tobacco Must Go Way Of Saloon

Dr. Charles G. Pease, president of the Non-Smokers' Protective League, says that the war against the use of tobacco is now on in earnest. He says: "We are going to do to tobacco just what the Anti-Saloon League did to drink."

NOTICE OF SALE

By virtue of the power contained in a certain mortgage executed by J. E. Warren to Farmville Insurance & Realty Company on the 12th day of November, 1921, duly recorded in the Registry of Pitt County, in Book U-13 page 286 default having been made in the payment of the notes secured therein. The undersigned will sell at public sale before the Court House door in the Town of Greenville, N. Poem by Uncle John

I've a mighty good opinion of the plain, old-fashioned plan, that they shouldn't run fer office till the office seeks the man. For it's mighty nigh disgustin' when we contemplate the mob, that cavorts around the country simply huntin' fer a job! Of course the princely salary's a mighty temptin' bait to the crooked politicians that would like to serve the state, but I call to mind the doin's of some over-trusted men who would serve the country safer—we had 'em in the pen!

We watched the game impar— and I'll kiate in white and black, that we better watch the candidate that's first upon the track. And, when I cast my ballot, as I'm mighty apt to do, you'll see me scratch the feller that has the least to do!

Farmers of Pasquotank and Camden County Support

A. F. AYDLETT

As Their Representative in Congress

E. F. Aydlett of Elizabeth City, candidate for Congress from the First North Carolina Congressional District, should command the support of the farmers of the District for the following reasons:

FIRST.—Mr. Aydlett was brought up on the farm and, after he had reached manhood, remained on the farm until he had learned at first hand the problems which the farmer has to face. After he moved to town and took up the practice of law he continued to farm until very recent years, and is thoroughly abreast with present day farming conditions and needs throughout the district. No man in public life in the district is closer to the farmer in sympathies and habits of thought than he, and none is in better position to judge the merits of, and advocate, if it be wise, legislation designed to aid the farmer.

SECOND.—Through forty years of active public life, Mr. Aydlett has given to his party a devotion that has been unwavering and a service that has been unflinching and a zeal that has been tireless. In all these years of party service, he has never before asked for office. It would be little short of a shame to deny him the Congressional nomination when he comes seeking his first favor from the party to which he has given a lifetime of loyal service.

THIRD.—Not only from a standpoint of his own service to the party, but also as a matter of simple justice to his section of the district, Mr. Aydlett should be given the nomination, especially in view of the fact that Beaufort County has had the Congressman from this district for the last twenty-six years.

FOURTH.—Through his practice in the courts of Dare and Currituck, and through intimate contact and association with fishermen from boyhood, Mr. Aydlett is familiar with the fishing industry and its interests in this section, and is in sympathy with the viewpoint of sound fishermen of the First Congressional District, where many farmers are fishermen and where many fishermen are farmers.

FIFTH.—We have watched Mr. Aydlett's practice in the courts of the district and we are familiar with the whole-hearted way in which he throws himself, body and soul, into whatever he undertakes. We know that he has a deep and abiding affection for his State, and for his section, as well as for his County and for his town, and we believe he would give to his constituents as a whole, whether from Pitt, Pasquotank, Beaufort or Dare, the same single-hearted devotion and untiring service and persistent effort that he has given to the clients whose interests he has represented in the courts.

FINALLY, observing that Mr. Aydlett is endorsed by his associates of the Elizabeth City bar, who have known him intimately through his extensive practice, and that he has been likewise endorsed by the business interests of his home town, in which for many years he has been identified as an important factor, as a man of unimpeachable integrity and high character, we the undersigned farmers of the First Congressional District deem it a duty, a privilege, and a pleasure to add our endorsement to that of his professional and business associates, and hereby commend E. F. Aydlett, of Elizabeth City, to the voters of the First Congressional District of North Carolina.
