REPUBLICAN SILENCE

Many people are wondering why Coolidge and the other republican leaders are keeping so silent. The fact of it is they are ashamed to speak of their dark record. If they open their mouths there is the scandal of the treasury department, in which Secretary Mellon returns $120,000,000 a year to the millionaires on their income taxes. The people do not realize what the cause is that compels the poor and middle classes to bear such burdens of taxation. Andrew Mellon, the secretary of the treasury is one of the three richest men in the world. Next after John D. Rockefeller and Henry Ford, Mellon is the richest man in the world. So his friendship is altogether with the millionaires, and he has neither friendship nor sympathy with the man who earns his bread by the sweat of his brow, because Andrew Mellon has never had that experience. He lives by the sweat of other peoples' brows.

The scandal in the treasury department has been largely overlooked by the American people, but Senator Couzens, progressive republican of Michigan, is paying the expenses out of his own pocket for the investigation of the conduct of the treasury department and the alleged favoritism, which Andrew Mellon is showing to the millionaires of the country in returning so large a portion of their income taxes while holding onto the taxes of the working class and the middle class.

MORE GROUNDS FOR SILENCE

There are several other grounds for silence on the part of the republican leaders. There is the department of justice, which is shown under the searchlight of democratic investigation, as one of the rottenest organizations that ever formed a part of our government. Then there is Albert B. Fall, who gave away millions and millions of barrels of oil at the government expense while he received a bountiful fortune from the oil magnates. In fact, the last three years has shown Washington to be the rottenest and most corrupt government that ever disgraced the American nation. Is it not time to turn the rascals out? The democratic party is over 130 years old and there has never been an administration in which a democratic cabinet officer was found engaged in crooked work.

The Krupps are making teeth with the steel once used in making guns. Very likely they are wisdom teeth.

"Uncle, what is a cafe de luxe?"
"Oh, about five per cent cafe and 95 per cent looks."

A man may wash the dishes because he's henpecked. But, he may do so because he loves his wife.

In an editorial headed "Fooling the Farmer," The New York World (democratic) charges that "in so far as it affects the farmer, the tariff of abominations was framed to deceive."

Katie: What did the cat want to know, mother?

We understand that a certain young man here is getting so absent minded that he cleaned the cat's teeth one night recently and kicked himself out of the back door.

Church Notes

WHY ATTEND AND SUPPORT THE CHURCH

Because it is the only institution on earth that has the assurance of permanence. Jesus said, "I will build My Church, and the gates of hell shall not prevail against it." All men, everywhere, are seeking stable institutions that can and will guarantee the safety of their treasures. Christ Jesus pledges the safety and increase of all you commit to Him.

Because such men as William McKinley, Theodore Roosevelt, William Howard Taft, Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge, the vast majority of university and college presidents, heads of great business firms, officers of nations, states and cities, are church members or were in their day and generation.

Because the church can really minister to every need that may arise in the life of the individual—in the home, during childhood, in sickness, in prosperity or misfortune—and in the time of death it comes with sympathy, comfort and assurance. You will attend and support something. Why not the best?

RED CROSS DUTY TO AID VETERANS

Sends Nearly Four Millions in Year to Lessen Burdens of Disabled Soldiers.

SERVES 63,700 IN HOSPITALS

Every Case is Given Individual Service—Assists Families of These Men Everywhere.

Washington.—The need of individual assistance by ex-service men and their families from the Red Cross is as pressing today as it was immediately after the end of the World War. For six years this work has been foremost of all Red Cross services, and in emphasizing the steady public support of this work the Red Cross National Headquarters urges the largest enrollment this year during the membership campaign opening on Armistice Day, November 11.

Nearly four million dollars of Red Cross funds spent for disabled veterans and their dependents during the year ended June 30, last presents some idea of the magnitude of this work. The current year, it is estimated, will call for still further disbursements of funds for the reason that the Red Cross, through more than 3,500 Chapters in as many communities in the United States, has been called upon to help the ex-service men in making out their applications for the adjusted compensation granted in the so-called bonus law.

55,767 Soldier Cases a Month

The Red Cross work for the disabled soldier is designated "home service," for it gives individual attention to the man and his family approximating the interest and loving care of the home. Such service in the hospitals, camps, soldiers' homes and sanatoria, averaged 33,951 cases a month during the year. Assistance to ex-service men and their dependents averaged 55,767 cases a month. In addition, the Red Cross in the last twelve months provided 33,000 recreation and entertainment events in the hospitals and camps.

Thus the Red Cross, symbolized as the "Greatest Mother," still watches over these many thousands of men, comforts them, helps to lighten the tedium of their physical reconstruction, and in their homes lifts some of the burdens from their "own people."

Work in Communities Increases

The home service of the Red Cross was the most pressing duty of 2,693 Chapters, an increase of 183 communities where problems affected by the war veteran's condition required solution through immediate and totalligent assistance. The Chapters alone expended some $2,000,000 in this work.

The transient disabled soldier, usually suffering from disability or tuberculosis, is almost everywhere a grave problem. From national funds the past year $178,076.86 was expended in helping the Chapters to care for these wandering men.

According to government report there are 4,800 veterans in civilian institutions, and in the national homes for soldiers the complications are increasing. The large groups of patients whose claims have been disallowed, or veterans of foreign wars, and the great number of men permanently resident in these institutions call for Red Cross work which cannot be avoided nor denied.

Definite Service to 73,700

Of a total of 34,500 ex-service men in hospitals and other institutions 73,700 were rendered a definite and specialized service by the Red Cross. In a single month 4,185 new cases were presented and a total of 20,125 was acted upon—figures which serve to illustrate the magnitude of the information and claims service engaging the attention of Red Cross workers. New veteran legislation amending the War Risk act which extends many additional rights to disabled ex-service men will reopen thousands of cases and require still greater Red Cross service.

When Congress granted a charter to the American Red Cross it charged the organization with the duty to act as "the medium of communication between the American people and their Army and Navy." This responsibility to the enlisted men and their families is met every year without restriction.

Serves Men on Active Service

The extent of this Red Cross activity during the last year embraced a total of 135,246 cases. There were 36,947 separate soldiers' and sailors' cases; 20,316 investigations of home conditions; 11,431 cases related to discharges, discharges, etc. Assistance was given in 38,678 instances for personal, business or family problems; 744,230 visits were made to the sick or disabled; and nearly 40,000 letters and telegrams dispatched to the homes of enlisted men.

From June to September at the numerous military training camps the Red Cross provided information and home service to the trainees, also instruction in First Aid and Life-Saving. The entertainments, and recreation events at the various Army and Navy hospitals reached nearly 3,600 during the year, and occupational therapy in nine Naval hospitals gave constructive and beneficial results and occupied the time of patients in the making of useful and ornamental things.
