NORTH CAROLINA - THE "MOD-EL STATE OF THE SOUTH"

There are many reasons why North Carolina should be called the model state of the south.

But the main reason, according to a citizen of Georgia, who recently visited this state, is our system of hard surfaced roads.

B. B. Ivey, of Macon, was so icapressed with his visit, that he returned home and granted an interview to his home town paper. And here is what the paper had to say:

"B. B. Ivey returned Wednesday from an automobile trip through North Carolina. When he was asked about the things which had impressed him most, in view of the fact that North Carolina has been held up so much lately as the model southern state, his reply was: The roads, 3 the roads, first, last and all the

"Mr. Ivey said the roads from Macon to Milledgeville were plain old Georgia dirt roads, and that while ha was lucky enough to go through in dry weather, if it had been raining he lmost would have had to give up the trip. After they reached North Carline the roads were fine, nearly all of them paved, and those which were not paved were gravel roads, which are almost as good, he stated.

"The most impressive thing about the roads, Mr. Ivey stated, was the way they were posted. It was practhe fly impossible to get lost. Every telephone pole in the towns has the route number on it. In Georgia towns, he brought out it is almost impossible to get cut of a town be impossible to get cut of a town be ause of the lack of signs, without fellowing crop. asking directions from people several imes. MRS LOWSESTIELDS BY AUC. DIED SUDDENLY SUNDAY

Sunday afternoon at five o clock in the hospital at Greenville, Mrs. Louist Fields Bynum passed away, Mrs. Bynum was the second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Fields, and was born 26 years ago and reared on the old Fields place between Farm-ville and Saratoga. She was married to Jaimer Bynum four years ago. An infant, born a year and a half! ago, preseded its mother in death, After the death of her mother, Mrs. Bynum, who was in her girlhood, shouldered the responsibility of filling her mother's place, which she did so well that her brothers and sister are today almost prostrated with grief because of her going. Mrsi Bynum was a faithful member of the Christian church. Be-aides her husband, she is survived by her father, one sister, Mrs. Carl Mc-Keel, of Walstonburg, and five brothers: Roland, Gray, Robert, Fenner and Albert. The funeral was held on Monday afternoon from her home, and interment was made in the Farmville cemetery. Rev. D. C. Gordon and Rev. B. B. Slaughter were the officiating ministers. The hymns sung were "Nearer, My God, to Titee", "Abide With Me," and "Asleep in Jesus". The lovely and numerous flowers were mute witnesses of the love in which Mrs. Bynum was held She was a woman of personal charm, possessing the rare combination of perfect housekeeper and home-keep-
