Just reached the respectable age of one hundred. And the age is less important than the marvelous improvements of one hundred years.
The next step will be the flying machine, with rearrangement of man's living habits, recasting of population centres and land values. By the right hill and mountain tops within two hundred miles of big industrial centres now, and your grandchildren will bless you.

SELLING JOB

If Lincoln had only a dozen books and Garfield learned to read while riding a tow path mule, what can the child today do with present school equipment—if he really wants to?
Publisher J. P. O'Furey of the Cedar County News, and member of the school board at Hartington, Nebraska, puts the above question in clinching his argument for greater vision in the handling of our educational system. He contends that with complain of high taxes but go merrily about the job of building up "propaganda" which leaves the child with the impression that school is a monster destroying its liberties.
Current cartoons on the opening of school, which almost in every instance put the wrong emphasis on what school really means to the child, brought forth this most interesting comment from Mr. O'Furey:

"While we are complaining of high taxes I wonder how much useless expense is caused by impressing upon the minds of children that school is destroying their liberties?
"And what does the mental opposition cost the country?
"And how much worry does it cause school authorities, while the kiddies are young, and to civic authorities as they grow older?
"Isn't it about time we all start 'selling' the school idea to our children?"

MISSIONARY STUDY DISTRICT MEET

Following the devotional service Thursday morning by Mrs. J. W. Lovelace and a short address by the presiding officer, Mrs. A. B. Deans, of Wilson, the Missionary Study meeting of the Washington District got under way at 10:00 with its first business meeting held in the handsome new Methodist church here. This conference included the Superintendents of the Mission Study Classes of the District and nineteen visitors from Tarboro, Rocky Mount, Greenville, Goldsboro, Washington and Stantonburg were in attendance. The book of Study, "Straight Way Toward," recommended by the Mission Board was discussed at the morning session.
At 1:00 o'clock a basket lunch was enjoyed in the basement.
At the afternoon session short talks were made by the leaders present, suggestions were heard, and plans were made for the year's work.

Those in attendance were quite enthusiastic over the interest manifested in this, the first meeting of this particular group.

Utilizing an old shingle mill equipment with power supplied by a small stream to make cheese boxes for the small co-operative cheese factories of Watauga county is the new farm enterprise found in that county by James M. Gray, assistant director of extension at State college.
Mr. Gray returned to Raleigh Sunday from a trip made into Watauga county where he addressed the annual picnic of the dairy producers of the county. The picnic was held near the Beaver Dam Cheese factory and while there Mr. Gray visited the farm of a Mr. Perry who is now manufacturing most of the boxes used by the four co-operative factories of that county.
"When we first began to establish cheese factories in the mountain the boxes were bought in Wisconsin at a cost of from 20 to 30 cents each," says Mr. Gray. "Now Mr. Perry is manufacturing these boxes on his home farm and selling them to the four factories of his county at a cost of about 12 cents each. He keeps two laborers busy all the time and gives the mill such of his time as he can spare from his farm work. Mr. Perry started this activity with Sam Farthing and since Mr. Farthing's death has built up a good trade. He, of course, has been aided and encouraged by our dairy specialist, F. E. Farnham, who started the cheese factory work."

New Enterprise Started on Farm

CHEESE BOXES FORMERLY BOUGHT IN WISCONSIN NOW MADE IN WATAUGA COUNTY, THIS STATE.
The cheese factories of western North Carolina are finding a ready market for all their output locally, states Mr. Gray. With good roads, the factories are trucking their cured cheese down to the larger towns of the Piedmont and selling the product at good prices. Formerly the entire output was sold to the large packing companies at reduced prices. Mr. Gray states that the demand for western North Carolina cheese was steadily growing and that the factory owners were much pleased with the outlook for the industry.

ry started this activity with Sam Farthing and since Mr. Farthing's death has built up a good trade. He, of course, has been aided and encouraged by our dairy specialist, F. E. Farnham, who started the cheese factory work."

Mr. Gray states that Mr. Perry is building about 5,000 boxes each year and that he is saving the factories as much on them as he is making himself. Wood from the horse farm is used and power from a farm stream. An old shingle mill outfit has been converted into an excellent outfit for building the boxes.

E. F. HUFFINES, representative of the PILOT LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY in FARMVILLE, was one of the nineteen members of the Pilot's agency organization to win charter membership in the McAlister Clan organized at the Company's agency convention recently held in Quebec, Canada.
The PILOT has over five hundred agents, and only nineteen were able to meet the stringent requirements for membership in the McAlister Clan, which is considered the highest honor obtainable with the Pilot.

No man can win membership in this high order of the PILOT who is not worthy of the public's utmost confidence and who is not able to give you superior life insurance service.

"It's Toasted" gives Lucky Strikes the finest flavor and protects the throat
What 11,105* doctors write about smoking

William Hodge, Favorite Actor of the Stage, writes:
"Until I began to smoke Lucky Strike cigarettes, I had to throat my pleasure in smoking. Now I smoke Lucky Strike exclusively. My throat, my chest, my nerves are never affected."

WHAT is the quality that Mary Garden, David Belasco, Nazimova, Fiske O'Hara, William Hodge, and other famous singers, actors, broadcasters and public speakers have found that makes LUCKY STRIKES delightful and of no possible injury to their voices?
For the answer we turned to medical men and asked them this question:
Do you think from your experience with LUCKY STRIKE cigarettes that they are less irritating to sensitive or tender throats than other cigarettes, whatever the reason?
11,105 doctors answered this question "YES."
These figures represent the opinion and experience of doctors, those whose business it is to know.
