

DAUGHTERS OF THE AMERICAN REVOLUTION UNVEIL MARKER IN SNOW HILL SATURDAY 24

Celebration Attended by Four Thousand; Many Notables Present; Big Picnic Dinner Served.

Snow Hill, March 23.—Special Cor.—For the past several weeks, Saturday of last week had been referred to as "Greene County's big day," and without a doubt it was the biggest day of its kind in the history of Carolina since the day 215 years ago when the Indians were driven out of these parts, in commemoration of which the celebration was held Saturday.

A lion's share of the credit for the grand success of the day goes to Mrs. W. B. Murphy who was in complete charge of the celebration, and who has spent much time and effort in bringing about this big day.

The music furnished by the Fort Bragg band added much to the success of the day and was enjoyed by everyone.

Governor McLean added numerous friends to his already large list of admirers here, by his splendid address and the expression of his desire to be one of the crowd—just a regular citizen. "One outstanding expression of this desire was shown when he protested sitting at a "special table" at a picnic dinner.

The dinner served was the biggest ever served in Greene county. Three tables, each over a hundred yards long, were covered from end to end with barbecue, fried chicken, cakes, pies, sandwiches, pickles, and numerous other good things to eat. Everybody ate to their "stomach's content" and still there was food enough to feed hundreds more. Forty-five hundred trays of barbecue were placed on the tables.

Governor McLean, who delivered the principal address of the day, was referred to by the official hostess, Mrs. W. B. Murphy, of Snow Hill, recipient of the Col. Alexander McAllister Chapter, D. A. R., as "the probable nominee of the democratic party for President of the United States.

The Governor spoke on "our debt to the pioneers," commending their spirit of bravery and self-sacrifices which made possible the civilization, safety and progress of today. He recounted outstanding steps in their pioneering efforts and praised their unselfish attitude for the protection and upbuilding of their homes and communities.

Speaking of the significance of the Tuscarora campaign, Hon. J. Paul Frazzetta, of this city, gave an excellent summary of events leading to the Indian war of 215 years ago. At the end he pictured the results of Colonial victories, brought about by the indomitable spirit of the pioneers and their influence on the advance of today.

Annual pilgrimages to the historic battlefield were suggested by Mrs. E. C. Gregory, of Salisbury, State D. A. R. Regent.

Mrs. W. O. Spencer, of Winston-Salem, D. A. R. vice-president general, scored muck-raking histories and called for a deeper reverence for the unimpaired history of the Old North State.

A. B. Newsome, of the State Historical Commission, spoke of the need and value of erecting historical markers and urged more care in preserving old records and manuscripts for the use of future generations. Greetings were extended by Mrs. J. W. Parker, grand matron Eastern Star, and other executives of State organizations.

Mrs. C. M. Park, of Tarboro, State vice-regent, members of the Greene County Board of Commissioners and other officers and distinguished guests were introduced to the vast audience that packed all available space in the large school auditorium.

The program of Miss Dora Howell, vice-regent of New York, a native of North Carolina, who has made a high record in the musical world, was enthusiastically received. "Anno Lucrum" was sung by her numbers as an organist in the presence of Governor McLean.

Major-General J. H. Hayes, of the United States Army, and other distinguished guests were introduced to the vast audience that packed all available space in the large school auditorium.

chapter and Mr. J. H. Newsome, member of the board of county commissioners, and accepted by Mayor J. C. McLean. The unveiling was by a group of young representatives of old Greene county families.

As flower page, little Alice Harper Parker, of Farmville, presented courtesies to Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. Spencer, Mrs. Parks and Miss Howell from the Greene chapter. The invocation was asked by Rev. J. A. Russell, pastor of the local Methodist church.

The victory that broke the power of the Indians in Eastern Carolina and sent them scurrying to New York, was celebrated here Saturday in a fashion to leave a mark, or rather a marker, for the next 250 years or more.

The victory occurred 115 years ago Saturday the Daughters of the American Revolution erected a marker and unveiled it where was once the primeval hunting ground of native Indian tribes, now rich agricultural land yielding its bounty to America.

The mark left by the Indians takes on the name of a New York city to which the Indians of North Carolina gave their name—Chautauqua and the traveling Chautauqua courses, lectures and programs, carry the name. New Bern, itself was originally known as Chautauqua.

The D. A. R. led in this state by Mrs. Edwin C. Gregory, Salisbury, state regent, has taken a lead in erecting markers in recognition of achievements of the past and enduring inspiration to the present and future.

But this most famous Indian battlefield of North Carolina dedicated Saturday. (Please turn to page six)

MINING AND AGRICULTURE IN NORTH CAROLINA SOON TO FEEL THE MAGIC TOUCH

Electric Power Reaching Out West and East Make New Industries Possible.

Is there now under way a transformation in two of North Carolina's great industries—agriculture and mining?

From Eastern North Carolina, primarily an agricultural region, come constant reports of the ever-widening scope of electric power service and the new forms of enterprise that are made possible. From Western North Carolina comes the announcement that electric service is to be carried into every community and the mining industry in Western North Carolina is an infant just about to discard its swaddling.

A few days ago State Senator E. S. Aiken, hailing from the rich agricultural section of Eastern North Carolina—from Bertie County, to be exact—made this statement: "With the extension of power transmission lines, the wide range of its distribution is especially noticeable in the east which can go forward as a manufacturing section. It has more raw materials than any other part of the State. There are numerous opportunities for small plants to utilize agricultural products in many ways." One wonders sometimes just how many potential manufactured products now either go to waste or are sent out of the State as raw materials only to be shipped back as finished products.

It has been said that there are a host of more products of ordinary farm work and even the corn-stalks that might be manufactured in North Carolina just as easily and cheaply as in some Northern or mid-Western States. Think of the feed stuffs that could be ground and compounded for selling and milling Governor McLean has suggested dairying for Eastern North Carolina. The raising and manufacturing of baby food stands out as a possibility. A tremendous market could be made a tremendous industry.

And then there are the timbers of Eastern North Carolina. The articles of furniture from wood of the mountains, and the numerous articles of furniture and other products of the mountain region and the products of the mountain region and the products of the mountain region.

As a result of the great power plants presented each year with an abundance of raw materials and a tremendous market.

BABY CONTEST TO BE PUT ON IN FARMVILLE

Contest Will Be Put On Under the Direction of Missionary Society of M. E. Church; Contest Begins Saturday.

According to information which has just been released, Farmville is to stage one of the biggest and possibly the most interesting contest ever put on by an Eastern Carolina town.

This contest has been under consideration for some time and plans have at last been perfected by those who have had the matter in charge.

The contest in question is to be called a "Baby Contest," with all the babies up to four years of age as the contestants. Votes will be issued at one cent each, and the most popular baby in this city or community will receive a handsome prize. We failed to learn whether there will be more than one prize or not, but this will be announced later.

The contest will officially open on Saturday of this week and voting will take place immediately. Ballot boxes will be placed in both the drug stores, for the convenience of those desiring to vote.

There will be no charge for entering of babies and every parent is requested to enter their babies in contest. A list of whom will be given in our next issue, as well as posted at the polling places.

Canvassers will be on the ground with ballots for sale at one cent each and you are at liberty to purchase as many as you like for your favorite contestant.

SNAPPY SAYINGS OF OUR "BOY SCOUTS"

I wonder if anyone heard the results of our initiating three boys last Friday night. The neighbors asked how many were killed from the noise that was going on. The victims were Coy Monk, David Harris and Ernest Barrett; Stewart Shirley being absent.

All the boys are busy making bird houses now. We expect to have an exhibit sometime and offer them for sale.

Mr. Lath Morris drilled us Friday night after the initiation. We feel that if the boys stick to him, he will have us in the shape before time for going to camp.

Coy Monk, Ernest Barrett and David Harris are eating on the mantle and will be until their wounds, received from the initiation, heal.

Traveler: "Son, could you tell me how far it is to the railroad station?"
Scout: "Sure, it's ten minutes walk, if you run."

B. O. Turnage: "What would a man be if he married his father's mother's sister's daughter's daughter?"
Scoutmaster: "I don't know."
B. O. T.: "He would be her husband."

Scout: "What do you make shoes with?"
Scoutmaster: "Hide."
Scout: "Why should I hide?"
Scoutmaster: "Hide! Hide! The Cow's outside."

Scout: "Let the ol' cow come I ain't afraid!"

Harold H.: "Doctor, when should I take these pills?"
Scout Doctor: "One hour before you feel the pain coming on."

Scout: "So you are a salesman, are you? What do you sell?"
Salesman: "I sell salt. I sell a salt shaker."
Scout: "Shake."

Rhoderick H.: "Why is your hat like the distance from here to the candy store?"
Cecil W.: "I give up, why?"
Rhoderick H.: "Because it's over a block."

James Carr: "A man followed a rabbit, what would he be?"
Luther T.: "I don't know."
James Carr: "A Jew in the hat."

ANNUAL DINNER TO BE HELD ON TUESDAY APRIL 10

The Annual Dinner of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce which has been recently advertised for the 12th of April, has been changed to Tuesday, April 10th, in order to get U. S. Senator Walter F. George as speaker for that occasion. Senator George, as you know, is being prominently mentioned as a prospective presidential candidate in the coming election. In addition to this he is one of the most elegant and interesting speakers in the Senate today.

Remember the Eastern Carolina Exposition will be held in Goldsboro this year during the week 9th to 12th, inclusive, and the big annual dinner will be held on Tuesday, the 10th, instead of Thursday. For further information concerning the Exposition, see their big advertisement elsewhere in this issue.

Mrs. Shackelford Is Hostess Garden Club

Mrs. J. L. Shackelford was hostess to the Garden Club on Wednesday afternoon. The roll call was answered with tips to flower lovers. Communications were read and a discussion of Forest Fire Protection was led by the president, Miss Tabitha DeVisconti.

Several members reported trees planted on Arbor Day.

This club will cooperate with the Mayor and other organizations in a "Clean Up and Paint Up Campaign" adding to the slogan, "Plant Up; this to be done in observance of National Garden Week.

Periwinkle was selected as the town flower for the year and a contest will be requested to plant this in abundance.

An article on "Animals" was read by Mrs. E. S. Tandy. Mrs. E. A. Barrett also read a selection, "What The Tenant Can Do". Suggestions for April were read by Miss Bettie Joyce from the N. C. Garden Club book.

A splendid talk on "Bull Culture" was given by Mrs. J. I. Morgan, who had recently visited the Great Plain Section.

The last meeting will be held in the town of Snow Hill, N. C., at 2:30 Monday afternoon, April 23.

CLEAN UP AND PAINT UP CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED LOCALLY APRIL 10TH-13TH

MR. D. O. HOLSTON LAID TO REST IN LOCAL CEMETERY

Mr. David Oliver Holston, who died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. C. A. Pope in Durham Wednesday morning, was laid to rest in Forest Hill cemetery in this city Thursday afternoon. Funeral services were conducted at the home of his son, Mr. W. C. Holston, at 2:30 by Rev. J. M. Duncan, of the Baptist Church, and Dr. A. S. Yenabe, Presbyterian minister.

Mr. Holston was a native of Batesburg, South Carolina, Edgefield county, and had passed his 73rd birthday. He had been in feeble health for several months and his death, caused from heart failure, was not unexpected.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. C. A. Pope, of Durham; Mrs. W. C. Brooks, of Columbia, Ga.; three sons, Ed. Holston, of Weymouth, Penn.; W. C. and George Holston of this city.

The Enterprise joins the many friends of the Holston brothers here in extending sympathy.

To Clean Up and Paint Up will be first of all an investment in health and will result in added beauty and civic pride.

Clean Up, Paint Up, Fix Up!

The "City Beautiful" has become the American Ideal.

Promoters Urgently Re- quest All Citizens To Co-operate In Beauti- fying City.

A movement for community betterment, which will be gratefully received and energetically supported by all progressive citizens is a Clean Up and Paint Up campaign to be launched on April 10th and continued through the 13th.

At a meeting called by Mayor M. V. Horton on Wednesday morning, citizens representing the civic, social and commercial forces of the town decided to make this a campaign not a mere "Week." This intensive campaign will be of four days duration and will be entered into with the hope of inspiring the civic conscience and the purpose of forming a community habit that may be permanent and only need stimulation annually.

The Boy Scouts will officially launch the campaign on Monday afternoon with a parade and it will end with inspection by officers who will report names of citizens who have not cooperated.

A poster contest is now being engaged in by pupils of the primary and grammar grades and the high school has a first prize of $5 and a second prize of $2.50 offered in the two sections: Mrs. J. Y. Monk and Mrs. G. M. Holden were appointed a committee to place the posters. A committee headed by Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, will meet with the town commissioners on next Tuesday evening to ask for co-operation in further plans for permanent betterment of the community.

Why a Clean-Up and Paint-Up Campaign?

First—All classes of people learn to play and work together. Citizens are led into the ranks of the loyal and useful citizens—thus developing community spirit.

Second—Streets and alleys are repaired and cleaned.

Third—Fire losses are reduced by removing accumulations of waste and rubbish.

Fourth—Vacant grounds are improved by cleaning up and being converted into play-grounds or gardens.

Fifth—Shrubbery is trimmed, trees are planted, lawns are raked, back yards cleaned, homes are dedicated to continued cleanliness by the ministrations of painter and decorator, thus fixing conditions are improved.

Sixth—Breeding places for disease are rooted up and destroyed, mosquitoes, flies, rats, roaches and other pests are stamped out, thus making our city more healthful and actually saving lives.

Seventh—Cleanliness and beauty improve moral of workers.

Eighth—It advertises a city to be called clean and a rapid growth in newsmen will be noted.

Ninth—It creates a lively demand upon local dealers for everything needed in making homes clean, attractive and safe from fire, disease and the weather. It stabilizes, restores and increases the value of real estate and helps the bankers and the borrowers. It helps business.

SWAPS OR BLUEPRINTS

Seidon has a Department's bill for appropriations or authorizations been drafted so minutely as that of the Navy Department, calling for 71 warships to cost $24,000,000 which the House Naval Committee has cut to 15 ships to cost $24,000,000.

This reduction in the naval building program was largely through the efforts of the House Naval Committee, which pointed out the wastefulness of the proposed expenditure.

It was also likely that the ships would have been built by the Navy Department, which would have been a great advantage to the Navy.
