To Give Concert Thursday Evening Feb. 20th

On Thursday evening, February 20, at eight o'clock, Mr. Stallings, well-known violinist of Wilson, assisted by Elbert Helms, our own "Caruso," and the Farmville Choral Club, will give a concert under the auspices of the Farmville Woman's club. The proceeds of this concert are to go to the Boy Scouts and to the Woman's club for helping to establish a public library in Farmville. It is useless to mention the need of such an institution in our midst, for the need is self-evident. The Boy Scout organization is a worthy cause and we want to help the boys meet their obligations. Let everyone be sure to come to Perkins Hall, Thursday evening, Feb. 20, at 8 o'clock. Admission 25c and 35c.

PRE-SCHOOL ROUND-UP

Now is the time for all organizations, including health departments, nurses associations, medical societies, parent-teacher associations and any other organizations interested in the health of the children who are to enter school for the first time next fall to perfect their plans and carry them through at once if the pre-school round-up this year is to be successful.

Last year the State Board of Health through its departments of health education, maternity and infancy, and the school inspection cooperated in thirty-five counties. Nurses from the department of maternity and infancy and the school inspection division of the state board were loaned to the county organizations for the purpose of organizing and carrying through successfully these pre-school clinics as they were called, for 1929.

The health officers of several counties in which whole-time health departments are active, headed the organization work and examined large numbers of school children through the auspices of the parent-teacher association. This work was notably in Wake County and a number of other counties.

The nurses from the bureau of maternity and infancy of the state board of health brought about the examination of more than seven thousand children in the clinics which they conducted on a county-wide scale. The director of that bureau reported last year that more than sixty per cent of the defects discovered in the pre-school clinics had been corrected before time for the children to enter school in the fall.

It is hoped that the clinics as conducted last year will be repeated better organized, and carried out more successfully, if possible, this year in every county where it was undertaken last year. It is easily possible to have these efforts made in every one of the hundred counties in North Carolina in order to give every child between five and six years who may have been suffering from any serious physical handicap an opportunity to have such a handicap removed before the opening of schools this fall.

For the information of any parent-teacher association or other interested agency, we take pleasure in announcing that all available assistance possible will be furnished again by the State Board of Health.

U. D. C. MEETS

The Rebecca Windbourne chapter, U. D. C. was delightfully entertained this week by Mrs. A. W. Hobbitt at her apartment on Church street. Springiness, quince and Breath of Spring added attractiveness to the living room.

Mrs. A. E. Walters, chaplain, had charge of devotions which preceded the program on John S. Mosby. Mrs. J. W. Harrell had a very interesting paper on the life and career of Mosby. A delicious marshmallow salad course was served the pleasant meal and following guests: Mesdames R. O. Lang, C. R. Townsend, W. H. Nance and Copeland.

Many a Hollywood star found out that she could not talk.

EXPLOSION KILLS FAMILY

RETURNED HIS WIFE'S LEAD

Gracious, said the doctor, how did you get all these bruises on your shins. Are you a football player? O, no, I have been playing bridge with my wife.

No matter how important you think you are, there are many people who think less of you.

BEAUTIFY YOUR YARD

Every year, about this time, there is a resurgence of the idea that our town ought to be more beautiful.

There is discussion, elaboration and sometimes, committees, with an occasional spurge of accomplishment.

This paper would do nothing to interfere with other plans, except to call every reader's attention to the obvious fact that the beautifying of our town is a question of beautifying individual plots. Every freholder can do much to make his or her premises more attractive, and, without waiting upon committees, let's get busy, as individuals, and proceed to do so.

THE EVER CHANGING FRONT IN BATTLE AGAINST DISEASE

It is a fact that many of the diseases which presented serious problems to the physicians of a few score years ago, or even twenty-five years ago, are today no longer important. On the other hand, other diseases were unknown or certainly unnamed and unrecognized even twenty-five years ago in this state at least, are today looming up as important problems.

If for no other reason, the foregoing is sufficient to require of every health officer or health employee, state or local, experience, technical training and efficiency as the prime requirement for employment. To mention only two diseases at present that may hold serious menace to this state and which were not problems 25 years ago, we may cite typhoid and malaria. It is true that undulant fever has been known as Malta or Mediterranean fever for a long time, but for many years it was regarded largely as a disease of the tropical countries, and not one about which people in the temperate zones or northern latitudes should bother about. Today this disease is regarded by many thinking physicians about over the world as a disease that may become as important as typhoid a generation ago. In some respects the disease is worse than typhoid, in that it is so debilitating. The chronicity of the attacks, lasting frequently as long as five or six years, with intermissions, of course, puts in the class with some types of malaria. It is debilitating, painful and even if the patient lives through it and entirely recovers, the loss in health and strength as well as the economic loss is of great importance. It is not known at present whether the pasteurization of milk prevents the disease. It is thought that it does, but it is by no means agreed upon by people who are in the best position to know. It is not even known definitely in just how many ways the disease may be transmitted to humans. The general opinion is that it comes from milk which is from infested cows, or from pork in which the hogs were infected. There may be other ways. The disease was regarded as a disease of goats, and as being transmitted through goat's milk when it was first discovered. It is none too soon for the health officers of this state to begin informing the people so that they may be thinking in terms of preventing the disease.

In the case of typhoid, or rabbit disease, it was unknown in humans in this country until 1919, when it was recognized by doctors in the U. S. public health service and had isolated the organism which causes this disease as early as 1911, but no recognized cases were transmitted to humans in this country until 1919. There were only fifteen cases reported up to 1924. The New York City health bulletin, however, is authority for the statement that during the last four years over 300 cases have been recognized in nearly every part of the United States. The disease is said to be prevalent in Russia and Japan. There are many other diseases today which are causing serious concern to physicians and health officers, but the two foregoing are sufficient to illustrate the subject.

Quality and Price

To grow tobacco of good quality, the plant must be fed properly. The plant foods must be balanced to provide a constant ration during the growing period and then mature it on time.

MORRIS Tobacco Fertilizers are prepared especially for Tobacco. Only those materials that are known for their value in growing good tobacco are used. They are compounded under the strictest scientific direction and control. The formulas are the result of years of tests in the laboratory and in the field.

That MORRIS Tobacco Fertilizers give satisfaction is proven by the many growers who demand them year after year. They know that good Tobacco Fertilizer pays in quality and price on the warehouse floor.

We can supply MORRIS Fertilizers for your Tobacco and other spring crops. Come to see us.

Say—But Those Figures Look Good

Like many other salaried men, his income was limited. At first it 'pinched' him a bit to deposit five dollars in this Bank every pay day. But soon he realized how easy it was to get along without the 'five'. Putting it away became a habit with him. And then came "Interest Day" 4 p. c. added to the figures in his Pass Book. Gosh! but that total looked good! No wonder he smiled.

That young man is going to amount to something some day. And so will every person who goes in for systematic Saving.
