APPLE TIME

We don't know who invented apple pie, but whoever it was ought to have a monument. If there wasn't anything else to do with apples but make pies of them it would still be worth while to keep up the orchards. But when you come to think of it, there isn't any other fruit that grows that has so many uses, which can be served in such a variety of ways, all of them good.

Apple sauce is good eating just as it comes from the kettle, or with rich, thick cream poured over it, or as a side dish with a nice, tender slice of roast pork. Baked apples are best; we think, when every bit of the core has been carefully taken out and the hole filled up with brown sugar and cinnamon before they are put into the oven. There are some folks who take the skin off the apple before baking it, but to our notion that takes away a lot of the flavor. Then there is apple butter, which reaches its complete perfection when spread on hot biscuits at breakfast, to say nothing of apple dumplings, fried apples, they're fine with sausage, the good old fashioned dish that used to be called apple slump, and a dozen other wonderful varieties of food, all obtained from the apple, not forgetting the "aepelkuchen" of our German friends.

And cider. There's nothing in the prohibition law that says that cider mustn't get "hard." An old Yankee trick used to be to set a keg of hard cider out where it would freeze, then bore a hole through the ice to tap the concentrated apple flavored alcohol in the middle. We never tried that, nor have we made any extensive experiments in distilling cider into applejack, though some of our convivial friends speak highly of its potency. We are content to take our cider as it comes from the jug, though we know old folk who prefer milled cider, which is achieved by heating a poker red hot and plunging it into the individual mug or tankard.

We don't hear so much these days of dried apples. Canning has taken the place of drying, largely. Yet dried apples had their points. We never could quite agree with the poet who penned the immortal lines that ran:

"I hate, abhor, detest, despise
Abominate dried apple pies.
Tread on my toes and tell me lies,
But don't give me dried apple pies."

Even dried apple pies are better than no apple pies at all, just as any kind of apple pie is better than most any other kind of pie.

THE OUTLOOK

We notice that the President's Emergency Committee on Employment is telling people over the radio to keep all the young people in school this coming winter instead of letting them go to work and take jobs which might otherwise go to men and women who have family responsibilities. We think that is sound advice, unless the head of the family is out of a job and the boy or girl can get one where the old man can't.

Governor Huey Long of Louisiana, has got his law passed making it illegal to grow cotton in that state next year if three-quarters of the other cotton states will do the same. That ought to help, if somebody will show how the cotton growers who depend upon that crop for their sole cash income are going to get along during the cotton vacation.

The Farm Board, which has more wheat on hand than it knows what to do with, is asking the Shipping Board, which has more ships on hand than it can use, to lend some of those ships to take wheat to China, where the people are starving but will be able to pay for the wheat in time, if the wheat gets to them in time to save their lives. That sounds like good sense to us, especially if the wheat is packed in cotton sacks, which will help the cotton growers some.

Governor Roosevelt, of New York, has got his legislature to agree to appropriating twenty million dollars to aid the unemployed. The money will be raised by increasing the state income tax fifty per cent. This is one good way to help. Another is to increase the inheritance taxes on dead man's estates.

Henry Ford is putting 50,000 men back at work at once and says he will be running to full capacity in a few weeks. The New England textile mills are increasing their output and hiring more help. The automobile tire business is picking up strongly. Electric refrigerators are selling well. People are beginning to buy new clothes everywhere. We've noticed a lot of house painting and building repairs going on, and so many roads being improved that you have to ride the detours to go anywhere, almost. There's no doubt that we'll all be called on to help the "unlucky ones" this coming winter, but we seem to notice that as fast as they do get jobs they fasten themselves to them. We would guess that more people are doing real honest work for their money now than any time since the war, and that's the most encouraging sign for the future that we've seen yet.

THE COUNTRY FAITH
(By Norman Gale)

Here in the country's heart,
Where the grass is green,
Life is the same sweet life
Asit'er hath been.

Trust in God still lives,
And the bell at morn
Floats with a thought of God
O'er the rising corn.

JOINT HOSTESSES

One of the most delightful affairs of the season was the bridge luncheon on Tuesday of this week, when Mrs. George Holston and Mrs. Lath Morris were joint hostesses at the home of the latter to their card club and additional guests, making nine tables in play. The color scheme of yellow and green was used in cut flowers and appointments.

A barbecue luncheon was served at 1 o'clock, after which bridge was played. The club member's award, two lovely vases, was won by Mrs. C. T. Dixon, and the guest prize, an attractive flower holder, was presented to Mrs. Madeline Rountree.

Out of town guests included: Mrs. Eugene Clayton, Roxboro; Mrs. Stanley R. Lee, South Boston, Va.; Mrs. Frank Capps, Raleigh, and Mrs. G. A. Roebuck, Robersonville.

LOST, STRAYED OR STOLEN—White and brown spotted pointer dog, answers to name of "Sport"; right front leg has been broken. Five dollar reward for return to R. L. Smith.

This is the time of the year that hay-fever victims wonder why the world has to have hay.

TOBACCO PRICE REPORT
TYPE 12

The following table shows the average prices paid to growers on the Farmville, Smithfield, Williamston and Washington tobacco markets for September 16, 1931. No prices are shown for grades of which less than 20 lots were graded and sold. For the purpose of comparison average prices per grade are given for last week and for the 1930 marketing season.

| X4F | 6.50 | 3.20 | 7.00 |

Sales at Farmville moderate quantity. Offerings mostly priming lugs and tips. Cutters and good leaf are scarce. Good leaf and cutters sold up to $23.00, but were not in sufficient quantity to quote average prices. Washington reported small sales. Offerings about thirty per cent priming lugs, remainder mostly leaf of poor quality. Prices firm for better grades. Smithfield reported light deliveries. Quality poorer than yesterday. Prices firm for good grades but lower for inferior grades. Williamston reports light sales. Offerings mostly lugs and tips with fair percentage of cutters and leaf. Prices very erratic particularly on lug grades.
