Growers Benefit From the AAA Reduction Program

Cotton and tobacco growers in North Carolina have received close to $8,500,000 from the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for reducing their crops this year.

Up to August 1, a total of 62,160 checks for $1,827,084.15 had been mailed to cotton growers as rental payments, according to Dean I. O. Schaub, of State College.

Growers who took options on government cotton had received around $1,500,000 by the end of July, bringing the total payments to cotton growers up to $3,300,000.

The latest tabulation on tobacco showed that rental and benefit payments to growers of Burley and of fire-cured tobacco in North Carolina aggregated $5,056,061.45, the dean said.

North Carolina's tobacco payments were larger than those of any other State and amounted to almost half of the $11,092,424.45 which has been paid to growers throughout the tobacco growing area of the South.

The cotton rental payments now being made are part of the first installments of $50,000,000 to growers who reduced their acreage. Another $50,000,000 will be paid after compliance with the adjustment contracts has been properly certified. The compliance work is well under way, Schaub said.

Payments to corn and hog growers who signed reduction contracts will start in the near future. The contracts have not all passed final approval. The corn-hog campaign was not pushed vigorously in North Carolina, the dean explained, since there is no hog surplus within the State.

Endorse State And Government Program

Resolutions adopted at Farm and Home week at State College this year included hearty endorsement of government crop control and of the State program for rural electrification.

Both of these measures were seen as vital to advancement in the immediate future. Recommendation of higher teachers' salaries and improved school facilities for the children looked further ahead in the development of men and women of tomorrow.

A "fairer system of taxation," with provisions that up to $1,000 be exempted from tax on the value of homesteads, higher tax rates on big incomes and inheritances, and stricter regulation of bond issues and debt-making the public officers were approved as set forth in the proposed new State constitution.

Farmers of the State were urged to adopt soil and forestry conservation practices and to cooperate with the College Extension Service in developing permanent and effective farm organizations.

Acreage control does not decrease the need for cooperation marketing and buying, the farmers pointed out in support given the farmers' cooperative movement by President Frank Graham of the University of North Carolina and by the State College Extension Service.

The farmers stood solidly behind the State department of agriculture in the insistence that all relief cattle coming into this State must first pass the tests for health certificates.

Club Women Stage Home Garden Contest

A fall and winter garden contest, with cash prizes to the winners, will be conducted this season by the State College Extension Service to stimulate more interest in farm home gardens.

Any farm home garden in North Carolina will be eligible to compete for a prize. The enrollment of contestants, to be made by the garden leaders of local home demonstration clubs, should be completed by October 1, as no entries will be accepted after that time.

Women wishing to enter the contest must begin their planting in August, said Miss Ruth Current, district home demonstration agent at State College. The contest will start October 1 and continue until next March 31.

In each county the contest will be under the sponsorship of the county council of home demonstration clubs and the garden leader of each local club. The gardens will be graded on their efficiency, as indicated by monthly records, and on a short article written by the contestants regarding the gardens. Pictures may be included with the stories. The efficiency will count 75 percent and the article 25 percent in scoring points.

The highest score in the State will merit a $20 prize, with $12.50 and $7.50 for second and third prizes, respectively. In each county, the first prize will be $5 and the second prize $2.50.

Prizes of $20, $12.50, $7.50 and $5, will go to the county councils with the largest number of members completing the contest.

New Publications Free To Farm Folks

A number of timely bulletins for free distribution among citizens of North Carolina has just been published by the State College Extension Service and the N. C. Experiment Station.

They may be obtained by writing to the agricultural editor at State College, Raleigh.

Technical bulletin No. 46, "Contaminated Soil and Cultural Practices as Related to Occurrence and Spread of Tobacco Mosaic," was prepared by S. G. Lehman, plant pathologist at the experiment station, to show the dangers of mosaic and suggest methods of control.

Technical Bulletin No. 47, "Some Potential Changes Induced by Lining Suspensions of a Peat Soil," was written by L. G. Willis, soil chemist at the experiment station.

"The Home Culture of Roses," extension circular No. 200, by Glenn O. Tuckert at State College, gives details for growing roses under different conditions. This most popular of flowers can be grown almost anywhere with a little care, he said.

To help the housewife in the management of her home, Miss Helen Estabrook, home management specialist, has prepared miscellaneous pamphlets No. 15, "Care of Floors and Woodwork," and No. 16, "Refinishing Furniture."

Miss Mary Thomas, specialist in foods and nutrition, has prepared two pamphlets on lunches for school children. The first, miscellaneous pamphlet No. 17, "The School Lunch," gives suggestions for lunches to be carried to school. Miscellaneous pamphlet No. 18, "The Hot Lunch at School," deals with lunches served hot at the school.

Dean I. O. Schaub's "Annual Report of Agricultural Extension Service work in North Carolina" gives the history of extension service work during the past year and outlines the inauguration of crop control programs in North Carolina under the AAA.

TO MY WIFE ON THE OCCASION OF HER SIXTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY

Wife, you are today my welcome guest, And I wish to extend to you my very best That lingers within my power to give To you, while on this earth you may live.

While the years gone by with you and I Should always be cherished, without one regret or sigh, Today and tomorrow only are our to share The blessings or sorrows, we must in life's thoroughfare.

Wherever we wander, wherever we go, Always lets remember there is something to bestow. The first should be friendship, linked into love, The second is truth we promised before Him above.

Within the hands of Fate, that opens the gates, Are many keys that unlock some wedded mates. Their vows once made, when they were united Turned into hopes, only to be forever lighted.

Well, now for both you and I, lets forever pray, As we journey onward through Life's milky way, That no billows of discord or strife appear To molest our wedded years, while dwelling here.

Roanoke Island And Manteo In The Limelight This Week

Manteo, Roanoke Island, N. C.—Roanoke Island and nearby Manteo are buzzing with the arrival of visitors for this week's celebration on the Island of its great historical events, the attempted settlements, more than three centuries ago, of this country by the English. This year marks several important anniversaries of those early colonists—the 350th of the arrival of the first expedition; the 347th of the birth of Virginia Dare; and the first time the celebration has been held in the restored Fort Raleigh.

Governor George C. Perry, of Virginia, and Governor J. C. B. Ehringhaus, of North Carolina, will head a list of distinguished visitors who will be guests of honor on August 18, which is the birthday of Virginia Dare. Both governors will speak at the morning exercises at Fort Raleigh, restored this year with Emergency Relief Funds, as a living monument to the men and women of the first colonies.

Congressman Lindsay Warren will preside at the Saturday morning exercises, which will be followed by a picnic lunch, served by the Home Demonstration club women at Colonists' Inn, at the entrance to the Fort. In the afternoon the Naval Band from the Naval Operating Base at Norfolk will give a concert, and at 7:30 on the evenings of Friday, Saturday and Sunday the historical Pageant of Roanoke will be given on the beach at Fort Raleigh, in a specially constructed amphitheatre which will be a permanent part of the Fort.

On Friday, the American Legion will sponsor boat races on Manteo Bay. The Bay will be patrolled during the week's festivities by the U. S. C. G. Cutter Pamlico, one 75 footer, and an Emergency boat, from the C. G. Station at Norfolk.

On Sunday morning, the little Episcopal Chapel at the Fort, built this year to commemorate the religious life of the colonies, will be dedicated by the Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Darst, of Wilmington, Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Eastern Carolina.

A few tobacco growers in the State whose crops were larger than allotted by contracts have destroyed their excess, but for the most part the plantings have run pretty close to the allotments, according to the reports the county agents.

LEAVE FOR NEW BERN

Friends here will regret to learn that Mr. and Mrs. John D. Holmes left this week to reside in New Bern, where Mr. Holmes has recently accepted a responsible position with an established insurance company.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes have been quite active in the religious, civic and social circles of Farmville and will be greatly missed in the community. Friends will join The Enterprise in extending them best wishes for their prosperity and happiness in their new home.

Hail and wind damage to crops in Moore county recently amounted to 75 percent in some sections. Tobacco growers are now expecting a yield of only 600 pounds to the acre instead of the usual 1,000 pounds. Corn was also damaged by the hail and wind.

FAREWELL PARTY

Members of the various organizations of the Baptist Church entertained at a farewell party on Wednesday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Wheelless, in compliment to Mr. and Mrs. John D. Holmes who are leaving this week to make their home in New Bern. The affair was held on the lawn with colored lights lending it an atmosphere of gaiety and festivity.

During the hour of 7:30-8:30 members of the Baptist Young People's Union called and presented the honorees with a lovely silver tray. Mrs. Holmes has been director of the intermediate division of the Union for several years.

As the young people departed members of the Fidelis and Barnea classes and the Woman's Missionary Union arrived, and a program of entertainment was enjoyed including contests and readings by Miss Irma Callahan. The evening was brought to a close by remarks of appreciation from Rev. L. R. Emiss and George W. Davis, relating to the keen interest manifested by Mr. and Mrs. Holmes and active participation in the program of the local church, with signal service rendered by both of them in the choir and young people's work. A hower of useful gifts was presented to the honor guests together with further expressions of good wishes for them in their future home.

Iced watermelon was passed into the evening.

REPORTS FROM THE FARMVILLE PLAYGROUND

The enrollment of the playground for the past week was 140, with the average attendance 71. Two plays, "The Teeny-Weenies Have A Picnic," and "Mary Lu's Imaginary Sister," were given Friday and enjoyed by every one who came. The smaller children, from 4 to 6 years of age, are very pleased with the sandpits. The older girls take turns staying with them. The boys are training for the races that are to take place in Greenville at the close of the playground, while the girls are practicing dances.—Lillian White Gardner.

I have a good time every day at play school. I like the stories Mrs. Smith tells us and the dances Miss Case teaches us.—Bobbie Smith.

I like to go to the play school. I like the story Mrs. Smith tells us.—Miriam Gates.

I like to go to the playground school. We enjoy playing together.—Jean Beckman.

Several pictures were taken on Thursday at the swimming pool of the Farmville playground members. The group was snapped in a very joyful mood. The pictures were taken at various angles thus getting a full view of the pool.

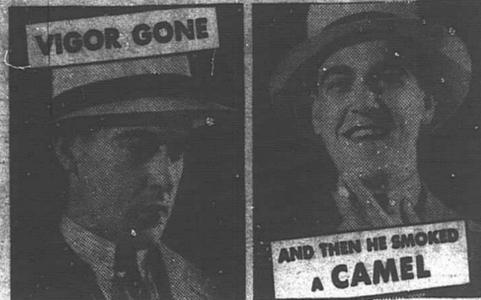

Editor G. A. Rouse was the photographer. Mrs. J. L. Shackelford arranged the children in the different poses. They took advantage of the weekly free swimming hour to get these pictures that will later be seen in the News and Observer and "The Spotlight."—Frances Bivens Smith.

I like the stories Mrs. Smith tells us and I like the playground.—Frank Baucom.

Lady Went Back To Taking CARDUI and Was Helped

For severe periodic pains, cramps or nervousness, try Cardui which so many women have praised, for over fifty years. Mrs. Doris Dungan, of Science Hill, Ky., writes: "Several years ago, when I was teaching school, I got run-down and suffered intensely during menstruation periods. I took Cardui and was all right again. After I was married, when I felt all run-down and was irregular, I always resorted to Cardui and was helped. ... It may be just what you need. Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician. Sold in 5¢ bottles."

the answer is CHEVROLET'S KNEE-ACTION RIDE Doubles the pleasure of motoring

Chevrolet prices have been reduced as much as $50

The best way to prove that Chevrolet's Knee-Action actually makes motoring twice as pleasant as before is to drive the new Chevrolet over all kinds of roads. You will find that the continuous jare you used to get even on smooth pavements are ended. The steering wheel is free of vibration. Back seat passengers are comfortable and relaxed. You can maintain higher speeds over rough roads that used to slow you down. You will find, in fact, that probably for the first time in your experience, every foot of every mile is equally enjoyable. Perhaps that explains why so many people are buying and recommending this extremely low-priced car. CHEVROLET MOTOR COMPANY, DETROIT, MICH.
