Industrialist Head
Group Seeking To End Strike

S. Clay Williams and
Other Prominent Business
Men Turn Their
Attention to the Strike
Problems; All Are Members of Advisory Body Chosen by Roper

Washington, September 13—Negotiations for a settlement of the textile strike took a new turn here today when a group of prominent industrialists, headed by S. Clay Williams, former president of the R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Co., turned their attention to the problem.

Mr. Williams, a former chairman of the Industrial Advisory Board of the NRA, and formerly vice-chairman of the National Labor Board, is now chairman of the Business Advisory and Planning Council appointed by Secretary of Commerce Daniel C. Roper.

Direct to President
A group of this council met here today and considered the question at great length. Secretary Roper stated that the report of this group would be transmitted by him directly to the President, rather than to the President's mediation board, which is headed by Governor John G. Winant, of New Hampshire. Secretary Roper conferred with the group, which was in session all day and tonight, and which included, among others, Edward Stettinius, chairman of the finance committee of the United States Steel Corporation, and Harry P. Kendall, of Boston. Mr. Kendall owns a large number of textile mills in both the North and South and was one of the manufacturers conferring yesterday with the Winant board.

In the meantime, the Winant board continued its deliberations, conferring today with both silk manufacturers, who have given their chairman, Peter Van Horn, authority to act for them, and with Francis J. Gorman, strike chairman of the United Textile workers, and other strike leaders.

Early Report
There is still much more hope of reaching a voluntary settlement in the silk and wool industries than in the cotton industry, but regardless of what is or is not done about those industries, it is expected here that the Winant board will make an early report.

The next anticipated move is for President Roosevelt to call both sides to Hyde Park. It is also anticipated that the report of the board headed by Mr. Williams will be in the President's hands before those conferences begin.

Wants Troops
Mr. Gorman today welcomed the action of Governor Green in seeking to send the federal troops into Rhode Island and again declared that they should also be sent into the two Carolinas.

"They ought to send federal troops into North Carolina and South Carolina to wipe out the strike-breaking National guards, sheriffs and thugs," declared Gorman.

"Keep your eyes on the South next Monday," counselled Mr. Gorman, who expects a number of other mills to close next week.

Gorman expressed great confidence in Governor Green. Gorman is a resident of Rhode Island and was appointed commissioner of labor in that state by Governor Green, who is a Democrat. However, the State Senate, which is controlled by the Republicans, refused to confirm the appointment and Gorman did not serve. Gorman today denied that the union was responsible for violence in Rhode Island and called upon all his followers to observe peaceful methods.

All adjustments on corn-hog contracts in Camden county have been completed, says County Agent T. McL. Carr.

Very few cotton farmers in Nash county planted more than their allotted acres, says C. S. Mize, assistant agent. "Good tobacco prices have put the growers in fine spirits."

New AAA Rulings Aid Cotton Farmers

The bureau of internal revenue has given ginners permission to gin and tore cotton without bale tags in order to accommodate growers whose tax exemption certificates have been delayed.

Later, when the certificates arrive, they can be presented to the ginners, who will then attach the bale tags, said Charles A. Sheffield, of State College, who has charge of the cotton program in North Carolina.

Sheffield warned, however, that under no conditions may the cotton be moved, opened, or sold before the tags have been attached as required by the Bankhead Act.

The tags show whether the cotton is within the tax exempt allotment of the grower or whether it is in excess of the allotment and, therefore, subject to the Bankhead tax of 50 percent of its market value.

Tags cannot be attached until exemption certificates have been presented to show the cotton is within the grower's allotment or else the tax has been paid.

Since some growers will produce more than their allotments, while others produce less, arrangements have been made for the low producers to sell their surplus certificates to growers who have excess cotton.

By selling the certificates for less than the amount of the tax, the under producers will be able to realize a reasonable sum on the cotton they failed to grow and the over producer will be able to save part of the money they would otherwise have to pay in tax on their excess cotton.

Practically all applications for allotments under the Bankhead act have been filed and the state allotment board is now working three shifts of men and women a day to speed the task of checking applications and contracts and apportioning the amount of cotton each grower may sell tax free. The tax exemption certificates will be issued as fast as the allotments are completed.

OPENING SERVICE SUNDAY
NEW METHODIST CHURCH

Rev. H. L. Hendricks, pastor of the new Methodist Church, at Walstonburg, announces opening services on Sunday morning, September 15, with Sunday School at 10 o'clock, and the initial sermon, beginning a series of meetings to be held throughout the week at 7:30 o'clock, to be preached at the morning service Sunday morning at 11 o'clock by Rev. G. S. Eubanks, of Durham, student of Duke University. Services will also be held at 7:30 Sunday evening. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Cotton Administrative Ruling

Modification of Restrictions Because of Drought

The 1934 and 1935 Cotton Reduction Contract is hereby modified for 1934 to permit:

(1) Planting, pasturing, had harvesting for unrestricted use as livestock feed and/or sale for livestock feed, or pasture, hay, and roughage crops, on any land covered by any such contract, including the rented or contracted acres.

(2) Harvesting on rented acres of the seed of soybeans, cow peas, forage sorghums, millet and Sudan grass, and meadow and pasture crops such as alfalfa, lespedeza, sweetclover and clovers, and grasses such as orchard grass, Dallis grass, rescue grass, carpet grass and similar grasses and legumes for use or sale as seed.

(3) When compliance with such contracts is checked, contract signers may be required to designate any acreage of such crops planted or harvested under this ruling.

All applications for allotments under the Bankhead act have been filed and the State allotment board is now working on allotments to individual growers. Tax exemption certificates will be sent out as fast as the allotments are completed.

Abundant rainfall has caused the tallest growth of lespedeza in Catawba county in recent years. Farmers are cutting large quantities of it for hay.

"HERE'S HOW WE GROW RUBBER"
• FIRESTONE TELLS DAWES

Pointing to one of the rubber trees which has been transported from his famous Liberian plantations, Harvey S. Firestone, pioneer rubber manufacturer, explains the process of gathering rubber to Rufus G. Dawes, president of the World's Fair.

Traded with the romance and mystery of the Dark Continent, the reproduction of the Firestone plantations in Liberia is one of the most interesting features of the enlarged Firestone Factory and Exhibition Building at the 1934 World's Fair. Life-like native figures depict the steps in gathering rubber in a setting of jungle life, the isolation disturbed only by wild bird calls and native chants.

When Mr. Firestone established the Liberian plantations in 1926, the existing restrictions on rubber had cost American motorists millions of dollars. Today, when foreign restriction is forcing the prices of rubber up, Mr. Firestone has a large and thriving rubber plantation in a country entirely free from foreign domination. He told Mr. Dawes that already he has seven million trees under cultivation and that tapping operations have been started on the earlier planted sections.

The huge plantations development is typical of the vision and foresight of Mr. Firestone who has built his business success upon far-sighted anticipation of the future.
