

of Farmville During the Current Year!

Club, with the following officers serving at present: Mrs. J. W. Lovelace, president, Mrs. Wesley R. Willis, vice pres., Mrs. R. A. Fields, sec'y., Mrs. G. M. Holden, treas.

An interesting and educational program was developed by papers and talks, dealing with the lives of the great men of the Confederacy, which revealed careful thought and study. Mrs. J. M. Hobgood, former president of the State Federation, who is a member of this group, talked of her Western trip, brought echoes of the State Federation meeting in Asheville; her son, "Bill" addressed the club on Red Cross Life Saving; Mrs. A. C. Monk told of her travels in Europe, Mrs. J. W. Parker of her visit to the World's Fair, and Lieut. D. A. Lovelace, of the Air Service, U. S. N., told of a recent cruise through the Panama Canal.

This club contributed to several civic causes and the delightful social features brought about a better acquaintance and deeper friendship among the members and guests during the year. Work will be begun again in September.

Contract Club

The Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club was organized in the year of 1921 at the home of Mrs. Ella Pender Lang, with a membership of eight; Mrs. Lang, Miss Annie Laurie Lang, Mrs. Frank Capps, Mrs. J. B. Newton, Mrs. W. H. Turnage, Mrs. J. Lloyd Horton, Mrs. G. A. Jones and Mrs. Ed Morrow.

In 1931 the club changed its name to that of the Contract Club, as contract became very popular at that time. The club held a tournament this year, the final game of the series coming to a close at the meeting held in the home of Mrs. I. E. Satterfield, with Mrs. Wesley R. Willis declared as winner and the recipient of social honors by the other members.

The Club has a present membership of sixteen, namely: Mrs. Sallie K. Horton, president, Mrs. J. W. Joyner, vice pres., Mrs. Claude L. Barrett, Mrs. C. T. Dixon, Mrs. M. V. Horton, Mrs. Arthur F. Joyner, Mrs. Lath Morris, Mrs. Wesley R. Willis, Mrs. I. E. Satterfield, Mrs. G. S. Vought, Mrs. W. Leslie Smith, Mrs. Z. M. Whitehurst, Mrs. Robert Lindsay, Mrs. J. Branch Bobbitt, Mrs. W. S. Royster, and Mrs. Neal Howard.

Woman's Club

The Woman's Club of Farmville, with a membership of fifty, is prominently identified in the most progressive movements of the community. With an eye always open to the needs of the town, and a willing hand always ready to work, much good has been accomplished during the past year.

In addition to meeting obligations at the proper time the club has helped place used linens in the nursery school, conducted by the CWA; paid $50 on the municipal swimming pool and put new curtains and shelves in City Library, which was started and is being sponsored by this organization.

The library, opened on two days each week by a very efficient paid librarian, Miss Tabitha DeVisconti, is growing rapidly under the Club's slogan, "A Bigger and Better Library." A book tea held prior to closing activities of the year, brought a large number of interested people together for a social hour and resulted in more than a hundred additions to the shelves. Another enjoyable social event, given by the club, was the Christmas party honoring the faculty of the high school.

The officers of this wide awake club are: Mrs. A. Q. Roebuck, pres., Mrs. D. R. Morgan, 1st vice pres., Miss Annie Perkins, 2nd vice pres., Miss Bettie Joyner, sec'y., and Mrs. Manly Liles, treasurer.

Literary-Art Department

The Literary-Art department of the Woman's Club had a very interesting year under the leadership of Mrs. George W. Davis. A study of "Other People's Lives," was made during the year, with each of the splendid programs of papers and talks being made more delightful by vocal or instrumental music.

This department furnished bowls and spoons for the soup kitchen maintained for under-nourished children in the school, contributed twenty-five books to the City Library and cooperated one hundred per cent with other departments of the Woman's Club in various successful projects. Mrs. Henrietta M. Williamson is the new chairman for the incoming year of instructive study.
