

Outstanding Achievements of Farmville Organizations During the Current Year!

Music Department

The members of the Music Department of the Woman's Club enjoyed a series of miscellaneous programs during the club year. The members familiarized themselves with different kinds of music, peculiar to various localities and the period of popularity.

A programme of Southern folk music sung by the local male quartette was especially enjoyed, also the Christmas programme of incomparable Christmas carols most beautifully sung by a chorus made up of the club members, and several vocal solos by Mrs. J. W. Joyner. In a setting of the season's cheery decorations this meeting, at the home of Mrs. Haywood Smith, was one long to be remembered.

The history and origin of the carols was read in a most interesting paper by Mrs. J. L. Shackelford.

The department officers for the new year are; Miss Mary K. Jerome, chairman; Miss Emma Dale, secretary.

The social feature of the meetings has at all times been a pleasure and benefit, bringing together as it has most of the real music lovers of the town.

Garden Club

The Garden Club, a live department of the Woman's Club, has as its chairman, Mrs. T. E. Joyner, and secretary, Mrs. Charles Mazingo. The membership during the past year has trebled, with an average attendance of twenty.

A study of planting in this particular locality has been made at the monthly meetings during the year, together with a variety of helpful and interesting contests, plants, seeds, bulbs and shrubbery being offered as awards. Scrap books were kept by the individual members and a plant exchange was held in the early spring.

This club does not adjourn during the summer months as the majority of the women's organizations do, but continue to meet, often in the gardens of the members.

The project for the coming year will be the beautification of the grounds about the Municipal Pool.

Junior Woman's Club

The Junior Woman's Club of Farmville has 28 members with the following officers: president, Miss Elizabeth Davis, first vice president, Mrs. Ted Albritton, second vice president, Miss Evelyn Horton, secretary, Mrs. Will Pollard, Jr., treasurer, Mrs. Worth Stewart.

Meetings are held on the first and third Saturdays at 3:30 during the months from September to June.

During the past year with Miss Lucy Johnston as its head, the club sponsored a charity ball, served the Governor and other notables at a dinner at which the warehousemen were hosts, preceding Golden Weed Celebration, sponsored a home talent show, organized and sponsored a Girl's Scout troop, sold Tuberculosis Seals, gave toys and confectionaries at Christmas to 25 under-privileged children, and contributed $50 for the completion of the municipal swimming pool.

The club studied places of interest in several foreign countries last year. This year the program will be divided in two parts; the first half of the program will be a four-way discussion of current events — local (state, city, etc. with especial attention to legislation), national, international, and advancements in science the world over. The second half of the program will be devoted to a study of American Poets.

Progressive Bridge Club

One of the oldest social organizations of Farmville, the Progressive Bridge Club of sixteen members, meets twice a month with great interest being manifested in the annual tournament series, which run throughout the late autumn and winter, culminating in a spring social event, at which the winner is honor guest, and is made president of the club for the incoming year.

Concluding the series of 1934 was the lovely party, given in compliment to Mrs. R. O. Lang, in early June, at the home of Mrs. P. E. Jones, which was thrown ensuite and made attractive with flowers in harmonizing shades.

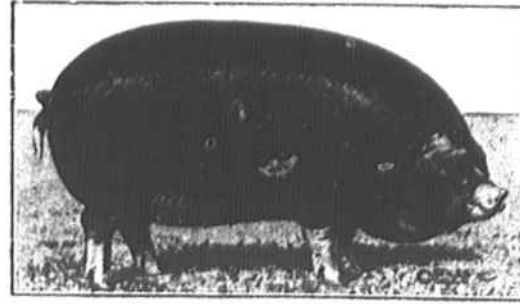

Receiving the guests as they arrived, were Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Jones, the president, Mrs. R. H. Knott, and Mr. Knott, the honoree, Mrs. R. O. Lang, and Mr. Lang. Presiding over the punch bowl and serving from a lace covered table, decorated with sprays of pink roses were Mrs. Sallie K. Horton, B. M. Lewis and Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Vought.

Scoring high for the ladies was Mrs. W. C. Askew and for the men, B. M. Lewis to whom, cards and ash trays were presented. The honor guest received a flower container of tinted glass. An ice course was served as cards were laid aside.

United Daughters of The Confederacy

The Rebecca Winbourne Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, named for the maker of the first Confederate flag, has held ten historical meetings during the past year; sold miniature Confederate flags; sent six members to the District meeting at Tarboro; was represented by eight members at the recent Birthday Tea, given by the Tarboro and Rocky Mount chapters at the home of Mrs. Nina Powell; one member made a historical talk to a nearby chapter; compiled year books and a history of the chapter; observed 40th Birthday of the National U. D. C., contributing 50c per member to the special birthday fund; observed the birthdays of Lee, Jackson and Maury with appropriate exercises at the high school; observed Memorial Day, with Atty. John Hill Paylor as speaker of the program, and a quartet rendering Southern songs, the Daughters decorating the graves of sixteen Confederate veterans; had the very great pleasure and honor of having the Division President, Mrs. J. E. Woodard attend the February meeting.

The chapter has made liberal donations to the Old Soldiers' Home, Raleigh, the Confederate Woman's (Please turn to page 34)
