

AMERICAN LEGION HOLDS LADIES NIGHT; REV. MR. WICKER PRINCIPAL SPEAKER

The local post of the American Legion, entertained eighty of its members and ladies, including members of its Auxiliary, at a banquet on Friday evening. The Legion hall was elaborately decorated with holly, greenery and motifs appropriate to the season, the dinner being in charge of the Junior Woman's club. Post Commander O. G. Spell presided, and Dr. P. E. Jones welcomed the guests, the response being made by Mrs. J. W. Parker. The speaker of the occasion was Rev. Worth Wicker, Episcopal rector of Greenville, who outlined general plans of the Legion organization for the new year, and presented reasons why World War soldiers should receive the bonus at the present time. Hon. J. H. Paylor introduced Rev. Mr. Wicker. One of the highlights of the program for the evening was the presentation of a check for $50 by the Post to its Auxiliary for use in its rehabilitation activities, the gift being delivered by Hon. Paylor and accepted by Mrs. W. M. Willis, Auxiliary president. In a contest, conducted by J. W. Joyner, Mrs. J. H. Bynum received a box of sweets as an award for the ladies, and Commander Spell a carton of cigarettes. Songs, popular during the World War, were led by Mrs. M. V. Jones, who was also accompanist for the musical events.

CELEBRATES BIRTHDAY

Miss Daisy Barnhart Dixon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. Dixon, celebrated her seventh birthday on Wednesday of this week with a lovely dinner party, to which a few of her most intimate playmates were invited.

Featuring the enjoyable occasion was the "listening in" to Old Man Happy who read the letter, written by the starry eyed hostess, which named her teacher, Miss Annie Perkins, her guests: Jane Turnage, Mary Leah Thorne and Cabot Monk, and sent loving greetings to her "Mud-die," Mrs. Daisy Parsons, in Norwood.
