Cash Bonus Bloc Exhibiting Alarm Over Veto

Veterans' Leaders In Senate Working On Compromise To Satisfy President

Washington, May 8.—Alarmed by word that President Roosevelt was preparing a prompt veto of the Patman inflationary soldier bonus bill, veterans' leaders in the Senate to-night worked on a compromise measure designed to overcome White House opposition.

Sen. Bennett C. Clark, D., Mo., who offered the Vinson bill defeated in the Senate yesterday, admitted tonight that negotiations were in progress with supporters of the Patman measure.

The compromise under discussion, it was learned, would stipulate that the bonus must be paid immediately, but would give President Roosevelt authority to meet the debt in three ways:

1. Issuance of greenbacks as provided for in the Patman bill.
2. A bond issue as provided in the Vinson bill.
3. Use of money from the $4,000,000,000 work relief fund.

Sen. Elmer Thomas, D., Okla., leader of the Patman forces in the Senate, said tonight that various compromise proposals, including the one sponsored by Clark, had been placed before his group.

He explained his forces were taking no arbitrary position.

"I believe the Patman bill and the new currency that would be placed in circulation would benefit the whole country," Thomas said. "Straight out payment of the bonus would benefit only the veterans. If we cannot get the Patman bill, then I want to help the veterans and will take the next best."

In other quarters, the proposed compromise was treated lightly.

Sen. Huey P. Long, D., La., who worked with Thomas in jamming the Patman bill through the Senate yesterday, described it as "bunk." He predicted the bonus question would be disposed of tomorrow.

The Louisiana Kingfish admitted the Patman forces were "two short" of the necessary two-thirds vote to over-ride a Presidential veto. He sought support today from Republican ranks, but received no encouragement.

Two Senators who voted for the Patman bill tonight told the United Press their final vote would be determined by the argument presented in Mr. Roosevelt's proposed veto message.

Earlier, strong indications came from the White House that President Roosevelt was prepared to veto the Patman bill and send a message thereon immediately to Capitol Hill.

Thomas moved for a reconsideration of the vote by which the Senate yesterday adopted the measure.

His move, he said, was prompted by a desire to have all supporters of the Patman bill in the capital when the showdown came on the President's veto. He declined to admit that his group did not have sufficient votes to pass the bill over a veto.

Under Senate rules, Thomas' motion cannot be called up for action except by unanimous consent of all members present as long as other business is before the Senate.

Thomas or any of his colleagues could delay consideration indefinitely by merely registering an objection.

The vote in the Senate yesterday was 55 to 33 in favor of the bill. This was four votes short of the necessary two-thirds required to over-ride a Presidential veto if the same number took part in the final test.

There are now 94 members of the Senate. Sen. Bush Holt, D., W. Va., 29, will not take his seat until he reaches the age of 30 and Sen. Bronson Cutting, R., N. M., was killed in an airplane crash. If the entire membership voted, the Patmanists would need 63 votes to over-ride, or eight more than they were able to muster yesterday.

FARMVILLE AND FOUNTAIN IN STATE MUSIC CONTEST

The Farmville and Fountain High Schools entered contestants in Greensboro for the State Music Contest. More than 100 schools were represented this year from all sections of the State, bringing together thousands of boys and girls interested in all phases of music, piano, voice choruses, band, etc. The Farmville Glee Club entered a chorus piano solo, Miss Helen Willis, contralto soloist, Miss Sylvia Tyson. The Fountain school entered Miss Marie Johnson in piano. All entrants were assigned to their schools and all reported a pleasant and profitable trip.

Our own idea is that the country an annual music festival but we are going to see what we can do.

Local Bills Which Concern Pitt Co.

On April 29th House Bill 1295, "To permit Farmville school district in Pitt County, N. C., to hold an election upon the question of levying an additional tax for additional school facilities in said district," was introduced and sent to Calendar Committee. The bill would provide that, upon petition by 25 per cent of the District voters, the County Commissioners shall call an election on the question of levying not exceeding 15c on the $100 to be used, in the discretion of the school committee, to supplement the eight months term, conduct a ninth month, or for other school purposes. The tax would be collected by the County Tax Collector or Sheriff. Other provisions as to the ballot to be used, the conduct of the election, etc.

On April 30th Senate Bill 555, "To permit the sale of hog cholera virus in Pitt County under certain conditions," was introduced and sent to Committee on Agriculture. The bill would allow the County Farm Demonstration Agent to appoint not more than one person to a township to sell, distribute or use hog cholera virus, and would allow all vocational teachers of Agriculture in the county to inoculate hogs with the virus. The bill would exempt such appointees and teachers from the operation of C. S. 4879, which restricts the manufacture, use and sale of serum and virus.

The full vested choir, with Mrs. Haywood Smith at the organ, sang, "Ten thousand times ten thousand," "Come, ye disconsolate," and "O Love that wilt not let me go," during the church service, and "O Lamb of God still keep me," at the graveside in Forest Hill cemetery. The large and handsome floral tribute bore silent evidence of the high esteem in which Mrs. Horton was held.

The wife of the late Mc D. Horton and the daughter of the late Victoria Sugg and William C. Askew, Mrs. Horton was a native of the Farmville community, having lived her three score years here and exemplifying in her unsurpassable devotion to home and church, the highest ideals of Christian womanhood.

New Milk Law Effective in Pitt

Enforcement Of Ordinance To Be Under Direction of Inspector Stowe

The Pitt County Board of Health, April 23rd adopted the State Standard Milk Ordinance, which is the ordinance recommended by the U. S. Public Service, this ordinance to be effective county-wide, beginning May 1st, 1935.

On April 24th all dairies in Pitt County known to the Health Department were advised of the passage of this ordinance, and they will be given a reasonable length of time in which to meet its requirements. Among other things, the ordinance requires that all people who produce and deliver milk for sale must have a permit from the health officer, and such milk must be labeled as to its grade.

Doctor Ennett says the enforcement of this ordinance will be under the immediate direction of Mr. J. P. Stowe, Pitt County Sanitary Inspector, working under the health department, but this enforcement will not in any way interfere with such towns as are already enforcing the Standard Milk Ordinance requirements. It will simply be a matter of the county inspector co-operating with the inspectors of these municipalities.

The Health Officer states that while milk is our most valuable article of food, there are certain milk-borne diseases and for this reason it is necessary that every possible safeguard be thrown around the production and delivery of milk.

Doctor Ennett says it is very unfortunate that so many people look upon milk as a food for babies and children only, when in truth, all adults also need the health-giving from the investigations he has properties of milk. He says that made as to the amount of milk consumed in Pitt County he is amazed to find that milk plays so small a part in the daily ration of the people in general. He urges that more farmers have their own cows and that the housewives in the towns and villages give milk a larger place in their dietary budget.

Doctor Ennett says there is absolutely no substitute for milk as a food and that money spent for milk is money wisely spent.

The Poppies Have Arrived

Preparations for Poppy Day, to be observed here and throughout the nation Saturday, May 25th, went forward rapidly today with the arrival of the memorial poppies at American Legion Auxiliary headquarters. The little red flowers, 750 of them, came from Otter N. C., where they were made by disabled World War veterans, comrades of the men in whose honor they will be worn.

The poppies are being counted and arranged in readiness for distribution to the Poppy Day workers will offer them on the streets May 25th, to be worn as a tribute to the World War dead. All work in connection with the observance is being carried out by volunteers so that every penny received as Poppy Day contributions can go into the welfare funds of the Legion and Auxiliary.

"The poppies are paper replicas of the wild European poppies which bloomed along the battle front and in the war cemeteries during the World War," Mrs. J. W. Joyner explained. "It was this flower, growing between the rows of wooden crosses above fresh battle graves, which inspired Col. John McCrea to write his famous poem, 'In Flanders Fields.' The flower is now recognized throughout the English-speaking world as the symbol of World War sacrifice."

"Each of the little red flowers has been made by hand by some disabled veteran in need of employment. For each poppy the Auxiliary has paid its maker two cents, enabling hundreds of veterans to support themselves and families through the winter and spring. Approximately ten million of the poppies have been made this year, placing in the empty pockets of these disabled veterans for themselves and their families."

"In addition to the earnings of the veterans making the poppy fund being aid to thousands of needy families of veterans throughout the year."

Mrs. E. M. Potter, Mrs. L. M. Caraway, Snow Hill; Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Smith, Jr., Miss Alice Barnes Harris, Mrs. J. A. Eford, Wilson; Mrs. Lynnwood Edwards, Mrs. G. H. Bradburn, Rocky Mount; Mrs. Cooper Person, Mrs. Frances Person, Pketo, Va.; Mrs. and Mrs. J. T. Harris, Norfolk, Va.; Mrs. R. E. Havens, Tarboro; Rev. J. Q. Beckwith, Hillsboro.

COMING SOON.—By the time you read this Lieutenant Governor A. H. Graham may have announced his candidacy for Governor in the Democratic primaries next Spring. If not it will be forthcoming within the next few days. The second high man in the State government has not tried to keep it a secret that he will run but has withheld announcement until his duties as presiding officer of the State Senate are completed.

HOEY.—The opinion that Clyde R. Hoey, Shelby Democratic wheelhorse, has been strengthened in Raleigh the withdrawal of Congressman R. L. Doughton, who decided he was needed as chairman of the national House Ways and Means Committee. Hoey also is withholding formal announcement until after the Legislature adjourns at which time he will tell the State of his intentions. From a neutral position it's pretty hard to figure out just what the Shelby orator will do. No doubt he wants to run but is a man who detests getting into a political dog-fight to gain an office.

HUMANE.—A man is just as dead when you kill him with lethal gas as if you electrocute him but social leaders say that passage of the Peterson bill to substitute gas for electrocution in capital punishment is a great stride in the right direction. Persons who have seen the gas executions say the prisoner displays no sign of pain and that much of the gruesomeness of electrocutions is missing. Capital punishment opponents hail this State's departure in the method of legal killing as a move toward its abolition. The Peterson bill provides that persons sentenced to death after July 1 be put to death by gas. Those sentenced before that date will be electrocuted.

GRABBED IT.—The General Assembly voted to apply the sales tax to gasoline and instead of requiring you to pay the three per cent levy it will be taken from the tax of six cents per gallon you now pay. That means that another $800,000 of the money you are paying for roads will be used each year for other purposes. Already the State has been taking a million dollars a year out of the gasoline fund. Friends of good roads fear that there will be movements at the next legislative session to take your gasoline taxes to pay county bonds.

HOWL.—North Carolina Representatives in Congress are still reported to be receiving violent protests against the Rayburn bill which would give the Federal Power Commission unprecedented powers in regulating and setting the rates of all power companies. Around Raleigh it is said that the State Utilities Commission would have little authority over power rates if the Rayburn bill should become law. Opponents of the measure point out that the State Commission has lowered power rates while the Inter-state Commerce Commission has North Carolina in a bad way in the matter of freight rates.

LIQUOR.—Advocates of liquor control were chagrined at the State Senate's action in killing the local option measure but they have extended their hopes to the 1937 legislative session. Senator Allbrook of Halifax, ardent supporter of the liquor control bills, asserts that the State will not have more than a corporal's guard on hand two years hence. Drys were not able to attract the crowds of spectators this session that featured beer hearings two years ago and many political leaders express the opinion that the State is already wet in sentiment and such sentiment will express itself in the selection of legislative candidates in the primaries next spring. It takes a good man to know which way this liquor cat will jump in North Carolina.

NEW THREAT.—Senator W. P. Horton of Chatham, is being urged by friends from over the State to consider running for Lieutenant Governor in the Democratic primaries next spring. At present State Senators W. G. Clark, Harris Newman, Paul Grady, former Senator George McNeill, and Speaker of the House Robert Grady Johnson are considered potential candidates for the post that carries with it the job of President of the State Senate. The Chatham legislator has made himself a name in the Senate and if he decides to run for Lieutenant Governor he probably will give some other candidates a headache.

Through State Capital Keyholes

By Bess Hinton Silver

Washington, May 8.—"I believe that when it is all added up, North Carolina will get about one hundred million dollars, which is its share on a population basis of the four-billion-dollar work relief appropriation," declared Senator Josiah W. Bailey today after an informal conference with Frank C. Walker, director of the National Emergency Council.

Senator Bailey was accompanied at the conference by Robert M. Gantt, of Durham, state director of the Emergency Council, and C. L. Shuping of Greensboro, North Carolina member of the National Democratic committee.

Mr. Gantt returned to North Carolina today, instructed to do everything in his power to speed up North Carolina applications under the gigantic program, which in some respects have lagged behind those of other states. The Durham man will not handle any of the applications directly, but will coordinate the efforts of the other federal agencies with those of purely state agencies.

"Expedition is the heart of the program, as it proposed to do it all in 15 months," said Senator Bailey, "and I really believe that the end of direct federal relief is now definitely in sight, and all of those on relief who are employable will be put to work and the unemployables will be turned back to the state and the communities."

Senator Bailey said that the projects to be pressed by North Carolina include the Great Smoky Mountain parkway, which has been delayed so far by failure of North Carolina and Virginia to acquire and present to the federal government the necessary rights of way. Grade crossings projects, soil erosion projects, the Morehead port projects, forestry projects, subsistence homestead projects and rivers and harbors projects, all of these were also discussed with Mr. Walker.

"One element will be the projects of counties and cities and they should be presented immediately," said Senator Bailey.

A comprehensive program for soil erosion work in North Carolina is expected to be announced soon and the State's quota of Civilian Conservation camps under the enlarged program for that service has been held up because of pendency of several new soil erosion camps.

The recent freeze in Avery County injured the cherries and plums but did not hurt the apple crop to any extent, reports the farm agent.

Tobacco Grading Takes New Step

House Committee Approves Bill as Amended, But Delays Report

Washington, May 8.—The full committee on agriculture of the House today formally approved the Flannagan tobacco grading bill, but then withheld its action until next Friday, when it will hear Representative John H. Kerr and other members of Congress who may desire to be heard in connection with the bill.

The committee adopted the amendment agreed upon by Representative Flannagan, of Virginia, author of the bill, and Representative Cooley, of North Carolina, a member of the committee. Under the terms of the amendment, the cost of the grading would be transferred from the buyers of tobacco to the government and a referendum would be required in each market area before the system was established. The amendment also stipulates that no market shall be closed. It is estimated that under this plan the cost would be only $200,000 the first year, as compared with an estimated cost of $750,000 were the system established on all tobacco markets.

The bill created a great deal of controversy in the early part of the session, but is now supported, with the amendment, by virtually all of the North Carolina delegation except Judge Kerr, who desires the referendum to be conducted by belts instead of by market area; or, failing in that, wishes to designate a marketing area of his own for his section of the State.

According to a statement from Mr. J. W. Joyner, chairman of the Municipal Swimming Pool committee, the pool will be opened to the public on Wednesday afternoon, May 15th, at 2:00 o'clock.

Negro Held In Auto Accident

Bennett Taft Jailed Without Bond After Serious Wreck at Baldards Cross Roads

Greenville, May 7.—Bennett Taft, colored, of the Bell Arthur community, was held in jail without bond today in connection with the automobile accident Sunday night near Baldards Cross Roads in which Mrs. W. R. Copeland, of Williamston, was seriously injured and several others hurt.

Taft escaped immediately after his car collided with the Copeland machine and was picked up by county officers at his home yesterday afternoon.

Sheriff Whitehurst said today the negro would be held without bond pending the condition of Mrs. Copeland, who was rendered unconscious in the crash and who was reported to be in a critical condition yesterday.

Reports from the local hospital today indicated, however, that Mrs. Copeland was "some better," although she was still in a serious condition.

The woman's husband, who was driving the car, lost several teeth and received painful cuts on the head. Two other occupants, Miss Sarah Cook and Mrs. Ruth Ward also of Williamston, suffered cuts and bruises and also received hospital attention.

Washington Taft, brother of Bennett, was painfully cut and five or six women occupants were also injured slightly.

Taft attempted to pass another machine while bound in the direction of Farmville and crashed head-on into the Copeland machine which was headed for Greenville.

Taft is held on a charge of reckless driving and assault with a deadly weapon.
