Clubs Declare War On Roadside Signs

A boycott of products advertised on unsightly roadside signs in North Carolina was recommended the other day at a meeting of home demonstration club members in Pinehurst. In a resolution adopted, the members appealed to farmers, merchants, chambers of commerce, woman's clubs, and other organizations to enlist in the war against signboards.

Many of the signboards not only mar the landscape, but they are also a source of danger inasmuch as they divert the drivers' attention from the road, the resolution stated.

The women also commended the Agricultural Adjustment Administration for its benefits to agriculture, which are being felt by the club women and business houses of the nation as well as the farmers themselves.

After throwing their support behind the world peace movement, they turned to the moving picture industry to endorse the improvements made in the moral tone of pictures.

The use of motion picture theatres as "nurseries" for children while the parents go about other activities was adopted as being bad for the mental and physical development of children.

A resolution adopted by the Cumberland County farm women prior to the meeting at Pinehurst requested that rural electrification be given a prominent place in the public works program.

Copies of the resolutions have been sent over the State for study by club women so that delegates to Farm and Home week at State College this summer may be prepared to act upon them at that time.

Measure Farm Lands For AAA Compliance

Supervisors who are checking farmers' compliance with AAA crop adjustment contracts have been instructed to measure the fields with all possible accuracy.

No guess work will be tolerated, said H. M. Ellis, state compliance supervisor at State College, and a careful note will be made of any excess acreage planted.

Where a farmer is found to have overplanted his acreage allotment, Ellis stated, he will be asked to remove the excess from cultivation or else forfeit his contract and all benefit payments he has received.

The measurements are being made with tapes and other equipment designed to insure accuracy. The work will also be checked by experts to make sure that no mistakes are made, he added.

Five re-check engineers will go out from the college soon, he said, to aid county supervisors check over the work done by the township supervisors. In cases of dispute, fields will be measured again if necessary.

To satisfy the farmers that the work is being done properly, he continued, they are asked to accompany the supervisors when the field measurements are made.

The county organizations—consisting of the farm agent, county supervisor, and as many township supervisors as are needed—have been set up in practically all of the counties. Where the work has not started already, Ellis stated, it will begin in the near future.

Yields of red clover hay are unusually heavy in Chatham County this season. All winter hay mixtures yielded well.

The Citizens Committee on Public School Finance shows that it costs $100 to keep a boy in school a year and $300 to keep him in prison.

Editing a paper without ruffling anybody's feelings is like fishing without a hook on your line—you get lots of recreation but no results.

Increased amounts of butterfat are being delivered daily to the Haywood county creamery and more Grade A dairies are being established, reports the farm agent.

Alexander County hog growers have lost a number of animals from an outbreak of Cholera.

Barley growers of Davidson county report yields of 50 bushels of grain to the acre.

Stokes County farmers are beginning a new project for raising mule colts to replace old workstock.

One thousand tons of paper are required each year to print postage stamps of the United States.

Rowan farmers say they will be abundantly supplied with feed and forage crops this year.

Seamont County Irish potato growers report yields of 45 to 50 barrels an acre as compared to 75 barrels per acre in 1934.

It is not unusual to find from 15 to 20 hives of bees on most Henderson County farms. The owners report good yields of honey and some profits from the bees last year.

Full Program Planned For 4-H Short Course

Four-H club members who attend the annual short course at State College, July 24-29, will enjoy a week of fun and fellowship while learning how to make rural life more attractive and profitable.

Club leaders at the college are working out plans designed to make the short course this year the best ever held. A full program of study and recreation is being arranged, said E. R. Harrell, state club leader.

Outstanding features will be the state-wide achievement day, the health pageant, inspirational talks by prominent leaders, team demonstrations of club projects, the health pageant, and practical instruction in farm and home activities.

Medals and certificates will be awarded for the most noteworthy achievements made by boys and girls individually and by clubs as a whole during the past year. A dramatic contest and a candle lighting ceremony are also on the program.

The club members will be guests of State College, whose buildings and equipment will be placed at their disposal. The only charge will be $5 a person to cover the cost of meals in the college dining hall.

Each club in the State is expected to send one or more representatives. Such a large crowd is expected that attendance will be limited to active club members, Harrell stated.

All boys and girls will room in the dormitories, he added, and will be in charge of club leaders, county farm and home agents, and extension workers who will look after their welfare at all times.

Lady Took Cardui When Weak, Nervous

"I can't say enough for Cardui if I talked all day," enthusiastically writes Mrs. L. E. Gaidwall, of Statesville, N. C. "I have used Cardui at intervals for twenty-five years," she adds. "My trouble in the beginning was weakness and nervousness. I read of Cardui in a newspaper and decided right then to try it. It seemed before I had taken half a bottle of Cardui I was stronger and was soon up and around."

Thousands of women testify Cardui benefited them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

THROUGH STATE CAPITOL KEYHOLES

(Continued from page one) passed by the late General Assembly and as you ride about over the State on secondary roads you will find many holes newly patched. But it will be a job for somebody to keep them in shape with big, heavy trucks beating them to pieces and the highway fund diversionists already planning their campaign in the 1937 Legislature.

isature. here and all persons sentenced to be put to death for crime in North Carolina will die in a lethal gas chamber instead of the electric chair under direction of an act passed by the General Assembly. It has not been decided just where to locate the gas chamber at the State Prison in Raleigh but indications are that it may be located atop the main building. Two or three towers of unique construction are thought by some prison officials to provide ample quarters for the gas chamber.

EXECUTIONS—July 1 is almost

HOLIDAY—Death took a holiday at State Prison during the month of June. Several prisoners were scheduled to sit in the electric chair but because of remodeling now underway at the prison the death chair had to be moved. The instrument of death was thrown out of commission for about four weeks and as a result at least four prisoners were given a longer lease on life.

over county are hoping to get the State to construct a road along the sound side of Wrightsville Beach reaching up beyond Lumina pavilion. The county has some road money coming to it under the future road program and there are many leading citizens who would prefer to see it all spent to get a road up the Southern end of Wrightsville. Later they hope to connect Wrightsville and Carolina Beaches with an ocean front road that would be a real attraction to tourists.
