Made An Outstanding Record for Schools At Ahsokie; Active Worker In Civic Affairs

New York, June 25.—General Hugh S. Johnson tonight stepped into one of the biggest jobs of his public career—the administration of federal work-relief in New York City.

The former administrator of NRA was appointed in Washington as the city's work-relief administrator, the announcement coming from Harry L. Hopkins, administrator of the $4,000,000 federal work-relief fund.

Appointment of the dynamic NRA chief was the result of unremitting effort on the part of Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia to obtain him for the job.

For several weeks, LaGuardia had been hammering at Johnson to accept the position. His capitulation today was quickly clinched with formal government appointment as the general in charge of the White House.

Johnson's return to government service was quickly regarded as inline with President Roosevelt's wishes expressed a year ago when the "Daddy of the Blue Eagle" resigned his NRA post.

Outstanding in Johnson's stipulations in accepting the job is that he work without pay, receiving only per diem expenses of $25 a day.

Johnson will arrive in Farmville at once announced the assignment of Commissioner of Docks John McKenzie to act as liaison between Johnson and the city administration.

Voters To Cast Ballots Saturday, July 6th

Pitt Voters Solidly For Crop Control

5,812 Persons Vote In AAA Balloting Saturday With Only One Against

Greenville, June 24.—Although complete reports had not been received, it was indicated on the basis of unofficial returns received today that Pitt county tobacco growers went to the polls in large numbers Saturday and voted overwhelmingly in favor of the federal crop control program.

E. F. Arnold, director of the local farm department, who was busy today attempting to compile returns from the missing townships, said 5,812 contract signers voted in the eight townships reported with indications the total vote will go beyond the 8,000 mark.

In all of the townships reporting only one person voted against the program, that being recorded in Beaver Dam township.

The townships not reporting were Pictopus, Carolina, Belvoir, Swift Creek and Fountain.

Had not ballots been given out, Mr. Arnold expressed belief the vote would have gone well above the figure in the eight townships reporting. However, farmers were being given until next Saturday night at 7 o'clock in which to complete filing their ballots.

They have been asked to file, either at the farm office here, or with any of the committees who acted as poll holders Saturday. Additional ballots will be placed in the hands of the committees at once, it was said, in an effort to speed up the compilation of the ballot.

Greenville township lead in the balloting, unofficial returns showing 1,870 voted "yes" indicating conclusively they appreciate what the AAA crop control movement has done for them in the way of improved prices.

Chicoc township, which always casts the second largest vote in the county, came next to Greenville with a total of 1,205 and no votes against the proposal to continue the crop control movement another year.

Returns from the remainder of the townships follow: Farmville 742; Redland, 300; Beaver Dam, 245, one against; Ayden, 900; Winterville, 651; Bethel, 378.

The balloting sustained the prediction made by Mr. Arnold, the first of the week that Pitt county would go overwhelmingly for the crop control program by reason of the splendid way the county has rallied in recent years.

Says Homestead Project Assured

Washington, June 25.—Representative Graham A. Barden was today informed that the future of the Federated Homestead project is assured.

Mr. Barden today conferred at length with Dr. Carl G. Taylor, former dean of the graduate school of North Carolina State College and now an assistant in charge of rural rehabilitation to Mr. Raymond G. Tugwell, director of rural settlement, and other Federal officials.

After three sessions, Mr. Barden said: "I am satisfied that the full million dollars originally contemplated for the project will be reallocated, less the $350,000 already spent. I am also convinced that the unit for each family will be increased from 10 acres to 30 acres and that 500 families will be provided for."

The project as now contemplated will be purely agricultural, although including livestock and poultry as well as crops.

Bi & W. Chevrolet Storage Garage on Main Street to be Polling Place

Every registered voter in Pitt county will be given an opportunity of voting on Saturday, July 6, on the question of whether or not the county will establish a liquor system as provided under an act of the last General Assembly.

The outcome of the battle of ballots will be watched with great interest by the entire State, which stood on November 8, 1933, as the first State of the Union to have definitely recorded its opposition to repeal the Eighteenth Amendment.

By a vote of two and a half to one, throughout the State, the voters refused to sanction the calling of a convention to act upon the proposed 21st or repeal amendment, and thus brought to an end the previously interrupted march of States to the anti-prohibition bandwagon.

Pitt county voted 66 majority against, with Farmville casting 20 of this majority.

Local voters will be given the opportunity to cast their ballots in the pending election, which is to be held under the same laws, rules and regulations as govern the election of members of the General Assembly, in the B. and W. Chevrolet Company's storage building on Main street, from sunrise to sunset, July 6th.

The checker board liquor legislation under which the present elections are being held, affects a score of counties in the State. Two counties, Wilson and Edgecombe, have held their elections, both going wet, by 10 to 1.
