newspapers all over the country.

Suddenly the prosecutor whipped out a piece of paper which contained statements furnishing unquestionable evidence of a "marital rift." They were statements that she did not wish to back up, with which she did not now agree, and which were damaging to her and her husband. And it was suggested by an observer that they were probably made during one of those "off" periods which take place between the most happily married.

But that did not mitigate the impres-

The matter is interesting to all married women for the thought it brings up about those "off times." They are times that are fraught with danger.

And the danger is not only in writing down something that will be damaging long after it is regretted, but the danger of saying something that will be remembered by others long after it is forgotten by the husband or wife involved. It is a fault more common to women than men to speak impulsively at such a time, to express the Nervous, Weak Woman Soon All Right

"I had regular shaking spells from nervousness," writes Mrs. Cora Sanders, of Paragould, Ark. "I was all run-down and cramped at my time until I would have to go to bed. After my first bottle of Cardul, I was better. I kept taking Cardui and soon I was all right. The shaking quit and I did not cramp. I felt worlds better. I gave Cardul to my daughter who was in about the same condition and she was soon all right."
