FARMVILLE GARDEN CLUB

Mrs. J. M. Wheeler delightfully entertained the Farmville Garden Club on Monday afternoon, September 23rd. The meeting was opened by singing the club's "Garden Song." Mrs. Mary Moye Patterson, chairman of music, pianist, followed by a brief business session led by the president, Miss Bettie Joyner, at which time the dues were reduced to five cents monthly. Miss Tabitha M. DeVisconti read a letter from Mrs. B. G. Cambell, District President N. C. Federation of Women's Clubs urging all members to be present at the district meeting October 10th at Swain Quarter, N. C. New members presented by membership committee and welcomed were Mesdames Robbie Smith, Raymond Shearin and W. Wiggins. The program consisted of a poem, "September Day" by Miss Bettie Joyner; reading, "What A Garden Means," Mrs. B. Streeter Sheppard, followed by Douglas Mallock's lovely poem, "Who Makes A Garden" read by Mrs. E. C. Carr.

Mrs. J. I. Morgan gave a very instructive and interesting talk on "Native Trees, Flowers and Shrubs for North Carolina Gardens." She told that tree worship is as old as civilization, that in the Bible the oak is king among trees; she wove into her talk bits of history and legends, how the name means oath in Hebrew, how in Austria peasants ask pardon of trees before cutting them, and how Hindu custom forbids the third marriage so one marries a tree then the fourth can take place. How frankincense, a gift brought to Jesus, was a product from the pine; the beautiful legend of Mary and Jesus fleeing, how they rested under the pine and the baby Jesus raised his hands and blessed the tree and today cut a cone lengthwise and the imprint of His baby hand will be found. She told of what has happened in China because her trees were cut—what has happened in our country because of our own country because of our destruction of our forests.

Mrs. Morgan cited countries that have holidays when their trees and flowers are at their best; that we have the most beautiful of all colors and we take it for granted; we have the grey green of spring, the strong green of summer and the flaming climax of autumn colors. She says, "Look at effects in the woods, remember and duplicate. Plant flowering dogwood, sumac, sourwood, etc., against a green background, say, Carolina Hemlock and Legustrum Japonica, woadbine and bitter-sweet." She took the woods and shrubs and native flowers and combined them into a Garden Beautiful. Mrs. Morgan demonstrated her talk with sprays of native trees, shrubs and flowers.

Miss Mary Jerome charmingly rendered two selections, "Thank God For A Garden" and "God Touched The Rose."

The program was concluded with the Garden Clinic a round table discussion of the needs of the garden and new flowers.

Mrs. J. I. Morgan handed in her resignation as she felt she could not attend regularly. The club appreciating the wonderful work she has done toward making it the outstanding department it is today, her foresight and her unselfishness in serving, felt they could not give her up, so unanimously made her an honorary member. In her own graceful way she accepted and told of her love for the department.

After adjournment the hostess assisted by Miss Jerome served a delicious ice course.

Mrs. J. I. Morgan was hostess to the Merry Matrons on Tuesday afternoon, entertaining at her home on Church street, in which dozens of handsome dahlias from her own garden were massed in both harmonious and contrasting effects.

Mrs. J. W. Loylace presided and welcomed a new member, Mrs. A. W. Bobbit, into this organization.

The afternoon's program was in charge of Mrs. G. M. Holden, who introduced Miss Winnie Harper and Miss Lucille Herring, of Snow Hill, who gave delightful accounts of their recent trip to California, Texas and other western states, and of their visit to Mexico.

During the pleasant social period a frozen salad course was served. Special guests of the hostess were: Mrs. J. L. Ransley, Mrs. A. E. Moore, Mrs. John B. Lewis, Miss Bettie Joyner, Mrs. Plato Monk, Miss Edna Robinson, and Mrs. B. E. McClure, of Mayville, Ky., house guest of Mrs. J. W. Parker.

The New Deal Club held its regular meeting on Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. D. R. Morgan, in which fall flowers were used in colorful decoration. Two tables were in play. Mrs. Henrietta M. Williams, compiling high score was awarded a set of attractive coasters. Following the games a sweet course was served.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

The Junior Woman's Club held its regular semi-monthly meeting on Saturday, at the home of Miss Alvertine Barrett, with eighteen members present. The president, Miss Mary Fries Rouse, presided over a short business session, at which time a card was read from Mrs. Guy Perry, chairman of the Juniors, congratulating the club on their attractive year book and the interesting as well as instructive program, which the committee, headed by Mrs. W. P. Basley, so ably planned.

A discussion, concerning the resuming of the Girl Scout work, once sponsored by the club was a very important one in the business of the afternoon, and a committee, headed by Mrs. Jesse Moye, was appointed to investigate its possibilities. Plans are also in order for a second rummage sale, to be held Saturday, 28, under the leadership of Mrs. J. G. Spencer, chairman of the ways and means committee.

Miss Selma Johnson reported that plans for Farmville's scene in the Pitt County Fair tobacco pageant are well under way, the young people of the town cooperating in every way.

The program of the afternoon dealt with a review of the non-fiction book, "The Road To War," by Walter Millis, prepared by Miss Mary Alice Beaman and read by Miss Margaret Lewis. A sketch of the author was read by Mrs. Jesse Moye, which was followed by current literary comment by club members.

The meeting was adjourned, to meet again on October 5, with Miss Lurline Bass.

The hostess, assisted by Miss Betty Love Spencer, served a most delicious salad course.

Mrs. G. S. Vought, club sponsor, was present.

MRS. MORGAN HOSTESS

Mrs. D. R. Morgan delightfully entertained a number of friends at bridge on Wednesday evening at her home on Wilson street. The ladies and men's prizes, toiletries, were won by Miss Russell Ward and Everett James. Ices were served after the games.
