HARD TO EXPLAIN

Human nature is hard to understand and the human mind equally difficult to explain.

For example, take the case of the man in Pennsylvania, who beat his wife and two children to death with a hammer, because he had committed "a scarlet sin" and wanted to send them to "Heaven, because they were so white and clean."

If any reader can figure this out he will confer a great boon on human beings in general. The obvious answer is to say the man was insane, as doubtless he was, but this does not explain his mental reactions and the killing of his family.

GAS MASKS FOR ALL

The British government has decided to manufacture sufficient gas masks to supply the entire population if it "becomes necessary."

This, we submit, is one straw to show which way the winds of war are blowing.

The only defense against the bombing of cities and helpless civilian populations, in the next war, will be superior air strength available for the job. The use of gas masks will be necessary to protect citizens from stray raiders, even if there are adequate aircraft for defense.

Under the circumstances it might be well for the people of the United States to know what is going on in the world and not to beguile themselves with the idea that they are living in a world where aggression is dead and war an outside possibility.

Timely Farm Questions Answered at State Col.

QUESTION: How can I tell whether or not my chickens have worms?

ANSWER: Unless there is a heavy infestation it is difficult to determine the presence of internal parasites, but where the birds are heavily infested there is usually an extremely heavy appetite, the birds are thin and often a leg weakness will appear. Where these conditions appear it is safe to assume that the birds are infested. When the birds appear listless and there is any doubt as to the trouble it is best to open up several of the subnormal birds and examine the intestines for worms.

QUESTION: At what age should I breed my young heifers?

ANSWER: There is no arbitrary age for breeding heifers. This is usually determined by the maturity of the animal. Heifers that are fed grain liberally in addition to the roughage will mature more rapidly than those on limited grain ration. Then, too, the breed has a bearing on the freshening time. Jersey and Guernsey heifers, if properly grown out, should be bred to freshen from 24 to 30 months of age. The Holstein and Ayrshire heifers should freshen when from 27 to 32 months old.

QUESTION: How can I rid my rose bushes of the small lice that are killing the plants?

ANSWER: The aphid of "plant lice" can be controlled by the application of a 40 per cent nicotine sulphate spray, or by applying a dust made by mixing 12 ounces of the nicotine sulphate solution with two pounds of hydrated lime and eight pounds of dusting sulphur. The 40 per cent nicotine sulphate is a commercial mixture and, when used as a spray should be mixed with water at the rate of one teaspoonful to three quarts of water. The small insect known as the thrip is also particularly harmful to roses and may be controlled with the same insecticides.
