Complimentary to Mrs. J. H. To the honoree Miss Beaman presented embroidered guest towels. A delicious three-course luncheon was served to the following: Mrs. Harrell and Miss Monk, honorees; Miss Delphia Parker, Misses Mae and Lottie Lane Joyner, Miss Nancy Lewis, Miss Lurline Bass, Miss Elizabeth Lang and Mrs. Ted Albritton.

OCTOGENARIAN GIVES SURPRISE PARTY

On August 14, near Fountain, Mr. and Mrs. D. G. Walston gave a surprise supper in honor of J. R. D. Moore's 84th birthday anniversary. A heavily laden table at a tobacco barn was bedecked with the goodness of a well-grown cake, illuminated by 84 candles, which cast a light upon the varied dishes of appetizing, refreshing contents, to be followed by punch and cream, when the honor guest arrived, absolutely unaware of the occasion and finally stopping at his neighbor's home, where curing was going on. Here he found 25 or 30 friends waiting to greet him. "What could he say?" He said: "What have I found at this hour of the day?" Thoughts like these, perhaps, were running through his mind. "How sweet to be remembered when we grow old. How sad to be forgotten." The pathetic story of old age so often includes neglect from those for whom we have done so much.

Comment: If we could recall the fact just what it means to be 84 years old! We have spent 84 Christmases—1,008 months, 30,240 days, three meals a day; we have eaten 90,720 meals, and at even so low an average as 10c a meal each, they would total $9,072. If we have slept eight hours out of 24, we have slept 28 years of our life. Three pints of water drunk daily would be 11,340 gallons, and turned into barrels would make 226.

To be old means much in many ways—if counting nothing else but the years and days.
