TO SPONSOR CONCERT

A program of music and readings will be presented by Miss Helen Smith, teacher in the Westminster Choir School, and Miss Elizabeth Smith, teacher of dramatics at Brenau College, at the Presbyterian Church, Monday evening, June 28, at eight o'clock.

This concert, which will be sponsored by the Farmville Symphonic Chorus, will be highly entertaining and enjoyable, according to J. R. Shearin, president of the local choral organization, and who, in behalf of the group, extends a cordial invitation to the community to attend.

The program will be printed in these columns next week. Admission will be 15c and 25c.

CLUB PARTY

A lovely party of the week was that on Wednesday, when Miss Elizabeth Davis delightfully entertained her card club and additional friends for six tables.

These were arranged with refreshment sets when the guests arrived and ices in flower motifs were served, together with angel cake, mints and nuts. The centerpieces of blue blown glass vases, containing mixed flowers, were given after play as table prizes to Mrs. I. E. Satterfield, Mrs. M. V. Jones, Mrs. J. G. Spencer, Mrs. J. B. Lewis, Mrs. J. Y. Monk and Mrs. P. E. Jones, and the high score prize, a floral plaque, was won by Mrs. J. Branch Bobbitt. Mrs. W. N. Spruill was remembered with a handkerchief as a going-away gift.

Throughout the living room and reception hall bowls and vases of flowers created a festive setting. Mrs. George W. Davis was invited for refreshments.

LANG FAMILY ORGANIZE AT FIRST REUNION

At their first reunion, held Friday, at the Lang homestead near Farmville, descendants of W. G. Lang, Sr., perfected a family organization with R. E. Mewborn, Kinston, as president; voted to make the reunion an annual affair, and selected the second Friday in June as the date of meeting. W. G. Lang, Hickory, was elected as vice president, James R. Lang, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Charles Foster, Littleton, historian, and Hubert Joyner, Greenville, chairman of the entertainment committee.

After the gathering of the clan a barbecue and basket dinner was spread under the towering oaks on the grounds of the Lang farm, which is said to have been a land grant from the King of England to the Moye family, and is now owned by James R. Lang of the fifth generation.

The Lang coat of arms was displayed and discussed and the family history read by Frank Joyner, of Roanoke Rapids.

Those in attendance were: Mrs. Charles Foster, and Mrs. Rodney Glasgow, Littleton; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joyner and family, Roanoke Rapids; Leon and Edward Joyner, Henderson; Mr. and Mrs. Leon Joyner, Jr., and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Watson, Raleigh; Mr. and Mrs. Ellis Joyner and family, Richmond, Va.; Mr. and Mrs. Edward Joyner and family, Dr. and Mrs. C. E. Moore, Mrs. Lyman Joyner and Lyman, Jr., Wilson; Mrs. Lula Mewborn, Miss Carlotta, and Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Mewborn, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lang, Kinston; Mrs. Duncan McKenzie, Burlington; Mrs. Alice Martin and daughter; Bettie, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Lang and daughter, Mary Jane, Hickory; Mrs. Jess Hawkins and Miss Edith Gorham, Greenville, S. C.; Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Joyner and daughter, Greenville; Miss Mary Humphrey, Goldsboro; Mr. and Mrs. J. Y. Monk, Miss Hazel and James Monk, Jr., Dr. and Mrs. P. E. Jones, Miss Vernice Lang and Ras Jones, Mrs. Nannie Moye Humphrey, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Albritton and son, Harry, and James R. Lang, of Farmville.

MOORE-RUMLEY

Miss Mary Louise Rumley, the charming and only daughter of Mrs. Julian Leecraft Rumley and the late Rev. Mr. Rumley, and Mr. George Elmer Moore, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Moore, Sr., were united in marriage at nine o'clock Saturday morning in the Methodist church. The Rev. D. A. Clarke performed the ceremony in the presence of immediate members of the two families and a few intimate friends. Larkspur, Queen Anne's lace and feverfew were used for decorations in the church.

The bride wore a modish travelling costume of romance blue crepe in bolero style, with hat and veil to match and with white accessories. Her flowers were a shoulder corsage of brides roses and valley lilies. Mrs. Moore was graduated from the Farmville high school and attended Greensboro College for Women. Mr. Moore was graduated from the local high school also, and attended Blue Ridge School, Hendersonville. He is a buyer for A. C. Monk & Co., tobacco leaf dealers.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Moore left by motor for an unannounced destination. Upon their return they will be at home in Farmville.

BRIDGE HOSTESS

An outstanding social event of the week were two lovely bridge affairs of Tuesday, when Mrs. Wesley R. Willis was gracious hostess, entertaining members of her contract club and friends at five tables in the morning and additional friends for the same number in the afternoon. Larkspur, roses, Queen Anne's lace and lilies were used in the artistic decorations of the home on Walnut street.

Top score prizes for members and guests in the morning, bridge accessories, were won by Mrs. J. Branch Bobbitt and Mrs. L. T. Pierce. The club members presented Mrs. R. A. Lindsay, who is leaving soon to make her home in Tarboro, with a refreshment set, and the hostess remembered her out-of-town guest, Mrs. Grover H. Webb, of Pinetops, with a dainty handkerchief.

In the afternoon Mrs. Tabitha De-Visconti received a brass tea bell as high score award, and Mrs. W. N. Spruill, who is moving her residence to Kinston, was given a flower pot. A delectable salad course was served at both occasions.

NEW DEAL CLUB

On Monday afternoon Mrs. R. LeRoy Rollins delightfully entertained members of her card club with additional friends making up the six tables, arranged in a setting of lilies, hydrangeas, Queen Anne's lace, verbena and pansies.

Progressive contract was played and when scores were added the high score prize of coronation pottery, for members and guests, were presented to Mrs. W. R. Burke and Mrs. Robert Lee Smith, Mrs. J. N. Spruill and Mrs. J. B. Cutchips, special guests, who are leaving soon to make their respective homes in Kinston, received linen antimacassars.

A delicious frozen salad course was served after play.

LITERARY CLUB

The Farmville Literary Club held its last meeting before adjourning for the summer season at the home of Mrs. W. M. Willis. The president, Mrs. W. C. Askew, presided. "Other People's Lives," a program prepared by the University of N. C., was presented by the program committee and was accepted by the club for study for the new club year.

Mrs. Askew presented an interesting paper on Halman Hunt's "Light of the World—a picture that preaches a Sermon." A paper, "The Divine Art," which was concerned with the story of "Sacred Music," was given by Mrs. J. W. Joyner. She illustrated her paper with hymns beloved by all the world.

In conclusion, the president, Mrs. Askew, thanked Mrs. B. S. Sheppard for the splendid programs which she had outlined for the past year's study.

A delicious sweet course was served after adjournment. A mixture of summer flowers in harmonizing shades was used with pleasing effect in the Willis home on Wilson street.

BRIDGE HOSTESSES

Mrs. Robert Lee Smith and Mrs. J. L. Walker graciously entertained at one of the largest and loveliest parties of the early summer season on Thursday evening at the home of the former. Lovely arrangements of mixed flowers made a colorful setting for the twelve tables, which bore attractive appointments.

When scores were added Miss Mae Joyner was presented with a double deck of cards as high award and Mrs. S. A. Roebuck received a flower bowl as a consolation prize.

A color note of pink and blue was employed in the ice course, which consisted of ices, decorated cakes, mints and nuts, and was served when cards were laid aside.

HOST AT PARTY

Bill Pollard entertained twenty friends at a delightful party, honoring his guest, James Edward, of Snow Hill, at the Scout Hut Tuesday evening. Games and dancing were enjoyed, after which ices were served.

SPANISH-AMERICAN AUXILIARY

The Spanish-American Auxiliary held its June meeting on Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. J. I. Baker, the vice president, presiding and acting as hostess. A fruit salad course was served after adjournment.

PECAN GROVE DAIRY HOST TO PATRONS

John T. Thorne, owner, and Roy Bowling, the genial manager of Pecan Grove Dairy, were hosts to patrons at a sumptuous barbecue supper Thursday evening, at seven o'clock, served under several of the large trees, numbering around a thousand, which gave to this prolific farm and its widely known dairy its name, and has made of them show places of the community.

Around 200 guests were present to enjoy the roast pigs and inspect the modern and well equipped plant, both of which merit the pride of the owner and manager, and reveal the great interest taken in raising registered stock, big bone Poland China hogs, Jersey and Guernsey cattle, (the present herd numbers above 50), and in providing A-1 grade dairy products to the people of this community.

VACATION BIBLE SCHOOL PROGRAM

A commencement program, which will reveal the work done in the Baptist Vacation Bible School, conducted for the past two weeks under the supervision of the pastor, Rev. L. E. Ennis, will be presented at eight o'clock, together with a baptismal service, on Sunday evening at the Baptist Church.

During a revival, held recently in the Church by the pastor and Rev. J. M. Duncan, of Murfreesboro, a former pastor, several persons applied for membership in the Church, and their baptism will take place in connection with the Bible School exercises.

The children and all young people of the community as well as the parents are cordially invited to attend on this occasion.

HOST AT PARTY
