CAST A BALLOT

The most talked-about subject among North Carolina farmers today is the new farm act.

And perhaps the most discussed section of the act is that part having to do with marketing quotas on cotton and flue-cured tobacco.

In 81 of the State's 100 counties, growers will journey to community polls March 12 to express their opinion of marketing quotas.

On the other hand, if you want your crop restricted so that prices may be held up next year, then you should do your part by visiting the polls on March 12 and marking yes on the ballot.

Anyone who produced tobacco or cotton in 1937, whether he be landlord, operator, tenant, or sharecropper, will be eligible to vote.

GOOD NEWS, WE HOPE

The worst of the business recession is passing, according to John D. Biggers, who directed the recently concluded unemployment census.

The Cleveland business man believes that the recession was caused largely by the fact that industries built up large stock of goods early last year and his basis for expecting improvement lies in the belief that consumer demand has largely exhausted the supplies.

We have no idea whether Mr. Biggers knows anything about the recession or not. In view of the high percentage of error that dogged the prophets of the depression, when prosperity played them a dirty trick by staying "around the corner," we are inclined to wait and see what happens.

This doesn't mean that Mr. Biggers' views are not encouraging. He is an eminently successful business man. What he thinks is vastly more important, on the basis of probable knowledge of conditions, than any number of predictions by politicians and editors.

BOOZE BRINGS ARREST

Chicago. — Discovering the absence of the family of Ignaz Schwinn, who were spending the winter in Florida, James Bleasing, 28, pried open a window of their home here. Everything was fine. He helped himself to a bountiful meal from the well-stocked larder, enjoyed a bath, using plenty of sweet-scented soap and perfumes, and then, donning a pair of Mr. Swinn's silk pajamas, prepared to go to bed. Before doing so, however, he couldn't resist sampling a bottle of whiskey he had discovered. This proved his downfall. He got drunk, made too much noise and was arrested.

Poultry production and fruit growing go together finds Miss Leah Frank of Jacksonville, route 1, who keeps about 150 hens in her flock each year. She has recently set 150 peach trees in the poultry yards to provide shade and to produce fruit.

Small Grower Aided Under New Farm Act

Giving the small farmer a "break" is one of the purposes of the new farm act, according to E. Y. Floyd, AAA executive officer at State College.

Provisions for larger payments to operators of small farms who cooperate in the Agricultural Conservation program, a part of the act, have been provided. Growers who would earn less than $200 under the regular rates will have their payments increased this year.

The following scale will be used when conservation payments are being made:

If payment is not more than $20, the total payment will be increased 40 per cent; payments of $20 to $40 will be increased $8 plus 20 per cent of the amount over $20; payment of $40 to $60 will be increased $12 plus

10 per cent the amount over $40; payments of $60 to $186 will be increased $14; and payments of $186 to $200 will be increased to $200.

This scaling upward of the smaller payments will be a first charge against funds available for payments, Floyd declared.

Farmers who take part in the AAA program this year will qualify for payments by staying within their soil-depleting crop acreage allotments and by measuring up to their soil-building goals.

The new act, in the main, merely adds to the present Agricultural Conservation program by providing for acreage allotments, marketing quotas when producers desire them, and crop loans.

If the cotton-tobacco referendum passes March 12, larger growers will receive steeper acreage cuts than will the smaller farmers, Floyd pointed out.

"I GROW CHOICE TOBACCO"

IT'S A FACT THAT CAMEL USES COST-LIER TOBACCO. LAST YEAR I HAD A DANDY CROP AND THE CAMEL PEOPLE BOUGHT ALL MY CHOICE LOTS. MOST PLANTERS SOLD THEIR HIGH GRADES OF TOBACCO TO CAMELS, THE SAME AS I DID. SO YOU CAN SEE WHY CAMEL IS MY CIGARETTE

FLOYD SMITHER—experienced tobacco planter

MR. SMITHER gives the opinion of a great number of tobacco planters when he reports: "For their own smoking—the majority of tobacco growers prefer Camels." Men who know tobacco from the ground up prefer Camels. They want to enjoy the special treat of smoking Camel's finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO—Turkish and Domestic.
