SHE IS JUST AWAY!

I cannot say, and I will not say. That she is dead, - She is just away! With a cherry smile, and a wave of the hand, She has wandered into an unknown land, And left us dreaming how very fair It needs must be, since she lingers there.

And you - O you, who have the wild-est yearn For the old-time step and the glad return, - Think of her faring on, as dear In the love of There as the love of Here; Think of her still as the same, I say: She is not dead - She is just away!

-James Whitcomb Riley.

SCATTER YE ROSEBUDS . . .

Once in a blue moon we get a letter from some unknown friend, who appreciates our efforts to give our subscribers a good paper. These letters cheer us up considerably and help us to take with a better grace the knocks, which we get much more often and have grown so accustomed to receiving.

We print our latest note with grateful acknowledgement for the sincerity of the writer and do accept it as a challenge for the future.

Damascus, Va. Editor of the Farmville Enterprise, Farmville, N. C.

Dear Sir: My husband subscribed for your paper while in Ayden, during the month of November, and since then I have been getting the paper once a week.

For a while I wondered who was sending me the paper but when he came home he told me he had subscribed for it, and had it sent in my name.

I surely do enjoy reading it for it certainly is a good paper for such little cost per year. I receive several papers, but like yours the best.

Thanking you, I am, Very truly yours, MRS. J. C. ELLIOTT.

PROFITS HAVE NOT DISAPPEARED

President Roosevelt obviously holds out to business the thought that if purchasing power can be provided for the one-third of our population that is ill-housed, ill-clothed and ill-fed there will be possible lower prices through enlarged production and consequently reasonable profits for business itself.

Meanwhile, attacks are made upon the Administration for its attitude and the spokesmen for business aver that the profit system is in danger. Mr. Baruch calls upon the nation to choose between the profit system and the European idea of State regulation and punishment.

One would therefore imagine that business was in great distress and that earnings, or profits, have largely disappeared. A compilation, made by the National City Bank, however, reveals an average gain in earnings of 1,020 companies in 1937 of 8.5 per cent, which follows an average gain for 2,140 companies in 1936, of 47 per cent.

As C. F. Hughes points out in The New York Times, "The case of business is most notably weak because it will not thoroughly analyze the problems of the day. Large interests are satisfied with selling their slogans to 'small business' and promoting that uncertainty of which they complain so bitterly, and which is costing them and the country huge sums."

One might cite the case of George H. Houston, president of the Baldwin Locomotive Works, who recently assailed the Administration attitude towards business on many counts. Yet, the compilation of the National City Bank shows that nineteen railway equipment companies increased their profits in 1937, by 214.4 per cent over their 1936 earnings.

There is the case of the utility executive who proclaimed "It is my duty to be here now - maybe you will be here then." Yet, his Tennessee company in 1937 in the midst of TVA construction, reported a net profit of 100 per cent over 1936 and earned a net come which happened to come to our attention include the Pure Oil Company, with a net income in 1937, after all charges, taxes and reserves had been taken, of $11,403,808, compared with $7,658,972 in 1936 and, in fact, its highest total since 1926; the American Tobacco Company, with a $26,197,493 net in 1937, compared with $20,183,821 in 1936; the Bethlehem Steel Company, with a net income for 1937 of $31,819,594, which compares with $13,901,006 in 1936.

In view of such instances "it seems appropriate to ask just what profit returns these parties seek before they will accept that the system is not in danger?"

CHAMBERLAIN, AT LEAST TRIES

The world is watching the efforts of Mr. Chamberlain, of Great Britain, to reach a satisfactory basis of settlement with Dictator Mussolini, of Italy.

If the British leader can find some method of conciliating Italy, and later Germany, there is no disputing the gain to Europe, which will be thus removed a little further from warfare.

The criticism of Mr. Chamberlain, based largely upon idealism which we are inclined to share, loses sight of the existence of dictators and the necessity of living in a world that includes them.

Whether we like the Italian or German form of government is not the point. The question is, can one find an avenue of understanding that will permit nations to adjust their differences without resort to arms.

If Mr. Chamberlain succeeds, in the face of odds, he will deserve much credit unless his accomplishment marks the surrender of principles that are vital to democratic nations and the future peace of the world at large.

Gold Flowing From Continent

Capital Scrambling Out of Smaller European Countries to American Vaults.

New York, March 15. - The flight of European capital to the United States, precipitated by the Nazi coup in Austria, enabled New York bankers to arrange today for a shipment of $2,255,000 of gold from London to New York.

It was the first important engagement of yellow metal for import here from Europe since the gold tide turned last autumn and the U. S. treasury modified its gold sterilization policy.

A possibility it might signal a new trans-Atlantic gold rush into the U. S. Treasury's storage vaults was seen in exchange circles. Under the recent change in the sterilization policy the Treasury will permit imports and newly-mined domestic gold up to $400,000,000 annually to go into the credit structure and expand banking reserves instead of being locked up in the "inactive" fund.

In banking quarters, another big gold import movement was expected to exert mild pressure for expansion of bank credit since surplus bank re-

Army Plans Take Over Abandoned Guard Stations

Manteo, March 14. - The discontinued Coast Guard stations on the Outer Banks will be taken over by the Army Air Corps and converted into recreational centers for the officers and the enlisted men of the Army's air base at Langley Field, with the probability that an auxiliary landing field will be laid out on Bodie Island for the convenience of officers flying here for the fishing at Pregon Inlet.

Survey of the stations has been made by Capt. Ward Jackson Davis, for the Air Corps, and negotiations are now under way with Admiral R. R. Waesche, commandant of the United States Coast Guard for the transfer of the two stations to the Air Corps. The two stations, one on Bodie Island four miles above Oregon Inlet and almost within the shadow of Oregon Inlet light, and the other at Kitty Hawk, were discontinued as active stations last year.

According to tentative plans the station house at Bodie Island will be converted to the use of officers of the Air Corps, and the Kitty Hawk station, 20 miles north, and nearer Kitty Hawk and Nags Head beaches, will be reconducted for the use of enlisted men of the Air Corps. The former can accommodate parties of 24 comfortably, and at Kitty Hawk, by converting the boat houses into sleeping quarters, between 50 and 60 men can be taken care of at the time.

Both stations are convenient to Oregon Inlet and the drum fishing there, and to Nags Head and its wide range of recreational facilities during the summer. It is planned to bring the enlisted men down for week-end outings during the summer season here, which begins formally on the night of July 3rd with the first of this year's scheduled 42 performances of Paul Green's symphonic pageant, "Lost Colony."

services have been mounting.

The engagement announced late in the day by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York was made possible by a further fall in the British pound against the dollar and in the London market price for gold to a point where bankers could make a small profit on the shipment.

Until the march of German troops into Austria last week started Europe and touched off a scramble to take capital out of the smaller European countries, foreign funds had been flowing out of New York for weeks. Much of it, exchange men said had been going to London, Holland and Switzerland.

FEARS WAR; KILLS SELF

Manchester, England. - Because of his fear that there would be another war, Frederick Stanbury, 43, whose friend was killed at his side during the World War, committed suicide.

Surgeon At Duke Demonstrates New Germ Killing Lamp

New York, March 8. - A new lamp whose beams protect a person against catching the other fellow's cold was announced yesterday at a meeting here of the American Institute, New York's oldest scientific society.

Many experiments with the tube lights were reported to the institute. Deryl Hart, M. D., surgeon-in-chief of Duke hospital, Durham, N. C., said the beams completely free the air of germs around a patient on the operating table.

Dr. Hart announced the beginnings of this operating room experiment two years ago, the first in medical history. Yesterday he gave the results of 800 operations in air purified by the ultra-violet light. He said the death rate in these operations was cut from 5.5 per cent to 2.9. Infections after breast operations were reduced from 31 per cent to 2.6. Infections after hernia operations were cut from 3.3 per cent to nothing.

In these three types of operations, fevers dropped respectively from 78 per cent to 22; from 54 to 21; and from 46 to 14.

East Carolina Scouts Plan Yearly Camporee

Wilson, March 15. - Over 500 boy scouts of the 21 counties comprising the East Carolina Council will gather here on April 22-24 at Gold Park for their annual Scout camporee.

Hundreds of scouts from Wilson, Nash, Pitt, Beaufort, Lenoir, Greene, Halifax, Edgecombe, Northampton, Martin, Bertie, Washington, Hertford, Craven, Jones, Tyrrell, Dare, Hyde, Onslow, Carteret and Pamlico counties are expected to attend the event and it is understood that Governor Clyde R. Hoey will be invited to attend the affair one of the three days.

A survey of farm lands in Alamance County by a committee of farmers indicated that 7,000 acres are of doubtful value in farming; 17,000 acres have no agricultural value, and 2,500 acres are within town limits. This leaves 267,000 acres of agricultural land though some of this lies within the acres of unincorporated towns.

'I'VE GROWN TOBACCO ALL MY LIFE'

MY LAST CROP WAS ABOUT THE FINEST TOBACCO I EVER RAISED. AND THE CHOICE PARTS OF IT WERE BOUGHT BY CAMEL AT TOP PRICES. CAMEL IS THE CIGARETTE I SMOKE MYSELF. AND MOST OTHER PLANTERS GO FOR CAMELS TOO.

J. B. JACKSON, successful tobacco planter

TOBACCO planters are glad to pass along what their first-hand experience has taught them. As one planter puts it: "The majority of tobacco growers who smoke prefer Camels." Yes, they know what it means to smoke Camels' finer, MORE EXPENSIVE TOBACCO'S - Turkish and Domestic.
