HUNTING MAY BE DANGEROUS

The hunting season will soon present its annual toll of dead hunters as the sportsmen take their guns and stalk the elusive quarry.

It might not be amiss to urge all hunters to be cautious in their handling of firearms in the discharge of their weapons at what they think is game and in generally maintaining an attitude of the highest prudence in connection with hunting.

Many children in the United States will take up the sport this Fall for the first time. Older persons, assuming responsibility for their guidance—should not overlook the necessity of teaching them the proper method of handling firearms. A little time, devoted to this task, may save a human being who is worth more to you than the game that the woods and fields offer to you as a sportsman.

RAILROADS BUYING

The railroads of the country have ordered $125,000,000 worth of new equipment in the last sixty days, according to Jesse H. Jones, Federal Loan Administrator, who asserts that the carriers will be able to meet any emergency demand.

The RFC has been offering money to railroads for equipment loans at interest rates of about three per cent but the railroads have been able to better the rate in the money market. If the loan market hardens the carriers can get funds from the RFC for equipment on liberal terms.

The people of the nation cannot overestimate the importance of the railroad systems that serve the nation. We are not going to start an argument about trains and trucks because each has a place in the economic life of the United States. It is important, however, to keep our great transportation system up-to-date even if the government has to advance some of the money.

Clean Chimneys Will Prevent Farm Fires

Winter is approaching and soon the rural family will find use for its heating system, whether it be a furnace, a stove, or an open fireplace.

Each of these types of heating plants has a chimney, and right now is the best time to clean that chimney and check it for cracks which might cause disastrous fires, advises Prof. David S. Weaver, Extension agricultural engineer of State College. "Of course, if a stove pipe is the only outlet for smoke, there is all the more reason to take precautions because this type of equipment is usually a greater fire hazard," he added.

Prof. Weaver pointed out that stopped-up chimneys will cause sparks to pour back into a room and set fire to furnishings, and often are the cause of spontaneous combustion. Also, chimneys built on wooden supports or built out of cheap mortar or soft bricks are likely to crack. Sparks go through the cracks to the wood or other inflammable material, and a fire is started.

"Rural families need to take extra precautions," said Prof. Weaver, "because they do not have the benefit of trained fire-fighters found in the cities, nor do they usually have the necessary water pressure to properly fight a fire."
"The chief cause of fire is carelessness. It may be divided into two types of carelessness—one with the material used in construction of the house and its care, and the other with the accumulation of inflammable materials in such places as to create a hazard."

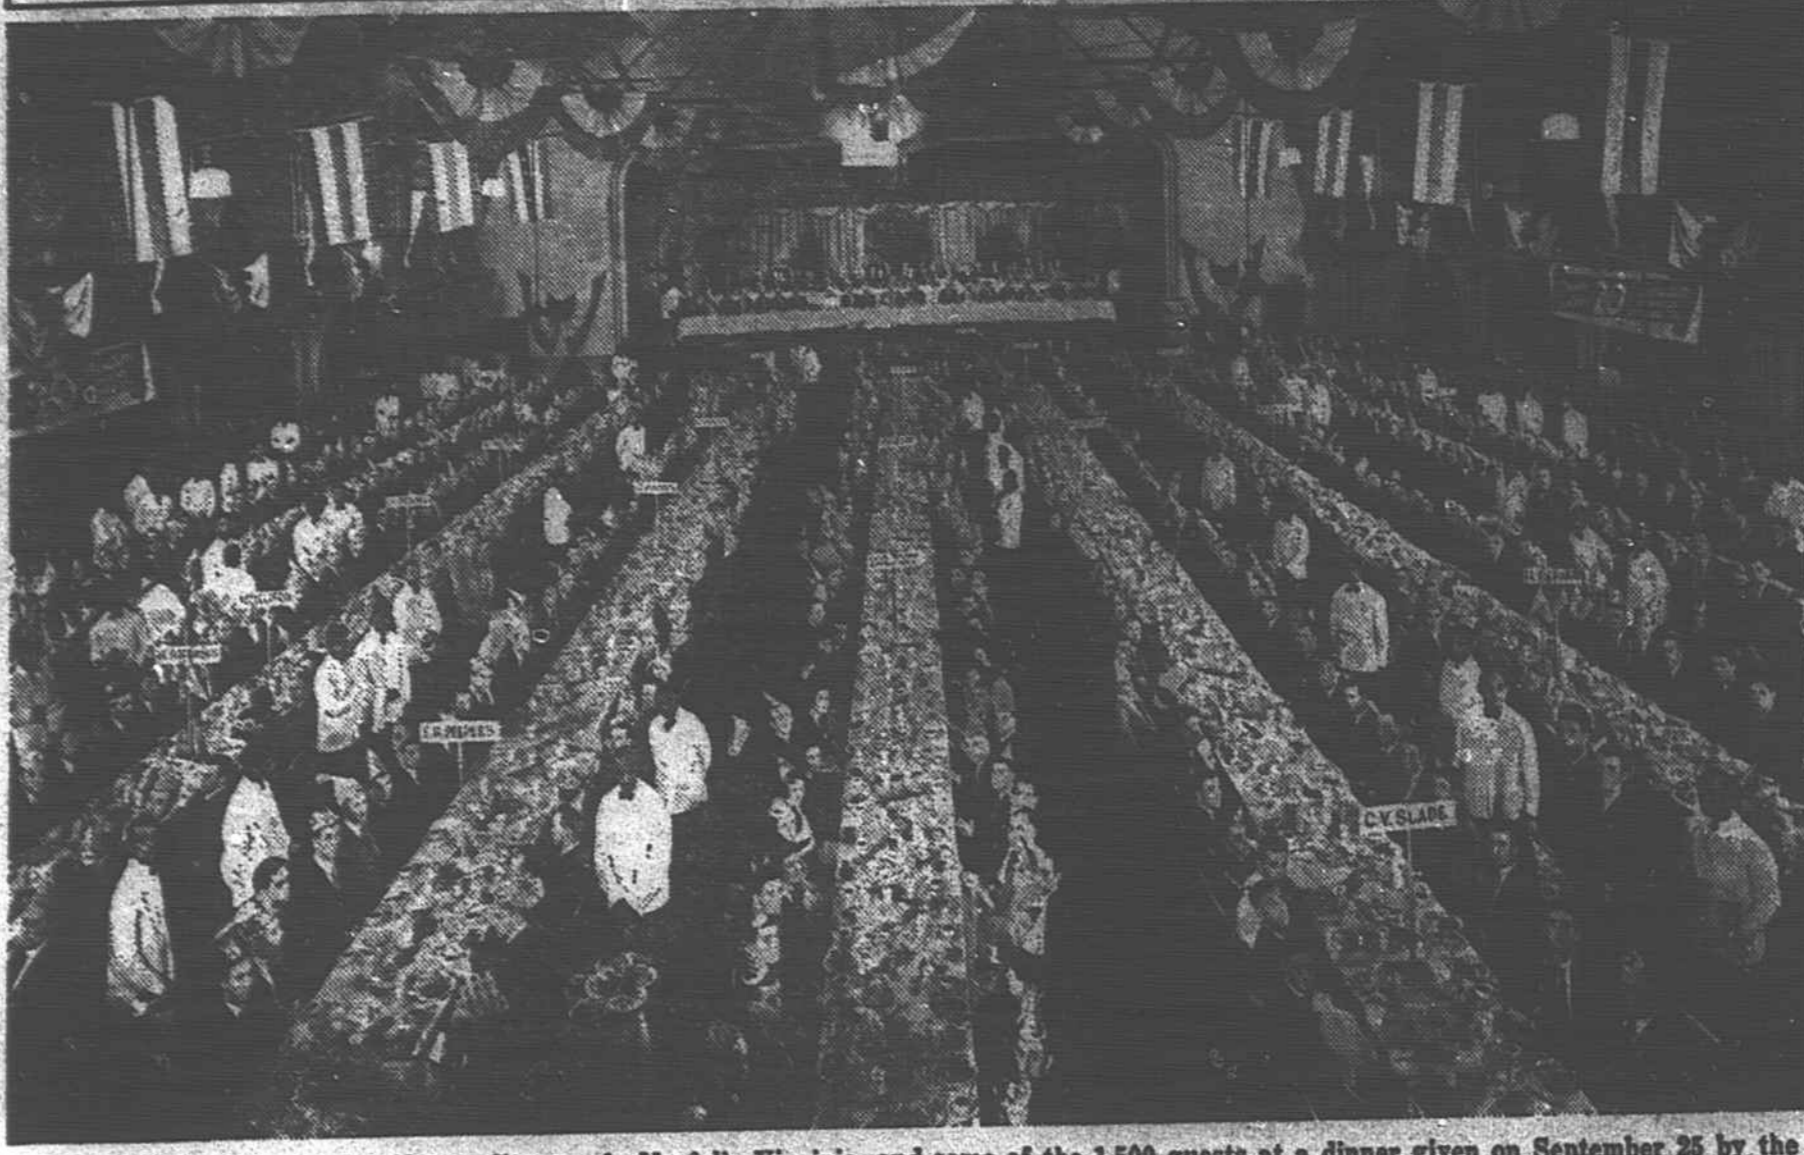

BICYCLE ENDURANCE RECORD

Shelbyville, Ind. — Four boys, George Lamore, Jim Vauhel, Herbert Lewis and Maurice Brokering, all in their teens, recently finished a marathon which they estimated had taken them 11,400 miles, riding one bicycle in two-hour shifts, since July 27, establishing what they believe is a new national bicycle endurance record of 1,135 hours of continuous riding.

PENDER COMPANY PAYS HONOR TO 33 VETERAN EMPLOYEES AT GIGANTIC DINNER PROGRAM

Approximately 1,500 Officials, Managers, Clerks and Invited Guests From Virginia and North Carolina Attend Affair; Old-Timers Rewarded

By GRANVILLE TILGHMAN
Twenty-eight men and five women, who have served the David Pender Grocery Company for 20 years or more, were honored last week at a gala banquet in the City Auditorium that was attended by about 1,500 of the organization's employees from both Virginia and North Carolina and guests, and which was believed to be the largest event of its kind ever held in the city.

Preceded by a long parade of Pender employes down Granby street, the dinner furnished a colorful setting to the tributes that officials and executives of the company paid to the men and women whose long services had contributed extensively to its outstanding history. All available floor space at the auditorium was taken up for tables, and Negro employes of the company were seated at other long banquet tables stretching down the corridor on the second floor of the old City Hall offices.

One hundred and fifteen waiters were required to serve the guests. They were directed by two head waiters, and over them were four supervisors. Two serving stations were necessary in the auditorium, each equipped with an oven and curtained off from the crowd. More than 20,000 pieces of tableware were placed and removed, and the dinners were "piping hot" filet mignon, potatoes au gratin, green garden peas, with celery, olives and coffee. N. W. Oberdorfer, of the Town Club, was caterer for the dinner.

The awards—handsome silver services for the women and expensive watches for the men—were presented by David Pender, who founded the company 39 years ago. He congratulated each recipient personally, and as he presented each award, gave brief reminiscences of the employee's service with the company.

Honored Employees.
Those who received the awards were Mrs. Carrie Davis Fagan, Miss Margaret Estelle Meiggs, Mrs. Alta W. Nunally, Mrs. Ethner Hughes Degge, and Mrs. Studie Jackson Miller, a colored employe, and Walter Francis Bradt, George Atkinson Chapman, Roscoe (Buddy) Forbes, George Henry Hargreaves, Joseph Edward Harry, Elliott Andrew Land, Victor Herbert Lawson, Hersey A. Lily, Joseph McPhillips.
James Walter Mock, Terry Alton Moss, Joda Herbert Norman, George Nelson King, Jr., Earl Cecil Richards, Samuel Paul Jones, Robert M. Cosby, Joseph LeRoy Hiltcher, Chas. Wesley Smith, George Sidney Stallings, Lloyd Hunter Scott, Elias Jefferson Vick, Emory Lee Rose, Henry Clay Raper, James Webster Wood, William M. Stogner, Joseph Brodie Freeman, and Frank Scott and James Henry Johnson, both negroes.

Hunter C. Phelan, president of the company, introduced by the toastmaster, Winder R. Harris, congratulated the company on its continuing record of improvement, and paid tribute to Mr. Pender, who retired in 1926, for his foresight and courage in laying the foundations of a company that today has more than 3,000 employes in stores throughout Virginia and North Carolina.

Mr. Phelan traced the history of the company, and in congratulating the employes being honored said "your value to our company, and our pride in you, is unbounded."
He said exemplary service such as they had given the company had enabled it to go forward in periods of depression, and emerge into an era of efficient operation that allowed the stores to serve their patrons with greater ability.

Nazis Ban Tobacco

Washington, Oct. 4.—Senator Josiah Bailey said he had been advised that the German government had placed tobacco on the list of contraband articles. The senior North Carolina Senator did not manifest any great surprise at this act.

"We already know that Germany will sink any boat—we know she has even sunk empty ones," he said. Senator Bailey said he was still expecting some official information regarding the prospect of getting the Imperial Tobacco Company back into the flue-cured markets when the markets reopen. He made it clear, however, that he did not expect any such information until after the referendum held yesterday.

Neither Senator Bailey nor Senator Reynolds would comment on the issue of whether the imposition of a marketing quota of 650,000,000 lbs. should be supported by tobacco growers' votes. Both stated that matter was one for the farmers and not the politicians to decide.

"Build-Up": Way to Ease Women's Pain

Many weak, run-down women are in a vicious circle. Their undernourishment often leads to what is called functional dysmenorrhea and its symptoms—headaches, nervousness, irritability, intermittent cramp-like pains—from which many women suffer. Surest way to break the vicious circle is by building strength and energy, which so many find may be done with the help of CARDUI. It stimulates appetite, aids digestion, and thus helps in this "build-up" of physical resistance. Women also report that, if taken just before and during "the time," CARDUI helps to ease the pain and discomfort of the period.
