Tobacco Control Amendments Got Hearty Approval

Growers, Warehousemen, Legislators and Federal Officials Today Agree on Detail

Washington, April 5.—Without a dissenting voice, more than 100 growers, warehousemen, bankers, business men and members of Congress from flue-cured tobacco areas today gave their wholehearted approval to a program of six AAA tobacco amendments, and paved the way for their passage at this session of Congress.

Adoption of at least a three-year control program was urged emphatically as the group enthusiastically endorsed plans to strengthen the tobacco control program.

Provision of additional penalties for warehousemen failing to cooperate in the program was added to the five amendments which previously had received the tentative endorsement of Congressmen from tobacco districts.

Confident predictions of favorable Congressional action on the proposed amendments at this session were voiced by Representative Harold D. Cooley, who presided and by Representative Lindsay Warren, John H. Kerr and others who joined in the conclave.

Several suggestions advanced from the floor on methods of improving the language of the proposed amendments were adopted. As soon as these can be drafted into legislative form, the amendments will be placed before Congress and it is planned for the House agriculture committee to take almost immediate action.

HOME DEMONSTRATION CLUB ENJOY GET TOGETHER EVENT

The Farmville Home Demonstration club members, families and friends were delightfully entertained at their club house Thursday evening at eight o'clock.

An interesting program was developed as follows: "America the beautiful" by entire group; Spirituals, rendered by Misses Dorothy, Irene and Bertha Bell. Play, "Friday Morning at School," by club members; group of popular songs, by Bell sisters; ensemble singing.

The play was cleverly portrayed by the following cast:

Miss Pippin, a spinster, Mrs. Roy Carraway; Matilda, very loud, Mrs. L. R. Bell; Floridy, too polite, Miss Penny Norman; Winnie, who hisps, Mrs. C. L. Ivey; Joan, accounted for, Mrs. W. T. Hooqood; Laura, smart, Mrs. Roy Bowling; Myrtle, timid, Mrs. L. W. Andrews; Hazel, a joker, Mrs. Dick Allen; Florence, hay fever sufferer, Mrs. W. R. Hinson; Agnes, poetess, Mrs. Ben Weaver; Helen, dumb, Mrs. J. H. Bynum.

The pupils were dressed as twelve year-olds, and much credit for the success of the play is given to the excellent acting that portrayed each character.

After the program, Mr. John T. Thorne said a few words, and we were also entertained by little Ann Moore, Etta Frances Harper and Margaret Nannie.

The club women served delicious sandwiches and iced tea.

Mrs. Herman Baker, President.

ECONOMY BLOC ROUNDED FARM AID WILL WIN RELIEF MAY NEED MORE FILIBUSTER IS CERTAIN TWO COURT DECISIONS NEW PENSION BILL BATTLE OF THE PLANES

The economy drive in Congress, spectacularly exhibited in the House, is in full retreat, fighting a rear guard action to prevent expenditures from exceeding estimates of the Bureau of the Budget, which set the figure of $8,464,000,000 for the fiscal year 1941.

The House drive floundered when $154,565,000 was removed from the budget estimate of $780,924,000 for the department of agriculture. As passed by the House, the bill was far below the $1,300,000,000 available for the present fiscal year. No sooner had the House acted than a nation-wide demand for increased funds for agriculture was mobilized. When the measure came before the Senate, provision for farm party payments and funds for surplus crop disposal were added, increasing the total of the House-approved measure by $299,000,000.

Final disposition of the agricultural appropriation bill is in the hands of a conference committee, which is attempting to conciliate House and Senate differences. It is safe to assume that when the conference report is submitted to the houses, it will include the Senate additions. Little doubt is expressed but that the House will approve the free conference report.

Another troublesome appropriation will soon be an issue in the House when the reduced relief appropriation bill comes up for consideration. The Budget Bureau recommended $1,000,000,000 for 1941 but this has been assailed by many farmers, labor leaders and others as inadequate to meet relief needs. Economy bloc leaders fear that a combination of farm and relief votes will provide a coalition which will win the fight for a larger fund for relief and farm aid. If this happens, and it seems certain to occur, all economies heretofore reported will be wiped out and those advocating retrenchment of governmental spending will have the time of their lives trying to prevent appropriations from exceeding budget figures.

The anti-lynch bill, voted out by the Senate Judiciary Committee and already approved by the House, will undoubtedly run into a prolonged discussion on the floor of the Senate. Plans of the leaders for an early adjournment will be jeopardized unless cloture is applied to limit debate and force a vote on the measure which meets with such strenuous objection from Southern Senators.

The Southerners make much of the contention that lynching is gradually dying out, that the Federal statute, is unnecessary and that it is an affront to the South, designed solely to secure the Negro vote in Northern and Western states. In the filibuster against the anti-lynching bill in 1938, the effort to invoke the cloture rule lost, 42-46.

A two-thirds vote is required and the rule has been invoked only four times since it was enacted to prevent unusual delays to legislation during the World War. In 1938, the Republicans voted against cloture but this time Senator McNary, minority leader, states that he will not pledge his party against the cloture rule.

The decision of the Supreme Court that the Methyl Gasoline Corporation violated the Anti-Trust laws through a system of licensing drivers, under its patents, to sell and distribute gasoline treated with the "anti-knock" compound, is expected to have a far-reaching effect. While the Court held that the company could lawfully license sellers of its products, it was pointed out that through the policy the company acquired vast potential power to regulate prices and suppress competition, which, it said, could not be countenanced.

Another decision of the Supreme Court upholding the right of the Federal Communications Commission to grant a permit for a new radio station without considering the effect such competition would have on an existing station, stressed the purpose of the act to protect the public rather than a license fee against competition.

Justice Roberts, who wrote the opinion, emphasized that "Congress has not, in its regulatory scheme, abandoned the principle of free competition." The intention of Congress, it said, was to permit a licensee who did not interfere electrically with other broadcasters to survive or succumb according to his ability to make his programs attractive to the public.

This decision seems to confirm the right of the FCC to grant permits for new broadcasting stations whenever possible without interfering with existing wave lengths. The Court insisted that economic injury to a rival station is not an element to be considered by the Commission in acting upon an application for a broadcasting license.

The House World War Veterans' Committee has favorably reported a bill to provide pensions for dependent widows and children of World War veterans. It is estimated to acquire an outlay of $25,000,000 for the first year by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines, head of the Veterans' Administration.

To be eligible for the pension, widows and children must be dependent and benefits would not accrue to a widow without a child unless she married the veteran prior to July 3, 1919. Payments are provided for a widow without child, $20 a month; with one child, $26; and $4 for each additional child: an orphan child, $12; two orphan children, $18; three orphan children, $24; dependent father or mother $20, or $15' each or both.

The bill was described by Robert C. Luchars, National Commander of the American Veterans' Association, as an "election year assault on the Treasury," and the inception of a general pension system, which he alleges, will eventually cost the country $85,000,000. Mr. Luchars, whose organization opposes indiscriminate pension legislation, says that Congress should rectify "the $38 pittance now being paid monthly to widows of men who died in battle."

Representative John G. Rankin of Mississippi, who introduced the measure, believes it will not cost more than six or eight million dollars the first year and predicts that if passed by Congress, the measure will be signed by the President.

"Mass production is bringing down the cost of planes," declares Louis Johnson, Assistant Secretary of War, who says that the Government hopes to get refunds because of the volume of foreign buying. Irrespective of further plant expansion which may be financed by the allies, American plane production by the end of this year, because of expansions already undertaken.

As 1940 got underway, the capacity of American plants were estimated at 17,000 planes and 18,000 motors, but a new engine plant is coming into production in the near future. Along this line, it seems probable that the Army and Navy will shake up their purchasing program to take advantage of any improvement or economy made available by British and French orders. While nothing official is available, it is presumed that, in view of the expanded production capacity of American plants, there will be some reduction in the number of planes under order for reserves. Better than large numbers of planes in reserve, it is preferred to wait because the new plant capacity will insure rapid delivery in the future.

Justice Roberts, who wrote the opinion, emphasized that "Congress has

Dr. Ralph McDonald Speaker At Parent-Teacher Meeting

Meeting, Room Exhibit and Reception Made Friday A Red Letter Day in School Calendar

Dr. Ralph McDonald, of the Extension Bureau of the University of North Carolina, was the speaker at a splendid meeting of the Farmville Parent-Teacher Association, held on Friday evening with 350 members and guests in attendance.

Superintendent J. H. Moore welcomed the assemblage.

Dr. McDonald addressed the group on the "Present Educational Situation in North Carolina," reviewing achievements of the past seven years in which he listed state-wide support and the training of teachers as paramount, with the latter having resulted in North Carolina having one of the four best trained corps in the nation.

As deficiencies in the present system the speaker pointed to the low salaries of teachers and the crowded class rooms, and prophesied as steps in advancement of the future a more universal practice of vocational training in the schools and opportunities for affording the extension of the mental horizon of adults.

Dr. McDonald congratulated Farmville along with other schools in the State having adopted the nine months, 12 year system, and outlined the following suggestions as present needs of the teaching profession: retirement system, provision for sick leave, more adequate salaries, legal guarantee of not being discharged without sufficient reason, graduate teaching certificates.

Mrs. Claude L. Barrett, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, presided, and Rev. D. A. Clarke conducted the devotional. The Senior and Junior Glee Clubs presented a musical program under the direction of Mrs. Daisy H. Smith with Mrs. Haywood Smith as accompanist. The speaker was introduced by Dr. Paul E. Jones.

In the roll call, the third grade, Miss Margaret Lewis, teacher, was winner, and the room attendance prize was won by grade 19, Miss Russell Ward, teacher.

Following the meeting the teachers received in their respective rooms where exhibits had been arranged in observance of Educational Week, and a reception, planned by the Home Ec girls, class 2, was held in the Home Ec Cottage, which was decorated with a profusion of lovely Spring flowers.

Mary Anne Townsend greeted the guests as they arrived and introduced them to the receiving line, composed of Superintendent and Mrs. J. H. Moore, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph McDonald, Dr. and Mrs. Paul E. Jones, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Lewis, Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Thorne and Mrs. J. L. Shackelford.

Dorothy Jones directed the way to the living room, where Frances Lewis and Mary Elizabeth Barrett received. Dorothy Clark introduced a second receiving line, composed of officers of the Parent-Teacher Association and their husbands, Mr. and Mrs. Claude L. Barrett, Mr. and Mrs. L. LeRoy Rollins, Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Scott, Mrs. L. F. Williford and Miss Annie Perkins.

Reide Russell invited guests into the dining room, where Laurette Holloman and Annie Laura Skinner served punch from a lace-spread table, with candle illumination. Assisting in serving were Doney Jones, Mae Letchworth, Cornelia Privette, Addie Ruth Taylor and Frances Howard.

Goodbyes were said by Cornelia Knott.
