N. L. R. B.

National Labor Relations Board points out that sixty-nine Federal Court decisions, involving enforcement or review of Board orders, during, the year ending June 30th, showed 58 favorable in whole or in part to the Board.

DEFENSE INQUIRY

A Federal Grand Jury in New York has been receiving testimony from experts in ten vital fields that, it is alleged, threaten to hamper production of defense materials because of monopolistic control, exercised partly by German arms and industrial organizations. Recently, an optical company was indicted charges of conspiring with a German concern to control world production and sales of military and naval optical goods.

IMPOUNDED FUNDS

Secretary Morgenthau suggests that assets impounded in this country belonging to nations and their citizens invaded by Germany might be applied as payments on World. War debts. For the present, at least, the Treasury Department will continue to sit on the funds.

400 TO TWO

More than 400 persons recently took a Civil Service examination in Washington to qualify for two Government publicity jobs that are open.

SHANGHAI

Despite the fact that Great Britain has withdrawn her troops from Shaughai, the State Department announces that American Marines in North China will remain at their posts.

GIANT TANKS

The Army is reported to have begun the construction of several hundred heavily-armed highspeed tanks, weighing sixty or seventy tons. Fifty giant tanks, it is said, will be built at the Baldwin Locomative Works, whose officials say "there isn't much difference between building locomotives and building tanks." The cost of the tanks will be about $1,113,794.

ARSENALS

Six Federal arsenals have been ordered to operate three shifts a day which will increase the production of munitions by about sixty-five percent. About 14,000 additional workmen will be required.

MARINES

The Navy will move the First Marine Brigade from Quantico, Va., to Quantanamo Bay, Cuba, during September. This involves the transfer of 2,900 officers and men. The present Marine force at the Cuban station is around 100.

100 to 1

In discussing the law authorizing mobilization of the National Guard for training, President Roosevelt told newspaper men that the odds were 100-1 against the possibility the Guard would ever be used in service beyond the borders of the United States, or its possessions.

BUYING COPPER

Japanese interests are reported to be important buyers of copper in the export market with purchases probably in excess of 25,000 tons recently. The metal, although bought in this country, is to be processed from foreigh-mined ores.

· DESTROYERS

The proposal to transfer fifty or more over-age American destroyers to aid Great Britain is receiving considerable publicity throughout the nation but final disposition will be a question for Congress to answer because existing law does not permit the Navy to transfer its combatant units to a foreign power. There are indications that sentiment in Congress is being tested in order to ascertain whether such a transfer would be upheld by Congress if a legal method of transfer is established.
