MERRY CLUB DANCE

The outstanding social event of the Christmas season was the formal holiday dance, held by the Merry Club in the school gym on Thursday evening, with around two hundred members and guests from nearby towns in attendance.

This affair was reported as one of the most enjoyable of any social function held by the organization. Jack Horton, president, and George Allen, secretary and treasurer of the club were in charge of arrangements. The gym decorations of pine, holly, wreaths and poinsettias were artistically arranged and lent an atmosphere of good cheer and merriment to the occasion. Music was furnished by Jimmie Dyer's orchestra of eleven musicians and a girl singer.

LEWIS-HADDOCK

Miss Elaine Louise Haddock, daughter of Mrs. Haywood Lovick, of Farmville, and the late Acy James Haddock, of Trenton, and William Thad Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. William K. Lewis, of Mucedfield, were quietly married Saturday evening, December 21, at seven o'clock at the Christian Church parsonage by Rev. C. B. Mashburn, the pastor, in the presence of a few friends and relatives. The ring ceremony was used.

The bride wore a black wool suit with silver fox trim and a small black hat, fur trimmed, white gloves and black accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of Bride's roses.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis were graduated from Atlantic Christian College, Wilson. Mrs. Lewis has been a member of the Bel Arthur school faculty for the past three years.

The couple will be at home in Mucedfield, where Mr. Lewis is engaged in farming.

JUNIOR WOMAN'S CLUB

Members of the Junior Woman's Club enjoyed an interesting meeting held at the home of Mrs. John Wilkerson with Mrs. J. Leroy Parker as joint hostess. Mrs. Parker presided and announced the program, which was developed by Mrs. Jack Lewis, who discussed "Christmas in South America," and by Mrs. Elbert C. Holmes, who as program chairman, led the singing of Christmas carols in Spanish. Mrs. C. S. Hotchkiss read a selection of current interest from "The Club Woman."

During a delightful social hour, fruit cake and coffee were served. Christmas wreaths, forest greens and red candles were in artistic arrangement throughout the home of Mrs. Wilkerson.

MISS BARRETT HONORED AT HANDKERCHIEF SHOWER

Miss Albertine Belle Barrett, bride elect was honored at a surprise handkerchief shower given by Mrs. W. A. Barrett and Mrs. Berry Taylor on Monday evening. Around thirty friends of Miss Barrett assembled near the home and called on her, carrying gifts of lovely handkerchiefs and delicious refreshments. Contests were enjoyed during the evening.

COLORFUL CHILDREN GIVEN CHEER AT CHRISTMAS TIME

We want to thank each and every one for their wonderful cooperation and liberal contribution to the Colored Children's Fund in helping to bring Christmas cheer to those children, who probably would not even had an apple or any Christmas dinner had it not been for your generosity and love for mankind.

If you could have gone with Mrs. Annabelle Allen, Mrs. Gay, Magelon Blount, Mattie Dupree and myself as we distributed the careloads of food, clothing and Santa Claus to the children on Christmas Eve, and could have seen the sickness, poverty and little ragged children, who were waiting for Santa Claus just as our children were surely you would have been doubly glad you contributed. About 150 persons were remembered. I want to thank Joe Blount especially for the splendid work he did in collecting. E. A. Joyner and Chief Lucas for their hearty support and donations, and also Mrs. J. J. Morgan, Sr., for being the largest donor to the fund, and last but not least The Farmville Enterprise for its assistance.

FEWES

According to reports compiled by the National Livestock Marketing Association, there will be smaller numbers of hogs on farms in the United States in 1941 than in the year just closing.

GOOD INVESTMENT

Atlanta, Neb.—After buying a load of chickens at a sale for 40 cents, John O'Leary was carrying a load of chickens on a train and got out with a few containing $165.

LOSS

Farmers of the United States are now passing up every year $100,000,000 of income that could be realized through better management of farm woods, says the U. S. Forest Service.

Paramount Theatre Sunday and Monday

20th Century-Fox, the studio which brought the sensational "Grapes of Wrath" to the screen, is back with another superb film version of a best-selling novel, which will start Sunday afternoon at the Paramount Theatre. This time it's "Chad Hanna," first published in the Saturday Evening Post under the title of "Red Wheels Rolling." Filmed in glorious Technicolor, the new hit stars Henry Fonda in the title role, Dorothy Lamour and Linda Darnell.

Set in the colorful, turbulent 1830's with a wandering tent show background, "Chad Hanna" depicts the thrilling adventures of a simple country boy who is so castled by the sultry allure of the show's bareback rider Dorothy Lamour, that he runs away with the show. Woven into the vivid drama behind the red and gilt wagons is a tender romance.

Colorful, exciting and full of dramatic impact "Chad Hanna" has a brilliant featured cast including Guy Kibbee, Jana Darwell, John Carradine and many others.

More Screen Plantings Needed Around Farm

Make all plants serve a purpose, says John H. Harris, Extension landscape specialist, and he adds, "very few farm people have sufficient screen plantings." He names, the chief uses of plants as follows: To decorate the house, in front of the shade, border and to screen unsightly building and equipment.

"Border and screen plantings require very little pruning," Harris stated. "They should be allowed to grow large and as natural as possible. Avoid mixing plants up too much; use several plants together for maximum effect in foliage or flowers."

The landscape specialist recommends native plants for borders and screening. "With so many native plants available, and with the ease of rooting common shrubs, there is little excuse for lack of screen plantings," Harris declared.

He lists the following native plants which are suitable for screen plantings around the farm (in some cases local names are given the same shrub to help in identifying it): Red bud (Judas tree), azalea, dogwood, chokeberry, beautyberry (French mulberry), sweet shrub (sweet Betty), white fringe (grandfather's beard and white ash), Hawthorn, winterberry, crab apple, plum, sumac, elderberry, bay, inkberry (highberry), cedar, mountain laurel (mountain ivy), wax myrtle (sweet myrtle), rhododendron, Hemlock (spruce), summer sweet, yampou holly, and Jersey tea.

Harris also recommends privet hedge because of its rapid growth and dense foliage. The privet hedge should be cut once or twice a year, permitting it to stay informal in outline, rather than smooth and formal.

INCREASE

Low prices and limited export outlets for coffee and oranges has led to increased cotton planting in Southern Brazil, the increase expected to run between 10 and 15 percent.

EXPORTS

Whatever the outcome of the European war, the prospect is for small exports in the years ahead, according to the U. S. Bureau of Agricultural Economics.

SYRUP

A Texas farmer is converting watermelon juice into a syrup by pressing the juice from the meat and boiling it down, ten gallons of juice making one gallon of deep red syrup.

LOSS

Farmers of the United States are now passing up every year $100,000,000 of income that could be realized through better management of farm woods, says the U. S. Forest Service.

Rich Soil Required For Vegetable Garden

H. R. Niswonger, Extension horticulturist of N. C. State College, is constantly reminding farm people that the vegetable garden is the most valuable and important plot of land on the place. "But it should be the richest soil on the farm," he declared.

Continuing, Niswonger said: "You cannot provide the vegetable needs for your family by planting the seeds or plants in soil that is not properly prepared or soil of low fertility. This is the time of the year to prepare the garden lot for next spring's plantings."

The horticulturist recommends that the ground be covered with about an inch of stable manure or one-half inch of chicken manure. Over this, broadcast 150 pounds per one-half acre of 16 percent superphosphate, and if the soil is light, broadcast 50 pounds of potash.

The manure and fertilizer should be turned under now and left in the rough. This will allow the freezing weather to crumble the soil, thereby making it easier to get in shape for spring planting. If there have been peas or beans planted for turning under, broadcast the superphosphate and potash the same as with stable manure before plowing under, Niswonger advises.

As a final suggestion, the Extension specialist says arrangements should be made when the garden is planted to buy, rent or borrow some kind of sprayer or duster to use in fighting disease and insect pests. "It does not pay to spend money for fertilizers and garden seeds if you let the bugs and diseases destroy the plants," he asserted.

There's Specie Of Pine For Every Area In State

Choosing the kind of trees to be used in making a forest planting is much like selecting a piece of farm machinery, says R. W. Graeber, Extension forester of N. C. State College. A lot depends upon the kind and condition of the soil, and the purpose for which it will be used.

Trees vary in growth habits according to soil, climate, moisture and degree of fertility. For instance, the white pine does best in the mountains, the longleaf pine in the sandhills, the shortleaf pine in the Piedmont, and the loblolly pine in the Coastal Plain.

Graeber also pointed out that every farm needs fence posts. "If you don't have a suitable supply of durable wood," he says, "perhaps an acre or so of black locust will meet this problem and at the same time, with its strong spreading root system, be of much help in checking erosion. Even the bees will be happy with your choice, as the locust flowers are a source of good quality honey."

In a further discussion of the type of forest planting to make, the Extension specialist said: "Much of the idle land in our State is mighty poor; yet one of our better pines will grow in every section. Pines will furnish us with lumber for constructing the farm buildings and for repairing those we now have, and with fuel wood for heating our homes, cooking our meals, and for curing tobacco in the fire-cured areas."

"Fuel wood is an important crop, since we as farmers use each year a stack of wood four feet wide, four feet high, and 7,000 miles long. Then, too, pine will produce an income from the sale of such products as pulpwood, poles, piling, and saw logs."

Planting is well but it hurts some people to plan the planting.
