Money talks except when it is making an exorbitant profit.

The trouble with most editorial paragraphs is the lack of ideas.

Newspaper man's dream: Two weeks to go and no deadline to catch.

Any fool can plan a program, but nobody, except a fool, ever plans.

As we read the news, almost everything is streamlined or bottle-necked.

There is only one time for any individual to take a forward stride: immediately.

Education, like vaccination of the individual, is a good thing provided it "takes."

As profits begin to pile up, businessmen begin to warm up to the defense program.

The individual has to be taught to appreciate and support the better things of life.

The Enterprise hopes to render service to its subscribers but it cannot give you the best service unless you give it your cooperation.

THE SOUTH SUPPORTS BRITAIN

It is interesting that the Southern States show a greater willingness to take the gamble of a possible war resulting from aid to England than any other section of the United States.

The South, it should be recalled, did not have the moral support of the British government in the War Between the States but, by contrast, the British have the full measure of Southern support at the present time.

"ENGLAND WILL WIN"

"England will win," says Quentin Reynolds, war correspondent and magazine writer, who was in France throughout the German assault and in England for months under Nazi bombings.

The correspondent, lately returned to this country, says on the basis of his experience, that "England not only can take it, she will keep right on taking it." Mr. Reynolds says that the British have the will to take it, and nothing will crush them.

They have enough of the things they need now and he doesn't think that the Germans will be able to keep supplies from America from reaching the British.

SPRING, 1941

The year 1941 gets underway with the fate of the world in doubt with two great peoples fighting to the death across the Atlantic Ocean and the impact of their encounter spreads around the world.

Winter is around us but Spring is just ahead. To many brave men it will bring suffering and death; to untold millions, despair, devastation and disaster.

Nature revolves in her normal cycle. Flowers will soon replace ice and snow as the gaunt and bony hand of death prematurely closes the eyelids of man.

The earth will be clothed in beauty even though the heart of mankind throbs in bloody agony as men pay for their errors, ignorance and sin.

Buds will blossom again on the face of the earth, without knowing that men have died, but humanity will smile in the midst of grief, knowing that mankind will bloom again.

HOW THE U. S. WOULD BE ATTACKED

The standard of living in the United States depends upon adequate foreign markets for our farm products and our manufactured goods.

Realization of this fact indicates the methods which would be adopted by the Axis powers in an offensive against the United States. Not only would Europe and Asia be closed to our trade, but, through economic penetration of South America, the markets in that continent would also be barred to American commerce.

Once this occurred, the United States would be unable to export industrial or agricultural products. Surpluses would pile up in this country, producing another depression of plenty. Unemployment would result, with workers on the farms and in the factories losing incomes.

Such an economic offensive would produce tremendous social unrest in the United States, resulting in strikes, increased radicalism and a general breakdown in the stability of the social order. This, in turn, would affect the Government and seriously impair our defensive position. An Axis war against the United States, after such an economic debacle had wrecked the morale of our people, would be a pushover.

BOOK REVIEW

In order to stimulate interest in the better books on the Farmville Library shelves, Miss Emily Gayle, librarian, has requested patrons to write short reviews, which will be published in these columns each week.

THE NAZARENE

The Nazarene is not a book to idle away some moments; it is a book that will grasp your mind; it will stir your emotions. It is the story of Jerusalem under the hated Roman rule; it is the story of the people that Jesus knew and the atmosphere into which He was born. Written in three parts, the book is thoroughly realized and vividly expressed.

The second part, fragments of the Gospel according to the disciple, Judas Iscariot, is revealing in its scope of understanding. The author, Sholem Asch, Jewish novelist and playwright, was born in Poland in 1880; he possesses both the talent and the scholarship requisite to such an undertaking.

PRESBYTERIAN WOMEN TO MEET MONDAY

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church, will meet with Mrs. C. F. Baucom Monday, February 10, at 2:30 for the purpose of reviewing the mission book, "Sent From God." Mrs. Frank Lee, of Wilson, will discuss the book.

R. A. MORRIS SUCCEUMS AFTER ACUTE HEART ATTACK

Ralph A. Morris, 68, well known Farmville citizen, died at two o'clock Thursday afternoon, following an acute heart attack, at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. J. Greene. Funeral services will be conducted from the Farmville Funeral Home, Friday afternoon at three o'clock, by Rev. Marvin Y. Self, pastor of the Methodist church, and interment will be made in the Battleboro cemetery.

Mr. Morris was the son of the late George and Martha Morris. He was a native of Halifax county, but had resided here for the past eleven years.

He is survived by a sister, Mrs. A. J. Greene, of Farmville, and a brother, Robert Morris, of Halifax.

JOSEPH A. NEWTON

Funeral services for Joseph A. Newton, 66, well known Pitt county citizen, who died early Thursday morning at the home of his sister, Mrs. J. F. Wade, near Hookerton, will be conducted from the home, Friday afternoon at three o'clock by Rev. L. R. Innis, of Goldsboro, and interment will be made in Hollywood cemetery here.

Mr. Newton was the son of the late William and Laura Newton. Surviving are three daughters, Mrs. Goodman Owens, of Tarboro, Mrs. Drew Allen, of Farmville, and Mrs. Odell Moseley, of Burlington; five sons, Alvin, of Farmville, Joseph, of Greenville; Lawrence, of Ayden; J. F., of Grifton, and W. C. Newton, of the United States Army; four sisters, Mrs. J. F. Wade, of Hookerton; Mrs. D. D. Felton, of Macclesfield; Mrs. Fannie Cooper, of Wilson, and Mrs. Sue Lynch, of Scotland Neck, and a brother, R. R. Newton, of Farmville.

MISS PARKER RATED AS MODEL STUDENT

Mars Hill, (Special)—Miss Marjorie Parker, valedictorian of Farmville high school's 1940 graduating class, is a freshman at Mars Hill college this year and is a model student in college scholastic and extra-curricular activities.

In high school Miss Parker was president of the French club and freshman marshal. She was also a member of the Hi-Y club. She has found little time for extra-curricular activities so far in college.

Miss Parker is the protégée of Mrs. L. E. Flowers of 209 N. Main street, Farmville.

There are 25 valedictorians enrolled in Mars Hill college this year. Of this group 18 are first year students and the remaining 6 are seniors. There are many more who were honorary speakers at larger schools where the selection of a valedictorian is not a tradition.

There are 4 who were president of their senior class, 2 who were vice-president, and 7 were secretaries or treasurers. All of them held some important positions in high school activities.

Of the total group 21 held official positions in at least one of the four years of high school and some of them were president or vice-president every year.

Wake Lazy Insides All-Vegetable Way Thousands turn to this way to get relief when they're lazy intestinally and it has them headachy, bilious, irritable, listless: A quarter to a half-teaspoonful of spicy, aromatic, all-vegetable BLACK-DRAUGHT on your tongue tonight, a drink of water, and there you are! Thus, it usually allows time for a night's rest; acts gently, thoroughly next morning, so relieving constipation's headaches, biliousness, bad breath. BLACK-DRAUGHT'S main ingredient is an "intestinal tonic-laxative" which helps impart tone to lazy bowel muscles. The millions of packages used prove its merit. Economical, too: 25 to 40 doses, 25c.
