HELP THE CRIPPLED CHILDREN

The Pitt County Chapter of the Crippled Children Society of North Carolina is making its appeal to the people of this county for contributions to sustain and enlarge the work of the organization.

Certainly, every adult will seriously consider this opportunity to share in giving new hope to hundreds of unfortunate children whose pathetic plight fails to move us to more generous gifts merely because we do not come into direct contact with their need.

Parents of children, who happen to be sound of limb, can express their gratitude by making a contribution to ease the affliction of some less fortunate child. Every adult, who has enjoyed normal physical growth, ought to be glad to have a part in extending assistance to the crippled children who face life under great handicaps.

APRIL, OUR MONTH OF WAR

It is now April, our nation's month of war!

Three times, in the same month, the United States has begun to fight. The twelfth is the anniversary of the shot at Fort Sumter that began four years of bloody strife. The twenty-fifth marks our declaration of war against Spain and the sixth is the anniversary of our entry into the World War.

Once more, in 1941, the United States faces more than the possibility of warfare. As Spring comes to the nation, to give it gladness, the threat of hostilities adds a touch of sadness.

There is some comfort in the thought that the people of the United States have seen the way they should walk. They have reaffirmed their stand for the freedom of men, regardless of the danger that the course entails.

The world, be it recalled, was not meant to be the mausoleum of human hope, the grave of human faith and the cemetery of human personality. It simply is not ordained. Those who seek to plunge humanity into the darker barbarisms of earlier eras wage a battle as fruitless as the effort of Winter to obliterate the rebirth of nature, that comes with Spring and warms the heart of man.

SELF-CONFIDENCE

It's not the question of whether you will or you won't, But it's just the thought of whether you do it or don't, So stick your chest out and pull your chin in, And then's the time you'll begin to win.

Don't ever give up for mistakes are oft made, Don't let anything discourage you and never be afraid, Just think of it often and keep it in mind, And victory, I'm sure, will be easy to find.

I've found that the hardest problems are the easiest to do, So never let a hard problem get the best of you, Whether it's math, money, sickness, or love, You can conquer it as sure as there's a heaven above.

When you are able to take as much as you can give, Then that the day you'll begin to live, So never let your ambitions become as if dead, And never let success go to your head.

Everyone can do it; yes, you can too, So never get the idea that you are finished or through, Just make up your mind to buckle down, And the answer to your problem will soon come around.

THOMAS WARREN WILLIS, Wake Forest.

CORRECTION!

The Literary Club sponsored the traveling exhibit, seen at the Art Festival, held here on Wednesday and Thursday of this week. The poster over this exhibit stated it was sponsored by the Fine Arts Department. This was a misunderstanding on the part of the poster maker and an oversight on the part of the committee, which wishes to make a public apology for this mistake.

Development of new export markets in South America for North Carolina's mounting tobacco stocks is proposed in a bill introduced today by Senator Josiah W. Bailey.

The legislation would authorize the Secretary of Commerce to make an investigation, in cooperation with the Department of State and Agriculture, of "ways and means of promoting the sale and use throughout South America and Central America of tobacco produced in the United States."

A total of 150,000 would be appropriated to carry on the study, and the funds would be allocated among the three departments.

This is similar to a bill which the North Carolinian introduced near the close of the last Congress and which failed to receive consideration. It has been referred to the Senate commerce committee, of which Bailey is chairman, and is expected to receive a favorable report shortly.

Loss of European markets makes it imperative that new outlets for American type tobacco be developed in this hemisphere, Senator Bailey stated. Pointing to the low consumption of American tobacco in the countries to the south.
