It looks like the Japanese are ready to wait a while and see if their prospects improve.

It is rare for a strong, healthy man to appreciate the plight of those who are in ill health.

There never will be an absence of politics in a democracy but there can be a minimum of it.

We are a little bit dubious about how the young things are going to appear in cotton hose.

So far as we know every election can be explained, concisely, after the votes have been counted.

The world has a wonderful opportunity to practice some of the Christian virtues but not in Germany.

How would you feel if everybody in town knew how much you put in the collection for the church last Sunday?

Many individuals are so anxious for something they haven't got that they haven't sense enough to appreciate what they have.

Every minority has the right to live but no sensible rule of human conduct gives it the right to force itself upon other people.

The public is generally getting the idea that there are too many useless strikes and if the idea sticks, it will be too bad for labor.

The tide is beginning to turn against the aggressor-dictators, thanks to the courage of the people of three nations, China, Great Britain and Russia.

Advance Warning: Taxes will be heavy next March, which will give you an idea that this man Hitler has something to do with your spending money.

There are people in this country who are so rabid on the subject of communism that they would rather have Hitler rule the world than to see the Red army do something for civilization.

Francis Biddle, recently appointed Attorney General of the United States, has some ideas about the world situation and American reaction. He believes that too much has been said about defending England and too little about "the terrible world in which... we shall have to live if the war machine of Germany absorbs the poor remains of Europe."

What has Mr. Biddle in mind? Well, here is what he says: "Too compete with a single Nazified Europe we will have to continue to pile up our arms and our taxes, sweat our labor, turn into an armed camp, and eventually fight for our right even to live that kind of life."

He does not believe there can exist an American way in a world "where the goose step and the enslaving of those who disagree, and the spy and the whip and the torch and the firing squad are the guardians of life."

FOUR-FIFTHS OF THE WORLD AT WAR

Four-fifths of the people of the world are now actively engaged in warfare, according to the National Geographic Society, which notes that the United States and the other American republics are the only sizeable portions of the world not active belligerents.

Much the same observation was true two years after the first World War began. Let us hope that the third year of the present war will not duplicate the event of the earlier period.

It is too early, however, to be overconfident. The Axis powers are almost without friends on this side of the Atlantic ocean and there seems to be a growing solidarity between the two Americas, as exhibited by the recent agreement of the twenty-one republics to make use of Axis shipping immobilized in this hemisphere.

No man can foretell what will happen in the next twelve months. The likelihood of our becoming embroiled in the struggle depends upon the outcome of present campaigns, notably the fight in Russia. It also depends upon the quantity of war supplies that we provide for the opponents of aggression.

EVERY CITIZEN MUST DECIDE

Under the system of government that now obtains in the United States the chief executive of this republic will continue to be Franklin D. Roosevelt for about three years and a half.

Under the constitution of the nation, the President is charged with the conduct of foreign affairs. Our foreign policy has likewise been approved by the Congress of the United States.

If, unfortunately, the United States should become involved in war before Jan. 1st, 1945, the commander-in-chief of the armed forces of the country will be Franklin D. Roosevelt.

There is no way of getting around this fact. Consequently, patriotic Americans will cooperate with the President in connection with the defense program and, if necessary, the war program.

The fact that some dissident citizens are attempting to sabotage the morale of the nation, with capricious fault-finding and the indiscriminate peddling of all kinds of rumors, does not change the loyal attitude of loyal Americans.

When the nation faces an emergency, as this country faces one today, the people who believe in the American system of government will support their duly elected officials. They have no other choice, except to support the enemies of the United States, either by word of mouth or by action.

Hitler is sure that the people of this country will not be sensible enough to get together behind their government. He counts upon division to permit him to "take America" without fighting. Some Americans seem inclined to make the "inside job" easier for the Nazis.

Walstonburg Schools Open With Large Enrollment

Walstonburg school opened Thursday, Sept. 4, 1941, with the largest enrollment since 1931, when 520 were enrolled the first month.

At the present it looks as if the enrollment will pass this mark before the end of the first month.

After singing "Onward Christian Soldiers," Rev. Key Taylor offered prayer.

Mr. Earl Lang, chairman of the school board and the only member of any Walstonburg school board who ever graduated from the Walstonburg school delivered an address of welcome and then introduced the new principal, J. W. Webster, who came to Greene County this year, after eleven years of educational service in Pitt County.

Principal J. W. Webster spoke briefly on "Why Come to School?" and urged pupils to seek to obtain knowledge during the process of education in order that they might act wisely in life.

Mr. Webster said that teachers and principal do not make the school but the cooperation of the parents, teachers and pupils in the home life, church life, school life, and club life would hasten the process of education, would build a goal, would give the pupil the mental, physical, moral, and spiritual development so necessary for wisdom.

Mr. Webster introduced the teachers and the members of the local school board. The grade teachers were: 1st grade, Miss Helen Lowers; 2nd grade Miss Sarah Ward and Miss Evelyn White; 3rd grade, Miss Beulah Hansley; 4th grade, Miss Nell Atkinson; 5th grade, Miss Helen McKinney; 6th grade, Miss Irma Lee Spencer; 7th grade, Miss Leette Smoak; 8th grade, Miss Naomi Sommerville.

High School teachers were: Miss Doris Johnson, Miss Doris Blalock, Miss Iris Davis, Mr. Stancill Straud, and Mr. J. W. Webster. The board members present were: Mr. Earl Lang, chairman, Mr. Carl Hicks, and Mr. Jesse Gay.

The large enrollment may be attributed to the addition of the twelfth grade this year. This is the first year that the Walstonburg school has ever had a twelfth grade.

A dozen pupils have already registered in this grade. Those pupils would have gone to some other school had not the twelfth grade been added. Pupils wishing to return and register for this work should do so as soon as possible.

Some of the new courses offered this year are: Spelling, home economics, vocational guidance, current history, dramatics, physical education, and typing. All these courses are popular with the students.

High-School pupils and teachers are doing their bit toward National Defense, by having six full periods per day, thereby eliminating study halls, just as the workers in our factories of the nation are working overtime, the teachers and pupils are doing likewise in this period of National Emergency. In this way the teachers give and the pupils receive the "educational dollar."
